Federal Wage Hike Measure Vetoed By Ike

President Says Bill Provides No Revenue To Meet Pay Boosts

DENVER, Aug. 23 (AP)—A five per cent pay increase for a million and a half federal workers, voted by Congress during the waning hours of its session last week, was killed today by President Eisenhower.

The action immediately drew fire from labor leaders.

The President said, in a statement, that he is disapproving the pay hike because the measure fails to provide revenue to meet the wage boosts and because it "ignores" what he termed "inequities" in pay rates.

He held out hope to the civilian federal workers that they may get a wage increase next year, saying he would renew his recommendations to the new Congress. He also said that "certain imperative needs" of members of the armed forces must be met. The armed forces, the President declared, lack adequate medical care for dependents and reasonable survivorship benefits for their families.

Meany, Reuther Rap Veto

President George Meany of the AFL asserted in a statement issued in Washington that the President's action "shows a shocking disregard for the welfare" of government workers. He said it means, "The President is penalizing government workers in retaliation against what he regards as an omission by Congress."

The veto was called by Walter Reuther, CIO president, "a travesty on economic justice." He said it is "economically unsound, morally wrong and contrary to the President's declared policy of being liberal with people."

Action Ends "Uncertainty"

The President said he announced his disapproval of the bill "in order that federal workers may not have to undergo a period of uncertainty as to my action."

The chief executive said signature of the bill would have added $112,000,000 to the cost of operating the Post Office Department, which he reported already is operating at a deficit of 400 million dollars.

He said it would have added more than 200 million dollars to civil service pay.

About half a million postal workers and a million civil service workers and congressional employes would have received the pay boosts under the bill.

"Most Wanted" Fugitive Nabbed

CHICAGO, Aug. 23 (INS)—Nick George Montos, one of the 10 most wanted criminals, was arrested today by two FBI agents in suburban Westchester.

Chicago FBI special agent-in-charge Guy Bannister said that two special agents recognized the fugitive as he sat with a companion, identified as Leo J. Manfredi, in an auto waiting for a freight train to pass by Cermak Road near the Westchester limits.

Montos, 37, had been sought for two years on a charge that he and two companions robbed a 74-year-old man and his 65-year old sister near Alma, Ga. He has a long police record.

Bannister said the FBI agents were in a car behind the Montos auto while waiting at a railroad crossing.

The agents recognized Montos, walked in front of his car and drew their revolvers. The agents told Montos and Manfredi they were under arrest.

Montos had a loaded .38 caliber automatic in a cigar box on the seat but made no attempt to use it. Until fingerprinted, he denied his identity.

President And Dulles Confer Via Teletype

DENVER, Aug. 23 (AP)—President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles consulted today on collapse of the European army talks at Brussels.

They discussed the situation via a Signal Corps teletype, with the President at his vacation headquarters here and Dulles in Washington.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, told newsmen about the conversation but declined to discuss any details.

Hint New Move In Communique

LONDON, Aug. 23 (AP) — French Pierre Mendes-France met with Prime Minister Churchill today in a crisis conference to salvage the foundering European army plan. Both pledged "early and practical steps" to maintain Western unity.

A terse communique issued after the four-hour conference hinted a new move is in the works to patch up Allied unity in Europe after the breakdown yesterday of the six-nation Brussels conference on the proposed European Defense Community treaty.

Mendes - France failed at the Brussels conference to win approval from France's five continental allies for changes in the EDC treaty that calls for rearming West Germany. The French Premier insisted the treaty changes were indispensable to win ratification of the treaty by the French National Assembly. Only France and Italy among the EDC members have failed to ratify.

Mendes - France and Churchill conferred at Chartwell, Churchill's country home outside London. Then, after a communique was issued, Mendes-France flew back to France. Landing at Caen, he set off at once for Bagnoles de L'Orne to make a report to French President Rene Coty, who is vacationing there.

The Premier planned to return to Paris early tomorrow for a Cabinet meeting dealing with the failure at the Brussels conference.

In their communique, Churchill and Mendes-France said:

"The ministers were agreed on the importance of maintaining the unity of the free nations of the West and on the necessity of early practical steps to give effect to this."

Churchill apparently had not given up hope of retrieving European unity. His parting words to the French Premier were: "I will do all I can to help you."

Elsewhere in the free world the reaction to the Brussels failure appeared less hopeful.

Backed By Army, Brazil President Refuses To Quit

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Aug. 23 (AP)—Embattled Brazilian President Getulio Vargas sat tight today supported by the army in the face of air force demands he resign.

The long controversy over the killing of air force Maj. Ruben Vaz, in which members of the presidential palace guard were allegedly implicated, flared up into what looked like a showdown. Vaz was apparently accidentally shot down in an unsuccessful attempt on the life of Carlos Lacerda, a newspaper editor who opposes Vargas' regime.

Vargas Refuses To Resign

The crisis developed Sunday after a meeting of air force general officers led by Lt. Gen. Eduardo Gomes, titular head of the National Democratic Union, (UDN), which is the chief political opposition to Vargas. Gomes was twice an unsuccessful presidential candidate.

Radio Nacional reported an air force note was delivered to Vargas—proposing he quit.

The radio quoted Vargas saying: "I will not resign. I was elected by the people for five years and I will fulfill my constitutional duties to the end."

Army Tanks Turn Back

For part of last night the guard around the presidential palace was doubled, but later the reinforcements were withdrawn. Early today only one civil guard was seen at the gate and one military policeman on his beat beside the building. At one point last night army tanks reportedly were ordered to assume positions around the palace but turned back on their way there.

War Minister Zenobio Costa was quoted as saying on the radio today the army is master of the situation. He appealed to the people not to be influenced by rumors and said the army will guarantee respect for the constitution.

Former Prisoners Who Didn't Yield To Reds Decorated

NEW YORK, Aug. 23 (AP)—Two former Army corporals were decorated today for resisting Communist indoctrination despite torture while prisoners of war in North Korea for more than two years.

The awards were among the first such made by the Army.

In ceremonies at 1st Army headquarters on Governors Island, Salvatore R. Conte, 24, of Brooklyn, received an Oak Leaf cluster for his Bronze Star, won earlier in combat in Korea. A prisoner from Dec. 1, 1950, until August 1953, he was cited for "defiantly stating his opinions against communism" and, by his activities, "contributing materially to the failure of the Communist program to convert prisoners of war to communism."

Joseph di Cato, 24, of Everett, Mass., received the Army Commendation Ribbon with medal pennant for "meritorious service" while a prisoner.

'10 Seconds To Live' Author Loses Life In Auto Crash

ATLANTIC, Iowa, Aug. 23 (AP)—"Ten Seconds to Live."

That was the title of a dramatic article written three years ago by Raymond M. Eastman, young Des Moines advertising writer who had graduated from the State University of Iowa with Phi Beta Kappa honors.

Eastman's article was an imaginary portrayal of the thoughts of a motorist about to be killed in a traffic accident. It was widely quoted.

Eastman, 29, died at a hospital here Sunday, along with a companion, Peter James, 27, Des Moines. Sheriff Kenneth Jones said Eastman's new Jaguar sports car "clipped" another while passing it and careened into a bridge. Two other persons were injured in the crash.

The sheriff said it was not known who was driving.

This was Eastman's article:

"He pushed his sleeve back, held his wrist close to the lighted speedometer, squinted to read the time. A little after nine. Five, 10 minutes after. Ought to be home in half an hour.

"If he had only known he had only 10 seconds to live, he might have checked the time more closely. He might have done things differently.

"Ten seconds to live. He massaged his eyes with thumb and middle finger, trying to rub out some of the sand.

"Nine seconds to live. He'd driven almost eight hours since lunch, and was beginning to feel it.

"Eight seconds to live. Lousy driving in the rain. Light from your headlights just seems to soak in along with the water.

"Seven seconds to live. Probably need a new windshield wiper blade. Old one just spreads the water around instead of wiping clean. Get one tomorrow, or next time it rains.

"Six seconds to live. Somebody threw a cigarette out of an oncoming car. The red glow dissolved almost before it hit the pavement.

Dutch Airliner Falls Into Sea; 21 Feared Lost

Most Of Passengers Americans; Rescue Operations Continue

AMSTERDAM, Netherlands, Aug 23 (AP)—A Royal Dutch KLM airliner from New York, carrying 21 or more persons, plunged into the North Sea today off the murky Dutch coastline only minutes away from its home airport. A KLM spokesman said it was feared there were no survivors.

The airline said here 12 passengers, mostly Americans, and nine crew members were aboard the four-engined Douglas DC6B Willem Bontekoe when it went down through the clouds less than 30 miles northwest of Amsterdam, its goal. The KLM office in New York said, however, two more passengers boarded the plane at Shannon, Ireland, its last stop before the crash. The plane was an extra because the regular flight, which arrived earlier, was booked up.

No Collision Airline Says

The airline denied a rumor that the plane crashed after a collision with another craft.

Burning wreckage, lifebelts, cushions, an oil stain and other flotsam marked the site of the crash.

Discovery of debris by a pilot boat about 16 miles northwest of led to the conclusion that the plane had "met with an accident," KLM said. The spokesman said rescue operations by boats and a helicopter were continuing, but the pilot boat Bellatrix had not sighted any survivors.

The airliner had taken off from New York with 21 passengers and a crew of nine. Nine passengers were to leave the plane at Shannon.

Air-Sea Search Launched

KLM identified the commander of the plane as Capt. Charles Harman, a Canadian, of Edmonton, Alta. All other crew members were Dutch.

KLM said the destination of the Baussans was Geneva, Switzerland.

A search by air and sea began shortly after the plane was reported overdue. KLM said the last contact with the plane was at 11:32 a.m., when its position was 27 miles west of Ymuiden.

Former Italian Premier Buried

ROME, Aug. 23 (AP)—Italy today buried Alcide De Gasperi, her leading postwar statesman and first Premier of the Italian Republic, in a simple service without flowers or oratory.

The funeral was held in Rome's Chiese Del Gesu (Church of Jesus) where he had often stopped to pray while on his way to Parliament or his office. Members of Parliament, the government, diplomatic corps, and officials of De Gasperi's Christian Democrat party attended. U.S. Ambassador Clare Boothe Luce, who flew here from a vacation in the United States, represented President Eisenhower.

A hearse drawn by six black horses carried De Gasperi's body from the Roman Catholic church to the ancient 4th century Basilica of San Lorenzo, where it was interred with the special permission of Pope Pius XII in his capacity as bishop of Rome. The body was received by members of the Capuchin order, who are in charge of the Basilica. The former premier's casket was placed near the tomb of St. Lawrence, for whom the Basilica, partly destroyed by bombs in World War II and later rebuilt, is named.

Anti-Brainwashing Training Is Planned

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23 (AP)—Four brigadier generals will lay the framework for a detailed study on how to train U.S. fighting men not to fall prey to Communist brainwashing if captured.

The study itself will be undertaken later by a group of both civilians and military men.

The Navy had recommended a study of the Communist methods, following the court of inquiry in the case of Marine Col. Frank H. Schwable, who made a false mistreatment at the hands of his Chinese Communist captors, was not subjected to any disciplinary action by the Marine Corps.

His conduct was held "excusable on the ground it was the result of mental torture."

De Gasperi Funeral Procession

The horse-drawn hearse carrying the body of Italy's famed postwar premier, Alcide de Gasperi, passes the Fountain of Naiads in Rome's Piazza Esedra during funeral services for the Italian statesman yesterday. A long, silent procession acompanied de Gasperi to his final resting place in the ancient Basilica of San Lorenzo as the bells of Rome tolled for the man, who more than any other, saved Italy from communism. GOP Probers Of Row Between McCarthy, Army Reach Verdict

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23 (AP)—The four Republican members of a Senate subcommittee which investigated the McCarthy-Army row have agreed on a verdict, Sen. Mundt (R-SD) said today, but it will not be made public until after Aug. 30.

Mundt declined even to hint at the findings he said were signed by him and Sens. Potter (Mich), Dirksen (Ill) and Dworshak (Idaho).

But Potter, as soon as the tumultuous, 36-day hearings came to an end June 17, announced he had decided that both McCarthy and the Army officials involved in the dispute had proved their charges.

Three Democratic members of the subcommittee still have to submit their findings. They have until 5 p.m. Aug. 30.

Over 3,300 Words

Mundt said the majority report consists of between 3,300 and 3,500 words of findings and recommendations. He added it was being filed with J. Mark Trice, secretary of the Senate, to be kept under wraps until after the Aug. 30 deadline.

All statements will then be sent to the Government Printing Office, Mundt said, and perhaps will be made public the next day.

The McCarthy-Army row began when Secretary of the Army Stevens and Army counselor John G. Adams accused McCarthy and some of his aides of exerting undue pressure to get special treatment for Pvt. G. David Schine.

McCarthy and Roy M. Cohn, former chief counsel for McCarthy's Senate Investigations subcommittee, replied with countercharges that Stevens and Adams tried to use Schine as a "hostage" to thwart a McCarthy investigation of alleged Communist infiltration into the Army.

Both Sides Denied Charges

Until he was drafted last November, Schine was an unpaid consultant on the subcommittee staff.

Both sides denied the charges, and the Mundt committee, normally the one McCarthy heads in his anti-Red probes, was given the job of judging them.

The majority report, Mundt said, deals only with the charges and countercharges on which the subcommittee members sat as juror-judges. He said it does not touch on "collateral issues" which individual statement may cover.

The other members of the subcommittee are Democratic Sens. Jackson (Wash), Symington (Mo) and McClellan (Ark).

Light And Fog Bell "Decommissioned"

BALTIMORE, Aug. 23 (AP) — Lazaretto Light, which now "sits in an industrial eclipse," has been extinguished for the first time in 123 years.

Chief Warrant Bosun Earle E. Burleson, commanding officer of the Coast Guard Buoy Depot at Lazaretto Point, said the light and its 1,000-pound fog bell had been "decommissioned." Complete removal is scheduled for later this month.

Burleson said a new pier in the area and several new buildings have blocked the signal from view of inbound ships, rendering it almost useless. There are no plans for a substitute.

Beard-Growing Contest Almost Won By Grandma

CORBIN, Ky., Aug. 23 (AP) — A 65-year-old grandmother threatened for a time to win a beard-growing contest. She finally was disqualified on the ground that only men were eligible.

Mrs. Eliza Profit of London, wearing chin whiskers 4½ inches long, a mustache and sideburns, entered the contest five minutes before judging began and stole the show from 18 men.

The contest was sponsored by producers of "Gabriel Horn" who sought to encourage men to grow beards to equip them for possible use as extras in the film, parts of which will be shot near here.

Broken Equalizer Rod Caused Train Wreck

LOMAX, Ill., Aug. 23 (AP) — A broken mechanism on a wheel and axle assembly was blamed today for the tragic derailment of the streamliner Santa Fe Chief in which four persons were killed.

The Santa Fe Railroad announced that an investigation showed the wreck which killed four persons and injured 53 near Lomax Sunday, was caused by a broken equalizer rod on the rear truck of the train's forward lounge car.

An equalizer rod extends from one axle of a truck to the other to distribute weight evenly between them.

A Santa Fe spokesman said the forward lounge car was either the first or the second passenger car on the swift Chief.

Besides those killed, there were 53 injured. Twenty-nine remained in hospitals late today.

Airline Pilots Agree To End 24-Day Walkout

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23 (AP)—American Airlines and its pilots agreed tonight to end their 24-day strike and resume flights at midnight Tuesday.

The joint announcement said the pilots had agreed to continue flying nonstop westbound transcontinental flights without crew changes over eight hours.

This central issue of the dispute will be submitted to a neutral arbitrator to make recommendations, which will not be binding on either the airline or the pilots.

The end of the walkout was announced by A. Ditipasquale, the airline's director of labor relations, and by Clarence N. Sayen, president of the AFL Airline Pilots Assn.

"Truce," Sayen Says

Sayen told reporters the agreement amounts to a "truce" pending recommendations from the arbitrator. He said the pilots would be free to strike again if agreement can not be reached after the arbitration.

Today's settlement came after a confusing day in which the airline said the dispute had been settled and the pilots said all points had not been agreed upon. Negotiations were completed at the National Mediation Board office.

The announced agreement accepts four points proposed by the mediation board. These call for:

1. Resumption of nonstop westbound flights.

Damage Suit Action Postponed

2. No other flights of more than eight hours.

3. No loss of seniority or other actions against pilots as they return to duty as their services are needed.

4. Appointment of a neutral to recommend a permanent solution.

The two sides also agreed to postpone for 60 days any action on a 1¼-million-dollar damage suit brought against the union by the company, which charges contract violation.

NEW YORK, Aug. 23 (AP)—A minor subway crash in the Bronx today trapped a motorman for seven hours inside a train cab no bigger than a telephone booth.

Motorman David Moclair, 52 was finally cut out of the telescoped steel of his forward car at the cost of his left foot. It was amputated to free him. His condition is critical.

The empty subway train crashed through a track end, entombing the motorman in a rigid vise of crushed steel. For hours he withstood agonizing pain, able to move only a hand.

"How long will it be?" Moclair pleaded at intervals, as 35 rescue workers cut toward him with acetylene torches. Water was played over the car to cut down the heat.

His wife, Mary, arrived at the scene and burst into tears when she perceived his ordeal. One of his four children, John, 16, was allowed close enough to pass words of encouragement to Moclair.

Moclair pleaded for water from time to time and it was passed to him in soda bottles. With the free hand he was able to smoke an occasional cigarette.

He spoke little.

A life belt was slipped under his arms at one point and attached to the ceiling of the cab to support his sagging body.

Workers were afraid to move the smashed car for fear it would slip further off its chassis and crush Moclair instantly.

Eisenhower Hails Record, GOP Program

Appeals For Election Of More Republican Legislators In Fall

DENVER, Aug. 23 (AP)—President Eisenhower went on radio and television tonight with a "salute" to the Republican 83rd Congress, praising what he called its "hard work and effective accomplishments."

The President, speaking from his summer vacation city, gave this warm appraisal in a broadcast urging the election to Congress in November of those who support his foreign and domestic programs.

Eisenhower spoke from a Denver television studio, standing in front of a desk. Behind him on right and left, were the American and presidential flags.

The President, wearing a business suit with a vest, spoke from notes in the foreground, behind the TV cameras.

He said in the past there had been efforts to take away from the states their rights and even their property. This administration, he said, passed the tidelands oil bill in answer to that.

"New Era Of Fair Play"

Reviewing in detail the record of the Congress which ended its work last Friday, Eisenhower said the lawmakers cooperated with him in bringing the nation what he called "a new era of fair play"—of giving equal treatment to all segments of the population.

The program at home, he said, can be defined best by saying this:

"It has been a liberal program in all that brings the government into contact with the individual." He said it tries to be conservative in matters dealing with the pocketbook.

"So it is conservative in economy, liberal in human affairs," he said.

He said his program "is a great program, a program to benefit all America."

On foreign affairs, Eisenhower said the end of the Indochinese war, for all that it is "certainly not satisfactory" in some respects as a settlement, at least gives the free world a new chance to build a security system in Southeast Asia.

Two "Firsts" For 83rd

Eisenhower said the 83rd Congress accomplished two things that previous congresses, under other administrations, failed repeatedly to do:

1. It finally approved U. S. participation in the St. Lawrence Seaway.

2. It gave the tax laws a long-needed overhaul which will, he said, greatly benefit many groups such as working mothers and families with heavy medical expenses.

He went on to list other tax payers who, he said, would benefit—farmers, retired persons, small businessmen among them.

"The over-all tax cut program (enacted by the 83rd Congress) will save taxpayers $7,400,000,000," Eisenhower declared. "Of this amount, individuals receive an over-all tax saving of $4,700,000,000.

"These tax savings far surpass any previous total in the history of the country."

Reviewing the record of the GOP run Congress which completed work on its legislative program last Friday, Eisenhower said it equipped America with what he termed effective weapons to search out and defeat internal communism and subversion.

In his advance notes, the President did not say whether he plans to sign a bill on his desk which would outlaw the Communist party, but he spoke of the anti-Communist legislation generally as amounting to a package program to deal effectively with the subversion threat.

Dutch Airliner Falls Into Sea; 21 Feared Lost

Most Of Passengers Americans; Rescue Operations Continue

AMSTERDAM, Netherlands, Aug 23 (AP)—A Royal Dutch KLM airliner from New York, carrying 21 or more persons, plunged into the North Sea today off the murky Dutch coastline only minutes away from its home airport. A KLM spokesman said it was feared there were no survivors.

The airline said here 12 passengers, mostly Americans, and nine crew members were aboard the four-engined Douglas DC6B Willem Bontekoe when it went down through the clouds less than 30 miles northwest of Amsterdam, its goal. The KLM office in New York said, however, two more passengers boarded the plane at Shannon, Ireland, its last stop before the crash. The plane was an extra because the regular flight, which arrived earlier, was booked up.

No Collision Airline Says

The airline denied a rumor that the plane crashed after a collision with another craft.

Burning wreckage, lifebelts, cushions, an oil stain and other flotsam marked the site of the crash.

Discovery of debris by a pilot boat about 16 miles northwest of led to the conclusion that the plane had "met with an accident," KLM said. The spokesman said rescue operations by boats and a helicopter were continuing, but the pilot boat Bellatrix had not sighted any survivors.

The airliner had taken off from New York with 21 passengers and a crew of nine. Nine passengers were to leave the plane at Shannon.

Air-Sea Search Launched

KLM identified the commander of the plane as Capt. Charles Harman, a Canadian, of Edmonton, Alta. All other crew members were Dutch.

KLM said the destination of the Baussans was Geneva, Switzerland.

A search by air and sea began shortly after the plane was reported overdue. KLM said the last contact with the plane was at 11:32 a.m., when its position was 27 miles west of Ymuiden.

Former Italian Premier Buried

ROME, Aug. 23 (AP)—Italy today buried Alcide De Gasperi, her leading postwar statesman and first Premier of the Italian Republic, in a simple service without flowers or oratory.

The funeral was held in Rome's Chiese Del Gesu (Church of Jesus) where he had often stopped to pray while on his way to Parliament or his office. Members of Parliament, the government, diplomatic corps, and officials of De Gasperi's Christian Democrat party attended. U.S. Ambassador Clare Boothe Luce, who flew here from a vacation in the United States, represented President Eisenhower.

A hearse drawn by six black horses carried De Gasperi's body from the Roman Catholic church to the ancient 4th century Basilica of San Lorenzo, where it was interred with the special permission of Pope Pius XII in his capacity as bishop of Rome. The body was received by members of the Capuchin order, who are in charge of the Basilica. The former premier's casket was placed near the tomb of St. Lawrence, for whom the Basilica, partly destroyed by bombs in World War II and later rebuilt, is named.

Anti-Brainwashing Training Is Planned

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23 (AP)—Four brigadier generals will lay the framework for a detailed study on how to train U.S. fighting men not to fall prey to Communist brainwashing if captured.

The study itself will be undertaken later by a group of both civilians and military men.

The Navy had recommended a study of the Communist methods, following the court of inquiry in the case of Marine Col. Frank H. Schwable, who made a false mistreatment at the hands of his Chinese Communist captors, was not subjected to any disciplinary action by the Marine Corps.

His conduct was held "excusable on the ground it was the result of mental torture."

De Gasperi Funeral Procession

The horse-drawn hearse carrying the body of Italy's famed postwar premier, Alcide de Gasperi, passes the Fountain of Naiads in Rome's Piazza Esedra during funeral services for the Italian statesman yesterday. A long, silent procession acompanied de Gasperi to his final resting place in the ancient Basilica of San Lorenzo as the bells of Rome tolled for the man, who more than any other, saved Italy from communism. GOP Probers Of Row Between McCarthy, Army Reach Verdict

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23 (AP)—The four Republican members of a Senate subcommittee which investigated the McCarthy-Army row have agreed on a verdict, Sen. Mundt (R-SD) said today, but it will not be made public until after Aug. 30.

Mundt declined even to hint at the findings he said were signed by him and Sens. Potter (Mich), Dirksen (Ill) and Dworshak (Idaho).

But Potter, as soon as the tumultuous, 36-day hearings came to an end June 17, announced he had decided that both McCarthy and the Army officials involved in the dispute had proved their charges.

Three Democratic members of the subcommittee still have to submit their findings. They have until 5 p.m. Aug. 30.

Over 3,300 Words

Mundt said the majority report consists of between 3,300 and 3,500 words of findings and recommendations. He added it was being filed with J. Mark Trice, secretary of the Senate, to be kept under wraps until after the Aug. 30 deadline.

All statements will then be sent to the Government Printing Office, Mundt said, and perhaps will be made public the next day.

The McCarthy-Army row began when Secretary of the Army Stevens and Army counselor John G. Adams accused McCarthy and some of his aides of exerting undue pressure to get special treatment for Pvt. G. David Schine.

McCarthy and Roy M. Cohn, former chief counsel for McCarthy's Senate Investigations subcommittee, replied with countercharges that Stevens and Adams tried to use Schine as a "hostage" to thwart a McCarthy investigation of alleged Communist infiltration into the Army.

Both Sides Denied Charges

Until he was drafted last November, Schine was an unpaid consultant on the subcommittee staff.

Both sides denied the charges, and the Mundt committee, normally the one McCarthy heads in his anti-Red probes, was given the job of judging them.

The majority report, Mundt said, deals only with the charges and countercharges on which the subcommittee members sat as juror-judges. He said it does not touch on "collateral issues" which individual statement may cover.

The other members of the subcommittee are Democratic Sens. Jackson (Wash), Symington (Mo) and McClellan (Ark).

Light And Fog Bell "Decommissioned"

BALTIMORE, Aug. 23 (AP) — Lazaretto Light, which now "sits in an industrial eclipse," has been extinguished for the first time in 123 years.

Chief Warrant Bosun Earle E. Burleson, commanding officer of the Coast Guard Buoy Depot at Lazaretto Point, said the light and its 1,000-pound fog bell had been "decommissioned." Complete removal is scheduled for later this month.

Burleson said a new pier in the area and several new buildings have blocked the signal from view of inbound ships, rendering it almost useless. There are no plans for a substitute.

Beard-Growing Contest Almost Won By Grandma

CORBIN, Ky., Aug. 23 (AP) — A 65-year-old grandmother threatened for a time to win a beard-growing contest. She finally was disqualified on the ground that only men were eligible.

Mrs. Eliza Profit of London, wearing chin whiskers 4½ inches long, a mustache and sideburns, entered the contest five minutes before judging began and stole the show from 18 men.

The contest was sponsored by producers of "Gabriel Horn" who sought to encourage men to grow beards to equip them for possible use as extras in the film, parts of which will be shot near here.

Broken Equalizer Rod Caused Train Wreck

LOMAX, Ill., Aug. 23 (AP) — A broken mechanism on a wheel and axle assembly was blamed today for the tragic derailment of the streamliner Santa Fe Chief in which four persons were killed.

The Santa Fe Railroad announced that an investigation showed the wreck which killed four persons and injured 53 near Lomax Sunday, was caused by a broken equalizer rod on the rear truck of the train's forward lounge car.

An equalizer rod extends from one axle of a truck to the other to distribute weight evenly between them.

A Santa Fe spokesman said the forward lounge car was either the first or the second passenger car on the swift Chief.

Besides those killed, there were 53 injured. Twenty-nine remained in hospitals late today.

NEW YORK, Aug. 23 (AP)—A minor subway crash in the Bronx today trapped a motorman for seven hours inside a train cab no bigger than a telephone booth.

Motorman David Moclair, 52 was finally cut out of the telescoped steel of his forward car at the cost of his left foot. It was amputated to free him. His condition is critical.

The empty subway train crashed through a track end, entombing the motorman in a rigid vise of crushed steel. For hours he withstood agonizing pain, able to move only a hand.

"How long will it be?" Moclair pleaded at intervals, as 35 rescue workers cut toward him with acetylene torches. Water was played over the car to cut down the heat.

His wife, Mary, arrived at the scene and burst into tears when she perceived his ordeal. One of his four children, John, 16, was allowed close enough to pass words of encouragement to Moclair.

Moclair pleaded for water from time to time and it was passed to him in soda bottles. With the free hand he was able to smoke an occasional cigarette.

He spoke little.

A life belt was slipped under his arms at one point and attached to the ceiling of the cab to support his sagging body.

Workers were afraid to move the smashed car for fear it would slip further off its chassis and crush Moclair instantly.

Airline Pilots Agree To End 24-Day Walkout

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23 (AP)—American Airlines and its pilots agreed tonight to end their 24-day strike and resume flights at midnight Tuesday.

The joint announcement said the pilots had agreed to continue flying nonstop westbound transcontinental flights without crew changes over eight hours.

This central issue of the dispute will be submitted to a neutral arbitrator to make recommendations, which will not be binding on either the airline or the pilots.

The end of the walkout was announced by A. Ditipasquale, the airline's director of labor relations, and by Clarence N. Sayen, president of the AFL Airline Pilots Assn.

"Truce," Sayen Says

Sayen told reporters the agreement amounts to a "truce" pending recommendations from the arbitrator. He said the pilots would be free to strike again if agreement can not be reached after the arbitration.

Today's settlement came after a confusing day in which the airline said the dispute had been settled and the pilots said all points had not been agreed upon. Negotiations were completed at the National Mediation Board office.

The announced agreement accepts four points proposed by the mediation board. These call for:

1. Resumption of nonstop westbound flights.

Damage Suit Action Postponed

2. No other flights of more than eight hours.

3. No loss of seniority or other actions against pilots as they return to duty as their services are needed.

4. Appointment of a neutral to recommend a permanent solution.

The two sides also agreed to postpone for 60 days any action on a 1¼-million-dollar damage suit brought against the union by the company, which charges contract violation.

Eisenhower Hails Record, GOP Program

Appeals For Election Of More Republican Legislators In Fall

DENVER, Aug. 23 (AP)—President Eisenhower went on radio and television tonight with a "salute" to the Republican 83rd Congress, praising what he called its "hard work and effective accomplishments."

The President, speaking from his summer vacation city, gave this warm appraisal in a broadcast urging the election to Congress in November of those who support his foreign and domestic programs.

Eisenhower spoke from a Denver television studio, standing in front of a desk. Behind him on right and left, were the American and presidential flags.

The President, wearing a business suit with a vest, spoke from notes in the foreground, behind the TV cameras.

He said in the past there had been efforts to take away from the states their rights and even their property. This administration, he said, passed the tidelands oil bill in answer to that.

"New Era Of Fair Play"

Reviewing in detail the record of the Congress which ended its work last Friday, Eisenhower said the lawmakers cooperated with him in bringing the nation what he called "a new era of fair play" —of giving equal treatment to all segments of the population.

The program at home, he said, can be defined best by saying this:

"It has been a liberal program in all that brings the government into contact with the individual." He said it tries to be conservative in matters dealing with the pocketbook.

"So it is conservative in economy, liberal in human affairs," he said.

He said his program "is a great program, a program to benefit all America."

On foreign affairs, Eisenhower said the end of the Indochinese war, for all that it is "certainly not satisfactory" in some respects as a settlement, at least gives the free world a new chance to build a security system in Southeast Asia.

Two "Firsts" For 83rd

Eisenhower said the 83rd Congress accomplished two things that previous congresses, under other administrations, failed repeatedly to do:

1. It finally approved U. S. participation in the St. Lawrence Seaway.

2. It gave the tax laws a long-needed overhaul which will, he said, greatly benefit many groups such as working mothers and families with heavy medical expenses.

He went on to list other tax payers who, he said, would benefit—farmers, retired persons, small businessmen among them.

"The over-all tax cut program (enacted by the 83rd Congress) will save taxpayers $7,400,000,000," Eisenhower declared. "Of this amount, individuals receive an over-all tax saving of $4,700,000,000.

"These tax savings far surpass any previous total in the history of the country."

Reviewing the record of the GOP run Congress which completed work on its legislative program last Friday, Eisenhower said it equipped America with what he termed effective weapons to search out and defeat internal communism and subversion.

In his advance notes, the President did not say whether he plans to sign a bill on his desk which would outlaw the Communist party, but he spoke of the anti-Communist legislation generally as amounting to a package program to deal effectively with the subversion threat.

Strike Closes Tractor Plant At York, Pa.

The company said that all production and shipping operations were halted but that office and supervisory forces continued on a normal basis.

German Strike Looms

FRANKFURT, Germany, Aug. 23 (AP)—West Germany's 700,000 public transport and utility workers rejected today a 5 per cent compromise wage boost. A nationwide strike vote is threatened if renewed negotiations fail.

Foundation Prober Urges Investigation Of Attacks By Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23 (AP)—Chairman Reece (R-Tenn) of a special House committee that has been probing tax-exempt foundations, said today Congress ought to investigate "the source and nature" of the pressure behind newspapers which have been critical of his inquiry.

He made the suggestion in a statement which he placed in the Congressional Record last Friday but did not make available to reporters.

Reece said The New York Times, the New York Herald Tribune and the Washington Post and Times Herald in addition to the Communist publication, the Daily Worker, have made "a terrific attack" against the investigation.

"These savage attacks have been of a nature so untruthful and so venomous as to eliminate any explanation but one," he said.

"The attitude of the committee and of its staff, and the occurrences at hearings, have been deliberately misrepresented to the public with such obviously intended malice that no explanation seems rational but that the power of some of the major foundations and their sycophants is truly great."

Alfred Friendly, acting managing editor of the Post and Times Herald, defended his paper's coverage of the hearings, saying, "We stand back of the accuracy and objectivity of our reporting and the fairness of our editorial comment."

The New York Times and the Herald Tribune had no comment.

Reece said he never before has seen "a better organized smear campaign against a congressional committee nor such wanton distortion of the facts by the public press."

And he added that it is "obvious that the large foundations are trying to make certain that never again will a mere committee of the Congress have the temerity to look into their social and political science activities and into their financial power."

Reece also rapped Rep. Hays (D-Ohio), the ranking minority member of the committee, for what he said was his "rude, unreasoning and ruthless attitude" during public hearings.

"In his role of a skillful provocateur," Reece said of Hays, "he interrupted witnesses beyond all reason, attempting to frighten witnesses and to disorganize both their initial presentations and orderly interrogation by others."

He said Hays interrupted one witness 246 times during a three-hour session and "indulged in intemperate attacks upon the staff and upon the members of the majority of the committee."

Formula Which Might Save EDC Sought By U. S.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23 (AP)—Top American officials were reported desperately searching today for some last-second formula which might salvage the European army project from collapse.

Most acknowledged, however, there appeared only the slimmest of chances that any way could be found to put new life into the plan which has been the keystone of American foreign policy toward Europe for the past 27 months.

Might Quit Germany

In the event the search for a compromise failed, these officials were reported ready to go ahead with plans to end occupation of West Germany in the American and British zones and restore full sovereignty to Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's government.

This move would be in line with a plan already agreed upon by President Eisenhower and Winston Churchill during their Washington talks in early July.

Top policy makers reiterated today the United States and Britain have no intention of backing down on their plan, if France fails to ratify the six-nation European army project in a form acceptable to other member nations.

Hope Mendes-France Yields

They said they were determined to go through with this, even if French Premier Pierre Mendes-France protests the move. But, it was clear they hoped this strategy might persuade Mendes-France to yield himself rather than allow the United States and Britain to take steps toward eventual rearmament of Germany by themselves.

A rumor that Secretary Dulles might fly to Europe to take a personal hand in working out some sort of compromise made the rounds among some foreign embassies today. But officials closely connected with Dulles said that as of now he has no such plans.

Anglican Church Rite Is Picketed At World Council

EVANSTON, Ill., Aug. 23 (AP) — Leaders of 163 Christian denominations worked to create a platform of unity today at the World Council of Churches Assembly desplite picketing of a solemn rite of spiritual brotherhood.

An unusual open communion service of the Anglican Church was picketed by three persons who passed out leaflets deploring what they termed a "violation" of the Episcopal Church sacrament.

The demonstration was given little apparent heed by persons attending the service, but some Council leaders commented later that it illustrated the difficulty of the Assembly's undertaking.

The Assembly met in a night plenary session to receive reports of studies by a commission on activities of women in the church, and its departments on youth and ecumenical study.

Perhaps the most significant move was launching by the Assembly's six divisions on policy of their meetings to formulate statements of church Council principles in their separate fields. These are faith and order, evangelism, social questions, international affairs, intergroup relations and the laity.

There also was a panel discussion at which accredited visitors discussed publicly the tensions of international politics as they applied to Christian aims.

There, Francis B. Sayre, onetime U.S. High Commissioner in the Philippines and former U.N. delegate, said "We can never beat communism through military force, but there can be no conciliation between communism and Christian ideology."

But a church leader from the Communist world, Bishop John Peter of Hungary, answered "yes" to the written question submitted to him by newsmen: "Can Christianity co-exist successfully with communism?"

Blow Is Held Cause Of Scientist's Death

QUEBEC, Aug. 23 (AP)—Police sources indicated the cause of death of scientist Allen Paul Richards who was engaged in Canadian secret defense work was apparently a cerebral hemorrhage caused by a hard blow to the lower part of the jaw.

Richards never regained consciousness after he was found on the grounds of the lieutenant-governor's home last Wednesday.

The centaur was a mythological creature that was half man and half horse.

Ike Complains Golf Game Under Par ; Can't Concentrate

DENVER, Aug. 23 (AP)—President Eisenhower complained today that his golf "isn't what it ought to be"—that he has been unable lately to concentrate on his game.

The President voiced the complaint to Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ) who paid a courtesy call on Eisenhower at the summer White House here at Lowry Air Force Base.

"The President told me," Smith related to newsmen, "that his golf isn't what it ought to be. He said his swing has never been better, but that he can't concentrate on the game."

Air Force Base Moves Against Terrorist Group

CHANUTE AIR FORCE BASE, Ill., Aug. 23 (AP)—The commandant of Chanute Air Force Base Monday pledged "positive proceedings" against young airmen banded together in a secret terrorist society.

The group, indulging in rites including blood pledges of obedience and secrecy, is known as "Pachuco." Its operations resembled hoodlumism carried on by bands of young toughs in New York, Los Angeles and other large cities.

Maj. Gen. B. E. Gates, commandant of the base, promised "positive proceedings" and "continuous action" as his assurance that the Air Force will not tolerate "a few bad apples" contaminating a fine group of American young men. The positive proceedings, he said, will follow these lines:

1. Court-martial of those against whom the Air Force can obtain evidence of specific offenses.
2. Thorough investigation of the civilian records of all those suspected of Pachuco membership. If the Air Force establishes that they concealed criminal records in enlisting, dishonorable discharges will be meted out.
3. Undesirable discharges will be sought for those not qualifying for punishment in points 1 and 2.
4. All other suspects will be kept under continuous surveillance.

"We didn't breed these hoodlums," Gen. Gates declared in a statement. "The Air Force inherited them when it took a cross section of the American people."

Although California farmers cultivate about two per cent of the U. S. cropland, they grow a third of the fruits and nearly a quarter of the vegetables.

Graham Urges Policy Makers Consult Clerics

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23 (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham suggested today that U.S. foreign policy makers consult missionaries and churchmen in other nations to help determine the attitudes of the people of those countries.

It's worth asking the advice of ministers and missionaries, Graham said, "because they are moving among the people where the diplomats do not go, and they can talk off the record in a way that our diplomats can't."

In a copyrighted interview in the weekly magazine U.S. News & World Report, the evangelist said: "I think that on foreign affairs, for instance in China, if we had listened to Walter Judd and some of the other missionaries who were there, I don't think we'd be in the problems that we are today."

Judd, a medical missionary in the 1920s and 1930s, is now a Republican congressman from Minnesota.

Graham said that on his recent tour of Europe "ministers told us everywhere that there was not much anti-American feeling."

"In fact," he said, "I felt the very opposite myself. I felt that there was a strong friendship. Now that was among the masses of the people. The political circles may be different."

Hays Sees No War In Area Of Formosa

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23 (AP)—Rep. Brooks Hays (D-Ark), a member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, said tonight he thinks "the chances are against a shooting war in the area of Formosa."

Interviewed on MBC's "Reporters' Roundup," a transcribed radio program, Hays said the presence of the U. S. 7th Fleet in the waters around Formosa is a deterrent to attack by the Red Chinese and that the Nationalist Chinese troops on the island are a deterrent, too.

DENVER, Aug. 23 (AP)—President Eisenhower complained today that his golf "isn't what it ought to be"—that he has been unable lately to concentrate on his game.

The President voiced the complaint to Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ) who paid a courtesy call on Eisenhower at the summer White House here at Lowry Air Force Base.

"The President told me," Smith related to newsmen, "that his golf isn't what it ought to be. He said his swing has never been better, but that he can't concentrate on the game."

Air Force Base Moves Against Terrorist Group

CHANUTE AIR FORCE BASE, Ill., Aug. 23 (AP)—The commandant of Chanute Air Force Base Monday pledged "positive proceedings" against young airmen banded together in a secret terrorist society.

The group, indulging in rites including blood pledges of obedience and secrecy, is known as "Pachuco." Its operations resembled hoodlumism carried on by bands of young toughs in New York, Los Angeles and other large cities.

Maj. Gen. B. E. Gates, commandant of the base, promised "positive proceedings" and "continuous action" as his assurance that the Air Force will not tolerate "a few bad apples" contaminating a fine group of American young men. The positive proceedings, he said, will follow these lines:

1. Court-martial of those against whom the Air Force can obtain evidence of specific offenses.

2. Thorough investigation of the civilian records of all those suspected of Pachuco membership. If the Air Force establishes that they concealed criminal records in enlisting, dishonorable discharges will be meted out.

3. Undesirable discharges will be sought for those not qualifying for punishment in points 1 and 2.

4. All other suspects will be kept under continuous surveillance.

"We didn't breed these hoodlums," Gen. Gates declared in a statement. "The Air Force inherited them when it took a cross section of the American people."

Although California farmers cultivate about two per cent of the U. S. cropland, they grow a third of the fruits and nearly a quarter of the vegetables.

Graham Urges Policy Makers Consult Clerics

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23 (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham suggested today that U.S. foreign policy makers consult missionaries and churchmen in other nations to help determine the attitudes of the people of those countries.

It's worth asking the advice of ministers and missionaries, Graham said, "because they are moving among the people where the diplomats do not go, and they can talk off the record in a way that our diplomats can't."

In a copyrighted interview in the weekly magazine U.S. News & World Report, the evangelist said:

"I think that on foreign affairs, for instance in China, if we had listened to Walter Judd and some of the other missionaries who were there, I don't think we'd be in the problems that we are today."

Judd, a medical missionary in the 1920s and 1930s, is now a Republican congressman from Minnesota.

Graham said that on his recent tour of Europe "ministers told us everywhere that there was not much anti-American feeling."

"In fact," he said, "I felt the very opposite myself. I felt that there was a strong friendship. Now that was among the masses of the people. The political circles may be different."

"Four seconds to live. At 60 miles an hour, a car covers 88 feet of pavement every second. Four seconds, 352 feet.

"Three seconds to live. Something looked wrong, through the blurry windshield. A tentative dab at the brake stiffened into desperate pressure as he made out an old, unlighted slow-moving truck ahead.

"One second to live. Horror numbed everything into slow motion. He was floating right into the near corner of the truck bed. He opened his mouth to scream.

Hays Sees No War In Area Of Formosa

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23 (AP)—Rep. Brooks Hays (D-Ark), a member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, said tonight he thinks "the chances are against a shooting war in the area of Formosa."

Interviewed on MBC's "Reporters' Roundup," a transcribed radio program, Hays said the presence of the U. S. 7th Fleet in the waters around Formosa is a deterrent to attack by the Red Chinese and that the Nationalist Chinese troops on the island are a deterrent, too.

Man Accused Of Terrorizing Family Held In $25,000 Bond

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23 (AP)—Robert J. Ellars, 26, accused of terrorizing a Seat Pleasant, Md., family for 13 hours, today was placed under $25,000 bond on a kidnaping charge.

The unemployed beautician is to be transferred to Baltimore later today for arraignment in federal district court there on the Lindbergh law charge.

U. S. Commissioner Cyril S. Lawrence set the bond in a brief hearing.

A local charge that Ellars was the "blue mask" bandit who held up the Miramar Apartments and took $27 from the desk clerk was dropped at the request of Assistant District Attorney Alexander Stevas.

Stevas said local authorities would present evidence in the Miramar case to a grand jury instead of delaying action on the kidnap charge by continuing with a hearing here. If an indictment is returned a detainer will be filed in Baltimore pending completion of the government's case there.

Ellars is accused of holding the family of Harold Grimm captive at gunpoint Aug. 9 in the Grimm home in Seat Pleasant. After an all-day vigil he allegedly forced Grimm, a 52-year-old Washington fireboat engineer, to drive him to Washington, thus leading to the kidnap charge.

Attorney Evan T. Davis represented Ellars at the hearing today but said he would not represent him in the kidnap case in Baltimore.

Sinclair Will Build Tanker At Baltimore

BALTIMORE, Aug. 23 (AP) — The first order for construction of an ocean going merchant ship in the United States in two years was announced today by Sinclair Refining Co. of New York.

The 25,200 ton tanker will be built at the Sparrows Point shipyard of the Bethlehem Steel Co.

The Sinclair announcement said it had not planned to order the tanker until 1956, but did so now to cooperate with the government's program for improving the U. S. maritime industry.

It emphasized, however, that "the new Sinclair tanker will be built without benefit of any government subsidy." Sinclair was given permission, though, if it wants to transfer two of its currently idle 12,000 ton tankers to foreign registry.

The Sinclair order comes at a time when Bethlehem was expressing concern over being forced to lay off workers. It has only one hull on the ways.

The new ship will be similar to two that Bethlehem delivered last year to Sinclair and which cost about seven million dollars apiece. The new one will be slightly faster than the 17—18 knots of last year's and will have a cargo capacity of 212,400 barrels.

Baltimore Man Is Charged With Poisoning Wife

BALTIMORE, Aug. 23 (AP)—David Eugene Roche, 28-year-old city employe, was charged with the poison death of his 23-year-old wife today.

Roche had been questioned by police since returning Saturday from his wife's funeral in Central City, Pa. Medical examiners said she died of potassium cyanide poisoning.

Mrs. Roche died Aug. 14. She was the mother of a 14-month-old daughter and was expecting another child in a month.

She had been released Feb. 5 from Spring Grove State Hospital, an institution for the mentally ill.

The Roches had been married three years.

Records Open For Inspection, Sheriff Declares

CAMBRIDGE, Aug. 23 (AP) — Sheriff Waldo Robinson, principal figure in a debate over the efficiency of Dorchester County law enforcement, declared today that all records of cases, "closed and open are here for inspection by anyone."

The Cambridge Daily Banner, daily newspaper, suggested last week that the grand jury investigate two unsolved crimes.

M. Baker Robbins, chairman of the county commissioners, responded by saying he was "not satisfied with law enforcement in Dorchester County." He proposed the state Legislature be asked to authorize a county police department.

The commissioners are scheduled to meet tomorrow to offer financial assitance to the sheriff's office if more is needed.

Sheriff Robinson issued a statement today that the voters in 1950 indicated by reelecting him they were "satisfied beyond a reasonable doubt that the sheriff's office had been conducted in a satisfactory manner."

He said in appreciation he "has striven to serve and execute the duties of the sheriff's office impartially."

He added that in his opinion "to be drawn into a controversy would be contrary" to his commission.

Robbins had said "I don't believe there has been enough cooperation between county authorities and the state police."

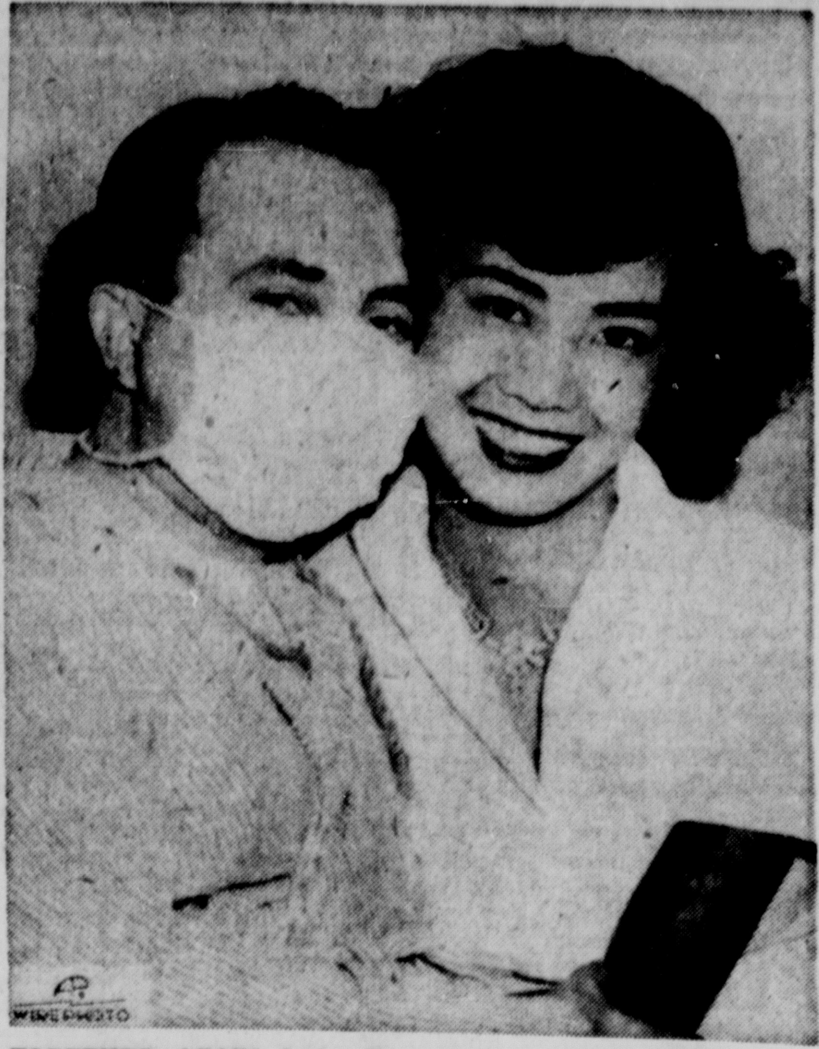
The sheriff replied it "has been of the best."

Indicted On Dope Charge

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23 (AP) — Lavinia Hammond, 27, of Baltimore, was indicted by a federal grand jury today on a charge of selling eight capsules of heroin to a federal narcotics undercover agent last March.

Another grand jury returned indictments on charges of sale and possession of heroin against five Chinese arrested in a series of raids here earlier this month.

About 90 per cent of Indonesia's population of 83 million is of the Moslem faith.



TOGETHER AGAIN—Isako Shirayama, pretty 24-year-old Japanese sales clerk from Kobe, Japan, embraces Master Sgt. William Hardin, 32, Louisville, Ky., a patient in Valley Forge Army Hospital near Phoenixville, Pa., after their reunion which followed long delays because of immigration regulations. Isako had to be content with greeting her future husband while he wore a mask because of a long siege of tuberculosis. The Japanese girl was delayed at Honolulu while her visa to enter the U. S. was investigated. She was allowed to continue her journey after Bill put up $500 bond. She will have to return to Japan after the wedding and then she can file for entry on a non-quota basis as the wife of an American citizen.

14 Office Seekers Accused Of Violating Election Laws

SNOW HILL, Md., Aug. 22 (AP)—Two incumbent state legislators and 12 other Worcester County Democratic office seekers face charges of violating the election laws, State's Attorney John L. Sanford said today.

All are connected with filing of expenditures for the June 28 primary election.

Sen. Ralph Mason, Del. Myrtle A. Polk and County Treasurer John Stevens failed to itemize their expenditures, the state's attorney said. The other 11 are charged with failing to file any report at all with the circuit court.

Sanford said the court is required to notify him when candidates have not turned in an itemized account of their expenses within 30 days after an election.

Accused of not filing any reports, and the nominations they sought, are:

M. William Miller of Pocomoke City, state's attorney; Marvel T. Nicholson, Snow Hill, court clerk; E. Peter Richardson, Berlin, Senate; Robins L. Gillis, Berlin, House of Delegates; Clarence P. Bounds, Pocomoke City, county commissioner;

Henry E. Onley, Berlin, sheriff; Clarence L. Powell Jr., Pocomoke City, sheriff; Leroy Squares, Berlin, sheriff; George Woodrow Warren, Berlin, sheriff, and Harvey C. Pusey, Stockton, county treasurer.

Sanford said Mason reported a total of $489.38 spent for advertising and $95 for miscellaneous. Mrs. Polk's report showed $225 for advertising and $25 for miscellaneous.

Mahoney Battle Again Reaches Appeals Court

BALTIMORE, Aug. 23 (AP) — George P. Mahoney's endeavors to upset the results of the June 28 primary in which he lost the Democratic nomination for governor to H. C. Byrd goes before the Court of Appeals for the third time tomorrow.

Mahoney is asking the highest state court to reverse Circuit Judge William R. Horney's refusal to throw out 255 ballots in Talbot County.

The judge turned down Mahoney arguments that extraneous marks on the ballots made them illegal. Elimination of the ballots would take the county away from Byrd and give its four convention votes instead to Mahoney.

Action on a similar batch of marked ballots in Queen Annes County hinges on the Court of Appeals' decision in the Talbot case. Mahoney would need also the three Queen Anne's convention votes now credited to Byrd to win the nomination.

Judge Horney considered the disputed ballots only after ordered to do so by the Court of Appeals.

Milk-Drinking Avila Keeping Cleveland Hot

CLEVELAND (AP) — A big reason Cleveland Manager Al Lopez isn't yanking out his hair over Al Rosen's batting slump is Bobby Avila, whose ninth-inning single won the Indians a 4-3 victory over the Detroit Tigers last night.

The little Mexican second baseman has taken up the slack this month while Rosen is having the most batting trouble of his major league career.

Even without much help from their big man, the Indians have kept the second-place New York Yankees from closing a gap of three games.

"I look for Al to come out of it," Lopez said, "and Avila and Doby are keeping us in there on the attack."

While Larry Doby has provided six homers in 17 August games, his batting average actually has dropped five points to .275. Avila, however, has been hitting at a .380 clip for the 17 games, batting in 13 runs on 27 hits, including three homers.

In Avila's best of five previous seasons with the Indians—1951—he hit .305, had 10 homers and batted in 58 runs. Currently he's hitting .326 with 12 home runs and 44 RBIs,

"I do nothing different when I bat," Avila says. "Must be I'm stronger. Maybe because I drink so much milk. I drink it allatime."

The swarthy infielder explained he drinks as much as two quarts of milk a day, starting the practice last winter when he had stomach pains and an x-ray disclosed an ulcer.

Rosen, benched last night by bursitis pains in his left shoulder, may not play today or in Thursday's double-header.

Doctors recommend that children drink a full quart of milk every day to insure healthy bodies.

Milk-Drinking Avila Keeping Cleveland Hot

CLEVELAND (AP) — A big reason Cleveland Manager Al Lopez isn't yanking out his hair over Al Rosen's batting slump is Bobby Avila, whose ninth-inning single won the Indians a 4-3 victory over the Detroit Tigers last night.

The little Mexican second baseman has taken up the slack this month while Rosen is having the most batting trouble of his major league career.

Even without much help from their big man, the Indians have kept the second-place New York Yankees from closing a gap of three games.

"I look for Al to come out of it," Lopez said, "and Avila and Doby are keeping us in there on the attack."

While Larry Doby has provided six homers in 17 August games, his batting average actually has dropped five points to .275. Avila, however, has been hitting at a .380 clip for the 17 games, batting in 13 runs on 27 hits, including three homers.

In Avila's best of five previous seasons with the Indians—1951—he hit .305, had 10 homers and batted in 58 runs. Currently he's hitting .326 with 12 home runs and 44 RBIs.

"I do nothing different when I bat," Avila says. "Must be I'm stronger. Maybe because I drink so much milk. I drink it allatime."

The swarthy infielder explained he drinks as much as two quarts of milk a day, starting the practice last winter when he had stomach pains and an x-ray disclosed an ulcer.

Rosen, benched last night by bursitis pains in his left shoulder, may not play today or in Thursday's double-header.

Work Advances On LaVale Methodist Church Project

Construction work on the new LaVale Methodist Church along Route 40 at Woodlawn Avenue is on schedule.

Rev. W. W. Patterson, who has been pastor of the present church since 1950, yesterday said the exterior work of the concrete, brick colonial style structure is expected to be completed by this Fall.

By Easter of next year Rev. Patterson said it is hoped that the first services in the new church can be conducted. Estimated cost of the building is $100,000 plus $15,000 for interior furnishings.

The sanctuary will have a seating capacity of 300 and in the basement will be facilities for a dining room to accomodate some 200 persons. The building will be heated by hot water heat of a gas furnace.

In the rear of the church will be four rooms to be used for the teaching of Sunday School classes. The chancel area in the front of the sanctuary will include the pulpit, choir and altar.

Colonial design will be used on the exterior and interior of the structure which will include full colonial porch in front, tower and steeple. An improved chime system will be located in the tower.

Windows of the church, Rev. Patterson added, will be amber colored and the organ now located in the present chapel will be moved to the new church when it is completed.

Plans for the structure were formulated since Rev. Patterson took over the pastorate and the chairman of the building committee is William G. Barger. Contractor for the new structure is J. G. Buckley and Son, of LaVale. Rev. Patterson said the present parsonage also will be remodeled.

plate glass of precision optical quality, the company president added.

Higgins also pointed out that this will be the "first time in over 30 years that an entire new and complete glass plant has been built at a new location, containing all the facilities necessary for the production, handling and shipment of plate glass."

Magnitude and effect of the plant which is to be located here might be drawn in a comparison with Clarksburg, W. Va., a city of approximately 32,000. Cumberland's population is approximately 37,700.

In an advertisement in a Clarksburg newspaper of March 18, 1954, Pittsburgh Plate said its operations in Clarksburg brought an average monthly employment of 1,176 men and women with a total annual payroll of $5,736,878.

The ad continues that in its overall operation in the U. S. there was an annual average of 30,956 men and women employed last year, exceeding by 1,383 the annual 1952 average of 29,573.

Payrolls also were up, the report said, adding that total pay and benefits amounted to $158,498,285. This was $18,796,836 more than in 1952. Total cost of benefits was $19,182,876 or an average of $620 for each employe.

The company paid $43,060,189 in taxes, the report continues, including federal, state and local. On the state and local level some of these taxes were used to support municipal services, school activities, road construction and to provide other improvements.

Role In Local Affairs

Quoting further, the report says: "The past ten years—the seventh decade of company operations—have been years of great importance to company employes and 'Pittsburgh Plate's' friends and neighbors in local communities. In this period the company has spent approximately $200,000,000 to expand and improve its plants and units. Along with adding 13 new plants these funds have provided a total of 13,825 new jobs—jobs through which money is channeled into the local communities. These funds have also helped 'Pittsburgh Plate' develop new products, broaden its markets and maintain its position in our competitive economy.

"In the field of community relations, the past ten years have been quite significant. The company has tried to be a 'good neighbor' by taking part in civic, cultural and other community activities," it concludes.

Dapper Dan Club Donates $50 To March Of Dimes

The Dapper Dan Club, meeting in executive session, last night voted to donate $50 to the emergency March of Dimes being conducted throughout the nation the latter part of August.

Although the Allegany County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis is not arranging an organized drive for funds to aid the national emergency campaign for $20,000,000, the local organization decided to give to the foundation.

The Dapper Dans are believed the first organization in Cumberland to donate to the emergency campaign.

plate glass of precision optical quality, the company president added.

Higgins also pointed out that this will be the "first time in over 30 years that an entire new and complete glass plant has been built at a new location, containing all the facilities necessary for the production, handling and shipment of plate glass."

Magnitude and effect of the plant which is to be located here might be drawn in a comparison with Clarksburg, W. Va., a city of approximately 32,000. Cumberland's population is approximately 37,700.

In an advertisement in a Clarksburg newspaper of March 18, 1954, Pittsburgh Plate said its operations in Clarksburg brought an average monthly employment of 1,176 men and women with a total annual payroll of $5,736,878.

The ad continues that in its overall operation in the U. S. there was an annual average of 30,956 men and women employed last year, exceeding by 1,383 the annual 1952 average of 29,573.

Payrolls also were up, the report said, adding that total pay and benefits amounted to $158,498,285. This was $18,796,836 more than in 1952. Total cost of benefits was $19,182,876 or an average of $620 for each employe.

The company paid $43,060,189 in taxes, the report continues, including federal, state and local. On the state and local level some of these taxes were used to support municipal services, school activities, road construction and to provide other improvements.

Role In Local Affairs

Quoting further, the report says: "The past ten years—the seventh decade of company operations—have been years of great importance to company employes and 'Pittsburgh Plate's' friends and neighbors in local communities. In this period the company has spent approximately $200,000,000 to expand and improve its plants and units. Along with adding 13 new plants these funds have provided a total of 13,825 new jobs—jobs through which money is channeled into the local communities. These funds have also helped 'Pittsburgh Plate' develop new products, broaden its markets and maintain its position in our competitive economy.

"In the field of community relations, the past ten years have been quite significant. The company has tried to be a 'good neighbor' by taking part in civic, cultural and other community activities," it concludes.

Youth Is Held In House Breaking

A Clarysville youth is being held in the county jail on a charge of breaking and entering the home of a neighbor who was out of the county on his vacation.

He is Walter Francis Perry, 18, who was arrested by Cpl. William F. Baker, criminal investigator for the State Police here. The officer stated that the youth broke a basement window in the residence of Eugene Loy and took a .32 calibre pistol and a banjo.

The banjo was pawned at a Cumberland establishment and the pistol has not been recovered.

A hearing is scheduled to be held within several days after an investigation has been completed, Baker said.

Damage Suits Are Filed Here

Four separate damage suits have been filed in Circuit Court as a result of two accidents on U. S. Route 40, one near Frostburg and the other in the vicinity of Flintstone.

Lawrence C. Smith, of Flintstone, entered suit through his attorney C. William Gilchrist, against Paul J. Smart, of Carthage, Mo., for his own use and the use of the Motors Insurance Corporation.

The damage action resulted from a crash on Route 40 near Flintstone on August 4, 1952 with Smith claiming that Smart's operation of his machine was careless and negligent causing the crash and injuring Smith's wife, Mrs. Dorothy Smith, and their son, James L. Smith.

Smith is asking $5,000 damages for hospital and medical expenses incurred in his wife's injuries. Mrs. Smith is suing for an additional $5,000 for the pain and suffering incurred due to her injuries.

Another $5,000 is asked by the couple for their son as a result of injuries he suffered. Gilchrist is the attorney for the plaintiffs in all three cases.

A fourth suit was docketed by Gilchrist for Raymond W. Czarnecky, of Carnegie, Pa., against Charles L. Marshall, of Dayton, Ohio, as a result of a crash near Frostburg on October 28, 1951.

Czarnecky is asking $1,250 for damages to his car which he claims was caused by the reckless and negligent operation by Marshall of his machine.

Contract Is Signed For Celanese Drivers

Officials of Local 453, Teamsters Union (AFL), signed a contract covering drivers of the company's Central Trucking Division.

The new pact calls for changes in the holiday pay system and a wage reopening on December 14 for mileage rates.

Injured Youngster's Condition Is "Good"

William Crites, seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Ward Crites, Ridgeley, is reported in "good" condition at Memorial Hospital. The youngster was admitted Sunday afternoon for observation and X-ray yesterday morning after he was struck by a car as it moved south on Maryland Avenue.

City Will Seek

Under the city plan, it was reported, county communities could "tap in" later at their own cost and pay treatment fees to the city. This plan, it was said, would mean a tax saving.

Mayor Eves stated that if the city and county "go in together" on the project the per capita cost would be higher than if Cumberland builds its own plant.

Nuzum said the contract as prepared calls for completion of the treatment facility in 750 calendar days or just slightly over the two-year time limit. This coincides with estimates made on the construction time for the new plant which Pittsburgh Plate proposes.

Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan said he hopes location of Pittsburgh Plate here will "start an epidemic" of new industries choosing Cumberland as a site.

May Dispel 'Pessimism'

Eves, noting he had talked with men conducting a "man in the street" survey here sometime ago who said they had never been in a town where so much pessimism was expressed on the streets, in stores, etc., added he thought the plant announcement would dispel that pessimism.

Street Commissioner William H. Buchholtz lauded efforts of the Industrial Promotion Committee of the Camber of Commerce. He said there had been a lot of criticism about the job not being done but that the city should give it the "spark of encouragement and not criticism" to continue efforts to get other allied and new industry.

Eves said the new industry is a result of a coordinated effort and that many had contributed thousands of dollars with no promise of return in the work to "sell our city."

Labor Criticism Unjustified

Furthermore, the Mayor continued, there was the problem of unjustified criticism of labor. People were sent here to get assurance of labor it would do nothing to hamper the plant and cleared up the unjustified charges, the mayor added.

Pittsburgh Plate likes Cumberland and its people, the mayor said, adding he had been told the firm is not going to bring in a lot of trained men but will train local people for skilled jobs.

Lee Marple, North Centre Street businessman and candidate for county commissioner, asked whether the proposed sewage treatment plant would be located in the city or county. He was told the plant would be located in the city limits off Offutt Street with plenty of land available for future expansion.

Marple said he believed the county needed it as much as the city and should stand the major expense with the city tapping into a county plant.

Eves also explained Pittsburgh Plate will use city water for drinking and fire protection purposes. The glass firm will have a sewage treatment facility of its own and return the water used for manufacturing purposes to the Potomac River free of impurities.

Two Seasonal Rec Employes Are Approved

Appointment of two temporary seasonal employes for the Recreation Department received approval of the Mayor and Council yesterday morning.

They are: Edward Robinette, lifeguard, 80 cents an hour; and Joseph Harvey, extra lifeguard, 80 cents an hour. Appointments are in accordance with recommendations of the Cumberland Recreation Board.

Council filed without comment a communication from Dr. and Mrs. E. W. Larson, 12 Decatur Street, urging the city to do all it can to gain approval for the crosstown expressway and C&O Canal Parkway projects.

City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson was authorized to issue a check for $11,710.90 representing five per cent of the original contract price of the new filters at Lake Gordon to the George F. Hazelwood Company and which was retained for one year from the date the filters were completed.

Parking Meter collections for the week August 8-15 increased $4.61, according to Inspector Harry Whisner.

Referred to the police chief and city engineer with power to act was a request of G. C. Sensabaugh, Inc., contractors, to move a crane and boom from the Western Maryland Railway team track, North Mechanic Street, to Valley Street and North Mechanic Street for the American Bridge Company.

Council approved an agreement with the county concerning a sanitary sewer from Holland Street through county farm property.

Rastvorov's Report Has Some Merit

When the State Department staged a news conference for Yuri A. Rastvorov, former Soviet intelligence officer in Japan, Press Secretary Suydam asserted with emphasis that it had nothing to do with the Dr. Otto John affair in East Berlin. That is, it was not planned to counter the effect of the show produced by the Russians with the former West German security chief in the leading role.

The State Department made elaborate preparations for the conference, however, and went to great lengths to insure extensive coverage, so many correspondents were skeptical of the disclaimer. In any event, Rastvorov's appearance in Washington at this time did help to balance the propaganda account in some measure.

Rastvorov is no such prize to this country as John is to the Russians. He was not the head of Soviet intelligence in Japan — merely one of four Russians at the Soviet embassy who were assigned to political intelligence. He said he had gained some information from Japanese in moderately high positions but not from Americans, whereas John was in a position to know a great deal about West German security.

Rastvorov said he defected because the Communists had turned his country into a concentration camp and he wanted to live "a normal life" in a free country. It may be that Rastvorov was one of Beria's men and had to get clear of Soviet power to save his life, but that only reveals more clearly the nature of the Soviet system. His account of what it is like to live under Communist tyranny and cruelty must carry weight with all who are prepared to reach their own conclusions.

There is still no explanation of the case of Otto John that seems entirely credible. The case of Yuri Rastvorov, which hardly seems strange at all, may have even greater impact in the long run.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Herbert Hoover Jr.

When Herbert Hoover was President of the United States, he kept his family out of public life as much as possible. His two sons had become accustomed to their father's public activities since the days in London when he assumed the responsibility for the Belgian relief. When Mr. Hoover became President, he and Mrs. Hoover were intent that the boys should not be absorbed by the limelight of publicity which can be so devastating to young people.

This was carried to such a point that when young Herbert sought his first job, he assumed another name, hoping that he would be hired for his own sake and not because he was a son of the President of the United States.

Neither he nor his brother Allan ever became associated with their father's activities although the Hoovers are very close as a family. Herbert Hoover Jr. went his own way into mining and electronics and has been extraordinarily successful in both fields. He has been a partner in a number of enterprises, usually taking the top managerial position.

The Hoovers have always been an affectionate family and while the sons resented the abuse of their father in the years before his restored popularity, they remained aloof from public life and out of politics. Both sons have engaged in business in this country and in Central American countries. Herbert Hoover Jr.'s mine instrument business took him to many countries in Europe, Asia and South America. He has had a working knowledge of the operations of our foreign policy and he has known many of the men in the field who have to carry out day-by-day operations.

His first public job was in connection with Iranian oil, as an adviser to the secretary of state. This task required the most delicate negotiation among many governments, particularly between Great Britain and Iran.

It will be recalled that in 1951, Iran nationalized the properties of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company in a fit of violent nationalism stimulated by the prime minister, Mossadegh. The British were virtually expelled from the country and the business was shut down. Mossadegh thought that he could operate the business; that the world would have to take his oil or suffer a shortage; it was soon evident that the oil of other countries not only could fill the demand but that the world market was glutted. Iranian oil was dead, unless Soviet Russia either bought the oil or conquered the country and took it.

Many oil men in the United States and other countries tried to find a formula for a compromise between Great Britain and Iran but failed. Then Herbert Hoover Jr. was asked by the State Department to undertake the task. For a year, he commuted between Teheran, London and Washington until he found a middle-ground which could be acceptable to the Iranian government, the British government, and which oil companies could join in supporting.

A consortium of the Iranian government and American, British and Dutch companies was established which will operate the Iranian company; a market for Iranian oil will be established by the other companies producing sufficiently less oil to make room for Iran; the Iranian government will receive nearly 10 times as much revenue as it got when the British operated the business. Iranian sovereignty is unimpaired; British prestige is not damaged anew.

This has been one of the most constructive jobs in recent years and has won Herbert Hoover Jr. great acclaim. Because of its success, he was asked to take General Walter Bedell Smith's job as under secretary of state. Hoover was reluctant to leave engineering and private life but he was prevailed upon to undertake one of the most difficult tasks in these troubled times and at the seat of most of the trouble.

Not new to Washington or without knowledge of the nature of intrigue and empire-building in the State Department, he is likely to prove a fairly tough taskmaster and to be antagonistic to left wing groups, particularly Communists in the department. I have known him for many years and can attest to a toughness of mind that goes to the center of a problem and having reached a decision, fights for what he believes to be right without fear or favor. It will be interesting to see how that works out in the State Department.

83rd Congress Characterized By "National Interest"

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Something so unusual has happened with respect to the 83rd Congress which has just finished its labors that it can be noted as a milestone in legislative history.

For this was one of the few sessions of Congress in the last 50 years which could be justly characterized as a "national interest" Congress.

Thus the Democrats in the Senate who voted for the new tax law recently to make a majority could have killed that legislation even though in the House of Representatives the Republicans had a clear majority without the aid of the Democrats. But so strong was the pressure of the people for the new tax law—it was in the national interest—that many of the Democrats in the Senate felt they could not conscientiously vote against the interests of so many of their constituents.

This does credit to the minority party which of course might not feel inclined to vote for a Republican measure in the Senate if it were known in advance that the Republicans had sufficient votes to pass it anyhow.

Took Broad Viewpoint

There was a "national interest" majority on the farm legislation. Many Republicans as well as Democrats voted along sectional lines but the majority were looking at the proposed law from the broad standpoint of desirability for the nation.

With a narrow majority for the Republicans, therefore, the Democrats felt it impracticable to defeat the legislation because the benefits to the citizens conferred by national laws do not, of course, follow party lines.

The session just ended had other distinguishing marks about it. There was a noticeable recognition of the demand of the people for economy in government. This is just the reverse of the spending policies which for such a long time have dominated the thinking and voting of members of congress.

Also despite the fears abroad that the Republican party if given power would prove itself to be an "isolationist" party the amounts voted for foreign aid are almost as substantial as in previous years. Only a handful of votes from both parties were cast against the policy of building a bulwark against communism abroad by bolstering the economic strength of the Allied nations.

To say all this is not to ignore the fact that partisanship did exist and play an important part in the proceedings of Congress. The squabble over public power versus private power cut to some extent across party lines but it was largely a fight and filibuster engineered by the Democratic party.

The blame for the failure of the amendments to the Taft-Hartley Act is a difficult one to explain because motives for the large Democratic vote cast to kill the amendments sponsored by the administration are not easy to expose to view. Actually the Southern Democrats who helped to bury the Eisenhower proposals were temporary allies of the Northern "liberals" who thought the amendments not liberal enough. But behind the scenes many of the conservative Democrats in the Senate feared the amendments actually were too "liberal."

Leaders Commended

Naturally the President's leadership in proposing legislation which even many of the Democrats could not afford to oppose will come in for political praise on the stump but it should not be forgotten that Speaker Martin and Representative Halleck of Indiana, the majority leader, and Representative Dan Reed, Republican chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee did as orthodox a job of lining up the Republicans as has been done in many decades.

In the Senate, William Knowland of California emerges as one of the ablest legislative leaders of our times. For despite the brickbats thrown at him from time to time he had a task unprecedented in the Senate' history. He was in name "majority leader" but actually his party was in the minority and this prompted him to use some vigorous and assertive tactics at times which occasionally caused resentment among the Democrats. But at the same time this aggressiveness was necessary in order to challenge the Democrats to dare to vote down some of the "national interest" proposals that were on the "must" list. Mr. Knowland learned a lot at this last session and the miracle is that he was able to get through as much legislation as he did despite the fact that unlike other leaders of their parties in the Senate when in control he never had a working majority of Republicans. He will be an even better leader if the Republicans get a substantial majority next time.

As for Senator Lyndon Johnson of Texas, the Democratic party leader in the Senate, he showed himself a master of strategy and revealed a quality of statesmanship especially on foreign affairs which has been all too rare in the past in both parties.

It was a "national interest" Congress in more ways than one.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Just to separate the wrinkles from the pleats don't forget the inalienable whims of congressmen of all kinds. The Constitution states that no member is responsible for what he says in Congress.

If the Constitution makes all men equal and irresponsible it means you can holler bingo without a button.

There's nothing they can do to Mister McCarthy except make him a pie bed, tie his shoelaces together or put salt in the sugar bowl.

Mainspring of the senatorial summer semester is to keep Mac out of preliminary political campaigning. The corn is ripe and they don't want Mac to get into the hustings bee.

Mac still has a good grip on his own boot-straps. And will swing his weight around like a tied calf in a tornado.

The writer of this stack of slick ignorance isn't foretelling the future, guessing weights or putting worms on hooks for near-sighted fishing expeditions.

But we are perstonished to hear Mac's friends holler, "witch hunt." It is a long time since we rode to ghostly hounds on a fast broom.

Mac bears no more resemblance to old Bezzlebub than you do to the joker. When he was on the parliamentary prowl the Commies yelled, "witch hunt."

The question before the inquisitive echelons of the senatorial posse is, "Witch is witch?"

We're waiting for Mac to answer boots and saddles on a maverick feather duster up an unguarded chimney.

In the stymied interim we will check the files for any resemblance to Ariel of the tempest or Oberon the king of the fairies.

If this is a midsummer night's dream we have performed an appendectomy on the calendar. And if Mac is the devil's advocate we could use one of his imps for an office boy.

Knock Knees, Bow Legs Common Defects Of Early Age

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Knock knees in children under three is not unusual. These youngsters are clumsy on their feet and stumble easily but after they learn to stand and walk properly, the condition generally corrects itself.

The abnormality begins with weakness of the muscles and ligaments that support the inner aspect of the knee. The ensuing relaxation leads to poor alignment of the legs. The knees touch but the ankles are separated by an inch or so and in some, by three to five inches, which produces the typical "X" type of deformity.

Most of these tots walk on the inner aspect of the soles. When these disorders co-exist, it is not easy to determine whether the foot defect is the cause of knock knees or vice versa.

At any rate, teaching the child to walk properly and to bear the weight of the body on the heels when standing usually leads to cure within a year or two. Many physicians also instruct the shoemaker to build up the inside heel to shift the body-weight to the outside rim of the foot.

Bowleg is another common defect of the early years of life. Nowadays, it is noted shortly after the child begins to walk and may result from the wearing of bulky diapers or from the childhood habit of sitting tailor-fashion. The tendency is greater among early walkers, more so if the youngster is overweight.

Bowleg is not the opposite of knock knees because bowing generally stems from an exaggeration of the normal outward curve of the shinbone.

When rickets was prevalent, bowing was much more common than it is today. In this disease, the bones are softer than normal. The lower extremities cannot support the weight of the body, which leads to an "O" type defect of the legs.

In contrast to the knock kneed, bowlegged children walk pigeon-toed. The disturbance, which is more unsightly than serious, corrects itself as a rule by the second birthday.

Should it continue, the little one must be taught to stand and walk properly. Several times a day the mother or father encourages walking with the toes pointed directly forward and the feet parallel to each other.

As with knock knees, it is important to show the tyke how to bear weight on the heels and outer borders of the feet. If these measures fail it may be necessary to resort to surgery. Both deformities, when severe, can be remedied in this way.

NLRB Accused Of Dragging Its Feet In Ousting Of Red-Dominated Unions

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—Congress was in a dither last week about outlawing the Communist party, all because the administration asked for a bill to nullify Communist-dominated unions.

But the paradoxical thing is that the National Labor Relations Board at this very same time has been dragging its feet about permitting non-Communist unions to oust these Communist-dominated unions. And today, of course, the Eisenhower administration controls the National Labor Relations Board.

Furthermore, certain big manufacturers, chiefly the International Harvester Company, have made various moves to keep these Communist unions in their plants.

In brief, all the furor about getting rid of the Communist-dominated unions might have been unnecessary if Mr. Eisenhower's appointees on the National Labor Relations Board and certain industrial leaders had acted.

This may seem hard to believe, but here are the facts.

In the summer of 1952, the Farm Equipment-United Electrical Workers called a strike in various International Harvester plants. Three years before this in 1949, the FE-UE Union was kicked out of the CIO by Phil Murray on the charge that it was Communist-dominated, so it was not surprising that during the 1952 strike, International Harvester printed a full-page ad, September 8, 1952, festooned by the hammer and sickle of Soviet Russia, which stated: "It is our belief that the most influential leaders of FE-UE are either Communists or Communist sympathizers . . ."

Harvester Protects

Thus International Harvester went on record that FE-UE was a Communist-dominated union. This was in 1952. But despite this, only one year later, the same International Harvester rushed out to defend the same Communist-led union and protect its continued operation in its East Moline works and in other of its factories. This was in 1953.

In August 1953, labor leader John T. Watkins led a bolt away from the Communist-led FE-UE and with a large number of his fellow workers sought to join the vigorously anti-Communist United Auto Workers.

Whereupon the Harvester company refused to deal with the new group. Instead it dealt with Donald Taigland, whom the company itself had called a Communist during the 1952 strike and whom the Un-American Activities Committee had also labeled a Communist.

Finally, when the bolting anti-Communists asked the labor board for an election, International Harvester opposed it. It made various motions asking the labor board to dismiss the petitions for an election and did its best to keep the Communist-led union in the plant. In fact, the company and the Communist-led union made exactly the same legal moves before the labor board.

These motions are all in the official record and anyone can call at the labor board and read them. It's an amazing series of documents.

Furthermore, the company hired as its attorney, Donald Morgan of Peoria, brother of the mayor of Peoria, a political backer of Congressman Velde of Pekin and Peoria, chairman of the House Un-American Activities Committee, who has an office in the same building. So far as is known, Don Morgan hitherto had handled no labor board cases. His appointmenh seemed to stem from his acquaintance with Velde.

Velde Steps In

For shortly after Morgan took this case, Congressman Velde summoned before the Un-American Activities Committee none other than John T. Watkins, the man who had led the anti-Communist bolt away from the Communist-led union in the Harvester plant. In other words, instead of helping the non-Communist bolters, Velde hurt them. He cited Watkins, who swore he had never been a Communist, for contempt, because he refused to talk about his fellow workers.

Thus it looked as if Chairman Velde, his friend, Attorney Don Morgan, and International Harvester were all playing footsie together in trying to keep a Communist-led union in the East Moline plant.

This is the same Congressman Velde who introduced the recent bill to outlaw Communist-infiltrated unions.

Finally, after months of delay, a labor election was held and the workers, when given a chance to vote, decided to junk the FE-UE and join the non-Commie auto workers. But they had a hard time getting that chance to vote.

Meanwhile the labor board, now controlled by Eisenhower appointees, hasn't helped them much. There are other Communist-led unions in the Richmond, Ind., International Harvester plant; in the Farmall plant at Rock Island, Ill., and in other plants. And the labor board has been inexcusably dragging its feet in permitting elections for the ousting of the FE-UE union.

What happens is that when the workers lead a bolt away from the Communist-led union and nothing happens, they get tired and go back to the Commie-led union. Every day of delay gives Communist leaders a chance to threaten, bulldoze, and create dissatisfaction among workers. In the Farmall plant, for instance, the labor board postponed elections for four months until only this week. In the East Moline plant, the board stalled for six months.

What labor needs is not an act of Congress, but less finagling by certain business leaders and less procrastination inside the labor board to delay elections. For when labor is given a chance to vote, it almost invariably votes against communism.

Mr. Velde would do a real service if he investigated International Harvester in this connection, but he won't. They have been his stanch political supporters.

The Republican Campaign

By Joseph And Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

President Eisenhower's political curtain-raiser at the Illinois State Fair is the tip-off on the kind of campaign the Republican high command is planning for this crucial congressional election.

Peace and prosperity—"normalcy" in short—will provide the grand theme of the symphony. Speakers representing the national administration, and particularly the President himself, will stick to this theme pretty closely.

The charge that the Democrats have fostered Communists in government will be a local variation on the grand theme, to be played by the congressional and senatorial candidates themselves as they may think best.

However, the White House is more than ever discouraging party candidates from asking Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy to help them sound the anti-Communist note.

Surprise Indictments Possible

Finally, a touch of drama will probably be conferred on the campaign's grand finale by surprise indictments of important Democratic office holders.

The final decision on this point will be made later, when the White House has a better idea of the way the campaign is going. But if Republican prospects do not look too good—and maybe even if the outlook is excellent—Attorney General Herbert Brownell is expected to set the Justice Department machinery in motion.

This campaign plan is toughly professional. It does not play into the hands of the President's enemies in his own party. By the same token, it strongly plays up what the voters undoubtedly regard as the Eisenhower administration's most important achievement. It is fallible, of course, like any other campaign plan.

But on the whole, it is a shrewdly conceived plan; and it will be professionally executed, with ample funds to buy television and radio time and other valuable campaign commodities in quantities without precedent in an off-year like this one.

The Republican high command starts with one big advantage, moreover. The Senate is the real prize being fought for. Because of the usual off-year reactions, the administration's prestige will not be greatly damaged if the Democrats win the narrowly divided House by a small margin. In fact it will be a resounding triumph if the Republicans carry the House, even by a hair's breadth.

34 Seats At Stake

But the Senate, which is the main ring of the legislative circus, really must be carried if the Eisenhower administration is not to suffer the kind of set-back that has normally proved fatal in American politics. And this year, only 13 Republican-held seats are being contested (including two long term and one short term in Nebraska), whereas no less than 21 Democratic seats are in contest.

The Republicans still have the edge if you consider only those seats which can reasonably be considered as in jeopardy. Of these doubtful Senate seats, eight are now held by Democrats, in New Mexico, Illinois, Delaware, Minnesota, Wyoming, Colorado, Montana and West Virginia. The Republicans have six doubtful Senate seats, in Kentucky, Oregon, Idaho, Michigan, New Jersey and Massachusetts. The Democrats also say they have an off chance to win a seat in California and one of the seats in Nebraska, and the Republicans reply that they too have an off chance at the Democratic seat in Rhode Island. But these points seem pretty bold.

On balance, then, the Democrats have got to win two more disputed contests than the Republicans if they are merely to hold their own. To capture the evenly divided Senate, the Democrats must win three more of the doubtful seats than the Repulicans. In these respects, President Eisenhower is in luck.

The Republicans have had good luck in other ways, too, in the death of the strongest Democratic candidate, Blair Moody, in Michigan, and the nomination of the weakest Democrat, the ex-Wallaceite Glenn Taylor, of Idaho. Finally, many Democrats, conspiciously including Sen. Paul Douglas in Illinois, were building their strategy around the expectation of a serious recession, which has conspicuously failed to materialize.

The hard fact remains, however, that the reports from the field slightly favor the Democrats as the racers go up to the official starting line. The odds the professionals quote are "everywhere," but Democratic contenders have a slight starting edge on Republican contenders in about two-thirds of the doubtful states. That is the problem which the Republican campaign plan, and above all, the President's personality, have now got to solve.

Rastvorov's Report Has Some Merit

When the State Department staged a news conference for Yuri A. Rastvorov, former Soviet intelligence officer in Japan, Press Secretary Suydam asserted with emphasis that it had nothing to do with the Dr. Otto John affair in East Berlin. That is, it was not planned to counter the effect of the show produced by the Russians with the former West German security chief in the leading role.

The State Department made elaborate preparations for the conference, however, and went to great lengths to insure extensive coverage, so many correspondents were skeptical of the disclaimer. In any event, Rastvorov's appearance in Washington at this time did help to balance the propaganda account in some measure.

Rastvorov is no such prize to this country as John is to the Russians. He was not the head of Soviet intelligence in Japan — merely one of four Russians at the Soviet embassy who were assigned to political intelligence. He said he had gained some information from Japanese in moderately high positions but not from Americans, whereas John was in a position to know a great deal about West German security.

Rastvorov said he defected because the Communists had turned his country into a concentration camp and he wanted to live "a normal life" in a free country. It may be that Rastvorov was one of Beria's men and had to get clear of Soviet power to save his life, but that only reveals more clearly the nature of the Soviet system. His account of what it is like to live under Communist tyranny and cruelty must carry weight with all who are prepared to reach their own conclusions.

There is still no explanation of the case of Otto John that seems entirely credible. The case of Yuri Rastvorov, which hardly seems strange at all, may have even greater impact in the long run.

These Days

Herbert Hoover Jr.

When Herbert Hoover was President of the United States, he kept his family out of public life as much as possible. His two sons had become accustomed to their father's public activities since the days in London when he assumed the responsibility for the Belgian relief. When Mr. Hoover became President, he and Mrs. Hoover were intent that the boys should not be absorbed by the limelight of publicity which can be so devastating to young people.

This was carried to such a point that when young Herbert sought his first job, he assumed another name, hoping that he would be hired for his own sake and not because he was a son of the President of the United States.

Neither he nor his brother Allan ever became associated with their father's activities although the Hoovers are very close as a family. Herbert Hoover Jr. went his own way into mining and electronics and has been extraordinarily successful in both fields. He has been a partner in a number of enterprises, usually taking the top managerial position.

The Hoovers have always been an affectionate family and while the sons resented the abuse of their father in the years before his restored popularity, they remained aloof from public life and out of politics. Both sons have engaged in business in this country and in Central American countries. Herbert Hoover Jr.'s mine instrument business took him to many countries in Europe, Asia and South America. He has had a working knowledge of the operations of our foreign policy and he has known many of the men in the field who have to carry out day-by-day operations.

His first public job was in connection with Iranian oil, as an adviser to the secretary of state. This task required the most delicate negotiation among many governments, particularly between Great Britain and Iran.

It will be recalled that in 1951, Iran nationalized the properties of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company in a fit of violent nationalism stimulated by the prime minister, Mossadegh. The British were virtually expelled from the country and the business was shut down. Mossadegh thought that he could operate the business; that the world would have to take his oil or suffer a shortage; it was soon evident that the oil of other countries not only could fill the demand but that the world market was glutted. Iranian oil was dead, unless Soviet Russia either bought the oil or conquered the country and took it.

Many oil men in the United States and other countries tried to find a formula for a compromise between Great Britain and Iran but failed. Then Herbert Hoover Jr. was asked by the State Department to undertake the task. For a year, he commuted between Teheran, London and Washington until he found a middle-ground which could be acceptable to the Iranian government, the British government, and which oil companies could join in supporting.

A consortium of the Iranian government and American, British and Dutch companies was established which will operate the Iranian company; a market for Iranian oil will be established by the other companies producing sufficiently less oil to make room for Iran; the Iranian government will receive nearly 10 times as much revenue as it got when the British operated the business. Iranian sovereignty is unimpaired; British prestige is not damaged anew.

This has been one of the most constructive jobs in recent years and has won Herbert Hoover Jr. great acclaim. Because of its success, he was asked to take General Walter Bedell Smith's job as under secretary of state. Hoover was reluctant to leave engineering and private life but he was prevailed upon to undertake one of the most difficult tasks in these troubled times and at the seat of most of the trouble.

Not new to Washington or without knowledge of the nature of intrigue and empire-building in the State Department, he is likely to prove a fairly tough taskmaster and to be antagonistic to left wing groups, particularly Communists in the department. I have known him for many years and can attest to a toughness of mind that goes to the center of a problem and having reached a decision, fights for what he believes to be right without fear or favor. 83rd Congress Characterized By "National Interest"

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Something so unusual has happened with respect to the 83rd Congress which has just finished its labors that it can be noted as a milestone in legislative history.

For this was one of the few sessions of Congress in the last 50 years which could be justly characterized as a "national interest" Congress.

This does credit to the minority party which of course might not feel inclined to vote for a Republican measure in the Senate if it were known in advance that the Republicans had sufficient votes to pass it anyhow.

Took Broad Viewpoint

There was a "national interest" majority on the farm legislation. Many Republicans as well as Democrats voted along sectional lines but the majority were looking at the proposed law from the broad standpoint of desirability for the nation.

With a narrow majority for the Republicans, therefore, the Democrats felt it impracticable to defeat the legislation because the benefits to the citizens conferred by national laws do not, of course, follow party lines.

The session just ended had other distinguishing marks about it. There was a noticeable recognition of the demand of the people for economy in government. This is just the reverse of the spending policies which for such a long time have dominated the thinking and voting of members of congress.

Also despite the fears abroad that the Republican party if given power would prove itself to be an "isolationist" party the amounts voted for foreign aid are almost as substantial as in previous years. Only a handful of votes from both parties were cast against the policy of building a bulwark against communism abroad by bolstering the economic strength of the Allied nations.

To say all this is not to ignore the fact that partisanship did exist and play an important part in the proceedings of Congress. The squabble over public power versus private power cut to some extent across party lines but it was largely a fight and filibuster engineered by the Democratic party.

The blame for the failure of the amendments to the Taft-Hartley Act is a difficult one to explain because motives for the large Democratic vote cast to kill the amendments sponsored by the administration are not easy to expose to view. Actually the Southern Democrats who helped to bury the Eisenhower proposals were temporary allies of the Northern "liberals" who thought the amendments not liberal enough. But behind the scenes many of the conservative Democrats in the Senate feared the amendments actually were too "liberal."

Leaders Commended

Naturally the President's leadership in proposing legislation which even many of the Democrats could not afford to oppose will come in for political praise on the stump but it should not be forgotten that Speaker Martin and Representative Halleck of Indiana, the majority leader, and Representative Dan Reed, Republican chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee did as orthodox a job of lining up the Republicans as has been done in many decades.

In the Senate, William Knowland of California emerges as one of the ablest legislative leaders of our times. For despite the brickbats thrown at him from time to time he had a task unprecedented in the Senate' history. He was in name "majority leader" but actually his party was in the minority and this prompted him to use some vigorous and assertive tactics at times which occasionally caused resentment among the Democrats. But at the same time this aggressiveness was necessary in order to challenge the Democrats to dare to vote down some of the "national interest" proposals that were on the "must" list. Mr. Knowland learned a lot at this last session and the miracle is that he was able to get through as much legislation as he did despite the fact that unlike other leaders of their parties in the Senate when in control he never had a working majority of Republicans. He will be an even better leader if the Republicans get a substantial majority next time.

As for Senator Lyndon Johnson of Texas, the Democratic party leader in the Senate, he showed himself a master of strategy and revealed a quality of statesmanship especially on foreign affairs which has been all too rare in the past in both parties.

It was a "national interest" Congress in more ways than one.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Just to separate the wrinkles from the pleats don't forget the inalienable whims of congressmen of all kinds. The Constitution states that no member is responsible for what he says in Congress.

If the Constitution makes all men equal and irresponsible it means you can holler bingo without a button.

There's nothing they can do to Mister McCarthy except make him a pie bed, tie his shoelaces together or put salt in the sugar bowl.

Mainspring of the senatorial summer semester is to keep Mac out of preliminary political campaigning. The corn is ripe and they don't want Mac to get into the hustings bee.

Mac still has a good grip on his own boot-straps. And will swing his weight around like a tied calf in a tornado.

The writer of this stack of slick ignorance isn't foretelling the future, guessing weights or putting worms on hooks for near-sighted fishing expeditions.

But we are perstonished to hear Mac's friends holler, "witch hunt." It is a long time since we rode to ghostly hounds on a fast broom.

Mac bears no more resemblance to old Bezzlebub than you do to the joker. When he was on the parliamentary prowl the Commies yelled, "witch hunt."

The question before the inquisitive echelons of the senatorial posse is, "Witch is witch?"

We're waiting for Mac to answer boots and saddles on a maverick feather duster up an unguarded chimney.

In the stymied interim we will check the files for any resemblance to Ariel of the tempest or Oberon the king of the fairies.

If this is a midsummer night's dream we have performed an appendectomy on the calendar. And if Mac is the devil's advocate we could use one of his imps for an office boy.

The Republican Campaign

By Joseph And Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

President Eisenhower's political curtain-raiser at the Illinois State Fair is the tip-off on the kind of campaign the Republican high command is planning for this crucial congressional election.

Peace and prosperity—"normalcy" in short—will provide the grand theme of the symphony. Speakers representing the national administration, and particularly the President himself, will stick to this theme pretty closely.

The charge that the Democrats have fostered Communists in government will be a local variation on the grand theme, to be played by the congressional and senatorial candidates themselves as they may think best.

However, the White House is more than ever discouraging party candidates from asking Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy to help them sound the anti-Communist note.

Surprise Indictments Possible

Finally, a touch of drama will probably be conferred on the campaign's grand finale by surprise indictments of important Democratic office holders.

The final decision on this point will be made later, when the White House has a better idea of the way the campaign is going. But if Republican prospects do not look too good—and maybe even if the outlook is excellent—Attorney General Herbert Brownell is expected to set the Justice Department machinery in motion.

This campaign plan is toughly professional. It does not play into the hands of the President's enemies in his own party. By the same token, it strongly plays up what the voters undoubtedly regard as the Eisenhower administration's most important achievement. It is fallible, of course, like any other campaign plan.

But on the whole, it is a shrewdly conceived plan; and it will be professionally executed, with ample funds to buy television and radio time and other valuable campaign commodities in quantities without precedent in an off-year like this one.

The Republican high command starts with one big advantage, moreover. The Senate is the real prize being fought for. Because of the usual off-year reactions, the administration's prestige will not be greatly damaged if the Democrats win the narrowly divided House by a small margin. In fact it will be a resounding triumph if the Republicans carry the House, even by a hair's breadth.

34 Seats At Stake

But the Senate, which is the main ring of the legislative circus, really must be carried if the Eisenhower administration is not to suffer the kind of set-back that has normally proved fatal in American politics. And this year, only 13 Republican-held seats are being contested (including two long term and one short term in Nebraska), whereas no less than 21 Democratic seats are in contest.

The Republicans still have the edge if you consider only those seats which can reasonably be considered as in jeopardy. Of these doubtful Senate seats, eight are now held by Democrats, in New Mexico, Illinois, Delaware, Minnesota, Wyoming, Colorado, Montana and West Virginia. The Republicans have six doubtful Senate seats, in Kentucky, Oregon, Idaho, Michigan, New Jersey and Massachusetts. The Democrats also say they have an off chance to win a seat in California and one of the seats in Nebraska, and the Republicans reply that they too have an off chance at the Democratic seat in Rhode Island. But these points seem pretty bold.

On balance, then, the Democrats have got to win two more disputed contests than the Republicans if they are merely to hold their own. To capture the evenly divided Senate, the Democrats must win three more of the doubtful seats than the Repulicans. In these respects, President Eisenhower is in luck.

The Republicans have had good luck in other ways, too, in the death of the strongest Democratic candidate, Blair Moody, in Michigan, and the nomination of the weakest Democrat, the ex-Wallaceite Glenn Taylor, of Idaho. Finally, many Democrats, conspiciously including Sen. Paul Douglas in Illinois, were building their strategy around the expectation of a serious recession, which has conspicuously failed to materialize.

The hard fact remains, however, that the reports from the field slightly favor the Democrats as the racers go up to the official starting line. The odds the professionals quote are "everywhere," but Democratic contenders have a slight starting edge on Republican contenders in about two-thirds of the doubtful states. That is the problem which the Republican campaign plan, and above all, the President's personality, have now got to solve.

Knock Knees, Bow Legs Common Defects Of Early Age

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Knock knees in children under three is not unusual. These youngsters are clumsy on their feet and stumble easily but after they learn to stand and walk properly, the condition generally corrects itself.

The abnormality begins with weakness of the muscles and ligaments that support the inner aspect of the knee. The ensuing relaxation leads to poor alignment of the legs. The knees touch but the ankles are separated by an inch or so and in some, by three to five inches, which produces the typical "X" type of deformity.

Most of these tots walk on the inner aspect of the soles. When these disorders co-exist, it is not easy to determine whether the foot defect is the cause of knock knees or vice versa.

At any rate, teaching the child to walk properly and to bear the weight of the body on the heels when standing usually leads to cure within a year or two. Many physicians also instruct the shoemaker to build up the inside heel to shift the body-weight to the outside rim of the foot.

Bowleg is another common defect of the early years of life. Nowadays, it is noted shortly after the child begins to walk and may result from the wearing of bulky diapers or from the childhood habit of sitting tailor-fashion. The tendency is greater among early walkers, more so if the youngster is overweight.

Bowleg is not the opposite of knock knees because bowing generally stems from an exaggeration of the normal outward curve of the shinbone.

When rickets was prevalent, bowing was much more common than it is today. In this disease, the bones are softer than normal. The lower extremities cannot support the weight of the body, which leads to an "O" type defect of the legs.

In contrast to the knock kneed, bowlegged children walk pigeon-toed. The disturbance, which is more unsightly than serious, corrects itself as a rule by the second birthday.

Should it continue, the little one must be taught to stand and walk properly. Several times a day the mother or father encourages walking with the toes pointed directly forward and the feet parallel to each other.

As with knock knees, it is important to show the tyke how to bear weight on the heels and outer borders of the feet. If these measures fail it may be necessary to resort to surgery. Both deformities, when severe, can be remedied in this way.

Four Former Champs Are Casualties In National Amateur

Billy Patton Wins In Extra Hole Contest

Urzetta, Coe, Bishop Evans Lose; Foutche, West Virginian Wins

By WILL GRIMSLEY

DETROIT, Aug. 23 (AP) — The ebullient Billy Joe Patton, spraying his shots and Dixie witticisims with the equal abandon, won a tight-squeeze extra hole ticket into the second round of the National Amateur Golf Tournament today and thus escaped the dark disaster which struck down four former champions.

The Morganton, N. C., lumberman, amateur sensation of the Masters and U. S. Open tournaments, defeated 18-year-old Rex Baxter of Amarillo, Tex., on the 19th hole when the latter blew a 40-inch putt for a bogey five.

It was a copyrighted round for the unpredictable Patton, who hit only two greens in the last 15 and who scrambled brilliantly after missing the last five fairways, not counting the extra hole where he really pulverized his drive.

The day's casualties in the 72 head-to-head matches over the long and taxing country club of Detroit included former champions Sam Urzetta of Rochester, N. Y., 1950, beaten on the 19th hole; Charlie Coe of Oklahoma City, 1949; Ted Bishop of Weston, Mass., 1946; and 64 - year - old Charles (Chick) Evans of Chicago, 1916-20, who was a veteran when Bobby Jones made his famous grand slam.

Foutche Is Winner

Dick Foutche of Charleston, W. Va., who rushed here by air to see the tough Country Club of Detroit course for the first time, finished spectacularly, winning three of the last four holes, to oust Bishop, 2 up.

Foutche played in the West Virginia Open yesterday and then flew to Detroit by plane, arriving around 3 a.m. (EST). He had little sleep when he walked to the first tee and hit his tee shot into a large oak to carry no more than 50 yards.

But one down to Bishop going to the 15th, Foutche, a six-foot-two-190-pounder, one-putted the last four greens, on the 16th, 17th and 18th to prevail, 2 up.

Another surprise victim was Hillman Robbins of Memphis, reigning national college champion and winner of eight of the 11 tournaments in which he's played this year. He bowed to Dick Whiting of Royal Oak, Mich., 3 and 2.

Advancing with Patton were such favorites as Harvie Ward Jr., of San Francisco, the new Canadian champion and Arnold Palmer of Cleveland, who beat the veteran Frank Strafaci of Garden City, N. Y., one up in a feature match.

Gallery Likes Patton

All the day's developments took secondary billing to Patton's successful opening bid, and the highly-publicized Southerner didn't disappoint his fans either in his flair for wild, scrambling golf or his knack for charming banter with a black-strap molasses accent.

When Billy Joe hit into the "spinach" on the first hole, the gallery winced but Billy Joe just winked and said: "Don't worry. I get my mail down there."

Phils Retain Terry Moore

Manager Says He Has Signed 1955 Contract

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 23 (AP) — Terry Moore disclosed he has been signed to manage the Philadelphia Phillies for the 1955 season. And at the same time his players learned the supposedly mild-mannered former St. Louis Cardinals' outfield star can be a tiger when he's dissatisfied with their work.

Moore's announcement was one of a series of surprises from the 44-year-old freshman boss, who took over for Steve O'Neill just after the All-Star game. Usually, announcements of such nature come from the front office. But Moore made his disclosure in an informal chat with reporters yesterday.

Coupled with this announcement was the revelation that Moore has mixed a little psychology with baseball in getting a line on his charges.

The hustling manager revealed he had deliberately encouraged the idea that he was an "interim" pilot in order to learn some pertinent facts about his players

The result: "I found out more in a month than I normally would have in a season," he said.

Moore said the contract he has signed to manage the Phillies is for the 1955 season only. He declined to discuss the terms of the agreement.

Ray Taylor Wins Own Game With Single, 4-3

Schute's Roofers won the championship of the City Softball League yesterday by defeating the Old Germans at Stitcher Field by the score of 4-3.

Manager Browne Shircliffe's tossers took the series in two straight games, having beaten the Old G's in the opener, 4-3, after eliminating Cunningham's Grocery in two games in the semi-finals.

Schute's, under Shircliffe's management, won the City Rec League title last year.

In yesterday's contest, the Old Germans took a 3-2 lead in the 6th on Speir's single and Birmingham's double. Then the Roofers sewed it up in the 7th on a walk to "Perk" Robinette, a triple by Dick Klavuhn and a single by Ray Taylor who won his own game. Schute's scored the run that tied up the score at 3-3 in the 7th when Robinette stumbled and fell and crawled about seven feet to home plate.

Eyler had three hits for the winners while Taylor collected a pair and Klavuhn blasted a triple. Basilio, Barb and Birmingham garnered two hits each for the Old Germans.

Taylor scored all four wins for Schute's in the playoffs to conclude the league season with a 14-3 record. Yesterday's score:

OLD GERMANS	100	101	0—3	9	0

Four Former Champs Are Casualties In National Amateur

Billy Patton Wins In Extra Hole Contest

Urzetta, Coe, Bishop Evans Lose; Foutche, West Virginian Wins

By WILL GRIMSLEY

DETROIT, Aug. 23 (AP) — The ebullient Billy Joe Patton, spraying his shots and Dixie witticisims with the equal abandon, won a tight-squeeze extra hole ticket into the second round of the National Amateur Golf Tournament today and thus escaped the dark disaster which struck down four former champions.

The Morganton, N. C., lumberman, amateur sensation of the Masters and U. S. Open tournaments, defeated 18-year-old Rex Baxter of Amarillo, Tex., on the 19th hole when the latter blew a 40-inch putt for a bogey five.

It was a copyrighted round for the unpredictable Patton, who hit only two greens in the last 15 and who scrambled brilliantly after missing the last five fairways, not counting the extra hole where he really pulverized his drive.

The day's casualties in the 72 head-to-head matches over the long and taxing country club of Detroit included former champions Sam Urzetta of Rochester, N. Y., 1950, beaten on the 19th hole; Charlie Coe of Oklahoma City, 1949; Ted Bishop of Weston, Mass., 1946; and 64 - year - old Charles (Chick) Evans of Chicago, 1916-20, who was a veteran when Bobby Jones made his famous grand slam.

Foutche Is Winner

Dick Foutche of Charleston, W. Va., who rushed here by air to see the tough Country Club of Detroit course for the first time, finished spectacularly, winning three of the last four holes, to oust Bishop, 2 up.

Foutche played in the West Virginia Open yesterday and then flew to Detroit by plane, arriving around 3 a.m. (EST). He had little sleep when he walked to the first tee and hit his tee shot into a large oak to carry no more than 50 yards.

But one down to Bishop going to the 15th, Foutche, a six-foot-two-190-pounder, one-putted the last four greens, on the 16th, 17th and 18th to prevail, 2 up.

Another surprise victim was Hillman Robbins of Memphis, reigning national college champion and winner of eight of the 11 tournaments in which he's played this year. He bowed to Dick Whiting of Royal Oak, Mich., 3 and 2.

Advancing with Patton were such favorites as Harvie Ward Jr., of San Francisco, the new Canadian champion and Arnold Palmer of Cleveland, who beat the veteran Frank Strafaci of Garden City, N. Y., one up in a feature match.

Gallery Likes Patton

All the day's developments took secondary billing to Patton's successful opening bid, and the highly-publicized Southerner didn't disappoint his fans either in his flair for wild, scrambling golf or his knack for charming banter with a black-strap molasses accent.

When Billy Joe hit into the "spinach" on the first hole, the gallery winced but Billy Joe just winked and said: "Don't worry, I get my mail down there."

Phils Retain Terry Moore

Manager Says He Has Signed 1955 Contract

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 23 (AP) — Terry Moore disclosed he has been signed to manage the Philadelphia Phillies for the 1955 season. And at the same time his players learned the supposedly mild-mannered former St. Louis Cardinals' outfield star can be a tiger when he's dissatisfied with their work.

Moore's announcement was one of a series of surprises from the 44-year-old freshman boss, who took over for Steve O'Neill just after the All-Star game. Usually, announcements of such nature come from the front office. But Moore made his disclosure in an informal chat with reporters yesterday.

Coupled with this announcement was the revelation that Moore has mixed a little psychology with baseball in getting a line on his charges.

The hustling manager revealed he had deliberately encouraged the idea that he was an "interim" pilot in order to learn some pertinent facts about his players

The result: "I found out more in a month than I normally would have in a season," he said.

Moore said the contract he has signed to manage the Phillies is for the 1955 season only. He declined to discuss the terms of the agreement.

In yesterday's contest, the Old Germans took a 3-2 lead in the 6th on Speir's single and Birmingham's double. Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 23 (INS)—Glamorous Marla English, the girl who won herself a long term contract at Paramount, has been borrowed by Howard Hughes on a 20-week deal. Howard has big plans for Marla and will shortly announce an important motion picture for her.

Paramount has taken extensive tests of the pretty girl who hails from San Diego, and she's been called one of the most promising of their younger players. However, she has never had top roles.

Some day I'm going to get out my scrapbook which I have kept in all the many, many years I have been writing columns and see how many pictures Barbara Stanwyck has made.

I think she holds the record for the greatest number of pictures made by any star over a period of years.

Now Barbara will play the lead in "Bow Tamely To Me," based on a Collier's magazine story. Barbara, who just finished "Cattle Queen of Montana" for Ben Bogeaus and RKO, keeps her same producer and the same company.

I never in the world would think of Jose Ferrer in "Huckleberry Finn" yet I don't know why I should be surprised that he's going to play the dauphin "In Missouri," a musical version of Huck. There's not much that Ferrer can't do in the way of acting.

If the new dance, "Champion Strut," which Marge and Gower Champion will spring at the annual banquet of the Dancing Masters of America lives up to the advance touting of their press agent, it will be another "Castle Walk." This, I'll wait to see.

When Irene and Vernon Castle, the greatest dancers of their day, introduced their deathless "Castle Walk" it took two continents by storm. Irene and Vernon were the darlings of the world.

Next Wednesday, Marge and Gower will introduce their challenge to the Castles in the banquet room of the Statler Hotel before 500 dance teachers.

Judy Garland writes from Cap Antibes and says, "Sid and I are having a wonderful time. We are amazed at the interest in 'A Star Is Born' in Paris. We dined with the Jack Warners last night at their beautiful villa in Cap Antibes. At the dinner were Darryl and Virginia Zanuck, Elsa Maxwell, Alex D'Arcy, Marti Stevens and her bridegroom, Mike Butler.

"We go with Jack and Ann to Monte Carlo next week to see Marlene Dietrich, who is doing a charity show. We saw Lena Horne at Maximes at Juin Les Pins, and as usual she is wonderful."

At dinner, Joseph Schenck reiterated what I have heard him say so often. That he wants to do Irving Berlin's life story and that he would like to have Eddie Fisher play Irving.

"That story," said Irving, "must wait until I die."

Then Joe and Irving started reminiscing about the days in New York when both were gay bachelors and went to all the Broadway musicals. It was really a wonderful evening, topped by my looking again at "Seven Brides for Seven Brothers," which is one of my favorites.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

England's great actor Alec Guinness comes to Broadway this fall to star in "The Prisoner." Luther Adler returns to New York to start rehearsals for the Guinness play.

Katharine Hepburn, who is allergic to parties, gave one in honor of Mari Aldon and Tay Garnett on their first wedding anniversary in Rome. Mari is in the Hepburn movie, "Time of the Cuckoo."

The Billy Gilberts are back in Hollywood after a long absence.

After two years of marriage the John Justins expect their first baby in October. He's with Ty Power in "King of the Khyber Rifles."

In New York Richard Whorf told me that his son Peter is going to marry Mary Elizabeth Peden, a California girl. "Pete saved up $500 to buy an engagement ring and asked me to buy it. So I added $1,000 and bought the ring. He never knew that it cost more than the money he saved," Richard said.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Dodgers Are Worried, Drill On Off-Day

BROOKLYN, Aug. 23 (AP) — The Brooklyn Dodgers went through an off-day batting drill today under the watchful—and moody—eyes of Manager Walter Alston.

They were to leave for Cincinnati later, but Alston called all hands out to Ebbets Field for the drill after dropping four games behind the New York Giants as a result of their double defeat by Philadelphia yesterday.

Nats Cop Pair

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 23 (AP) — Eddie Yost and Jim Busby tormented their favorite American League "cousins," the Philadelphia Athletics, today, as the Washington Senators swept a doubleheader 8-5 and 10-3.

Busby and Yost drove in five runs and Yost scored twice in the opener as Chuck Stobbs outlasted four A's hurlers to pick up his eighth win of the season.

In the nightcap, Yost came up with a couple of hits and he and Busby were right in the thick of a five-run seventh -inning rally by the Senators which blew open a nip-and-tuck duel where the lead changed hands five times.

Hagerstown Trainers Given Suspensions On Stimulation Charges

HAGERSTOWN, Aug. 23 (AP)—The Maryland Racing Commission today suspended two trainers at the Hagerstown Race Track—D. E. Mowen of Hagerstown and C. P. Chenoweth of Timonium.

Both men were charged with artificial stimulation of horses that won races at Hagerstown last Friday. They were suspended pending a hearing.

Chenoweth trained Loksgood, a 2-year-old filly, that won the third race. Mowen had charge of Shilly Shally, a 6-year-old mare which won the seventh but was disqualified and placed third.

Commission officials said both were accused of given their horses doses of amphetamine. Mowen and Chenoweth have asked for early hearings.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 23 (INS)—Glamorous Marla English, the girl who won herself a long term contract at Paramount, has been borrowed by Howard Hughes on a 20-week deal. Howard has big plans for Marla and will shortly announce an important motion picture for her.

Paramount has taken extensive tests of the pretty girl who hails from San Diego, and she's been called one of the most promising of their younger players. However, she has never had top roles.

Some day I'm going to get out my scrapbook which I have kept in all the many, many years I have been writing columns and see how many pictures Barbara Stanwyck has made.

I think she holds the record for the greatest number of pictures made by any star over a period of years.

Now Barbara will play the lead in "Bow Tamely To Me," based on a Collier's magazine story. Barbara, who just finished "Cattle Queen of Montana" for Ben Bogeaus and RKO, keeps her same producer and the same company.

I never in the world would think of Jose Ferrer in "Huckleberry Finn" yet I don't know why I should be surprised that he's going to play the dauphin "In Missouri," a musical version of Huck. There's not much that Ferrer can't do in the way of acting.

If the new dance, "Champion Strut," which Marge and Gower Champion will spring at the annual banquet of the Dancing Masters of America lives up to the advance touting of their press agent, it will be another "Castle Walk." This, I'll wait to see.

When Irene and Vernon Castle, the greatest dancers of their day, introduced their deathless "Castle Walk" it took two continents by storm. Irene and Vernon were the darlings of the world.

Next Wednesday, Marge and Gower will introduce their challenge to the Castles in the banquet room of the Statler Hotel before 500 dance teachers.

Judy Garland writes from Cap Antibes and says, "Sid and I are having a wonderful time. We are amazed at the interest in 'A Star Is Born' in Paris. We dined with the Jack Warners last night at their beautiful villa in Cap Antibes. At the dinner were Darryl and Virginia Zanuck, Elsa Maxwell, Alex D'Arcy, Marti Stevens and her bridegroom, Mike Butler.

"We go with Jack and Ann to Monte Carlo next week to see Marlene Dietrich, who is doing a charity show. We saw Lena Horne at Maximes at Juin Les Pins, and as usual she is wonderful."

At dinner, Joseph Schenck reiterated what I have heard him say so often. That he wants to do Irving Berlin's life story and that he would like to have Eddie Fisher play Irving.

"That story," said Irving, "must wait until I die."

Then Joe and Irving started reminiscing about the days in New York when both were gay bachelors and went to all the Broadway musicals. It was really a wonderful evening, topped by my looking again at "Seven Brides for Seven Brothers," which is one of my favorites.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

England's great actor Alec Guinness comes to Broadway this fall to star in "The Prisoner." Luther Adler returns to New York to start rehearsals for the Guinness play.

Katharine Hepburn, who is allergic to parties, gave one in honor of Mari Aldon and Tay Garnett on their first wedding anniversary in Rome. Mari is in the Hepburn movie, "Time of the Cuckoo."

The Billy Gilberts are back in Hollywood after a long absence.

After two years of marriage the John Justins expect their first baby in October. He's with Ty Power in "King of the Khyber Rifles."

In New York Richard Whorf told me that his son Peter is going to marry Mary Elizabeth Peden, a California girl. "Pete saved up $500 to buy an engagement ring and asked me to buy it. So I added $1,000 and bought the ring. He never knew that it cost more than the money he saved," Richard said.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Ward Subs For Mims

NEW YORK, Aug. 23 (AP)—Moses Ward of Detroit today was signed to substitute for the ailing Holly Mims against Tuso Kid Portuguez in the main ten round bout at Madison Square Garden Wednesday night.

The International Boxing Club said Mims, third-ranking middleweight contender from Washington, was forced to withdraw because of a stomach ailment.

Winning Record

DURHAM, N. C. — Through the years Duke University has an overall football record of 220 wins, 102 losses, and 16 ties.

Dodgers Are Worried, Drill On Off-Day

BROOKLYN, Aug. 23 (AP) — The Brooklyn Dodgers went through an off-day batting drill today under the watchful—and moody—eyes of Manager Walter Alston.

They were to leave for Cincinnati later, but Alston called all hands out to Ebbets Field for the drill after dropping four games behind the New York Giants as a result of their double defeat by Philadelphia yesterday.

Nats Cop Pair

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 23 (AP) — Eddie Yost and Jim Busby tormented their favorite American League "cousins," the Philadelphia Athletics, today, as the Washington Senators swept a double-header 8-5 and 10-3.

Busby and Yost drove in five runs and Yost scored twice in the opener as Chuck Stobbs outlasted four A's hurlers to pick up his eighth win of the season.

In the nightcap, Yost came up with a couple of hits and he and Busby were right in the thick of a five-run seventh -inning rally by the Senators which blew open a nip-and-tuck duel where the lead changed hands five times.

Hagerstown Trainers Given Suspensions On Stimulation Charges

HAGERSTOWN, Aug. 23 (AP)—The Maryland Racing Commission today suspended two trainers at the Hagerstown Race Track—D. E. Mowen of Hagerstown and C. P. Chenoweth of Timonium.

Both men were charged with artificial stimulation of horses that won races at Hagerstown last Friday. They were suspended pending a hearing.

Chenoweth trained Loksgood, a 2-year-old filly, that won the third race. Mowen had charge of Shilly Shally, a 6-year-old mare which won the seventh but was disqualified and placed third.

Commission officials said both were accused of given their horses doses of amphetamine. Mowen and Chenoweth have asked for early hearings.

Mineral County Will Hold ASC Elections Sept. 1

Farmers Urged To Participate

KEYSER — An election for ASC community committeemen will be held Wednesday, September 1, followed by a county convention the following day to elect a new county committee, according to John S. Arnold, Jr., chairman of the Mineral County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

Changes have been made in the method of conducting community elections this year. For the first time, elections will be held by a community election board instead of by a community cimmitteeman. The election boards for the various communities were formerly appointed by a county election board made up of the heads of the Extension Service, but now, instead of electing a delegate to the county convention, the chairman of the newly elected Community Committee will act as delegate, and any farmer who has served three or more consecutive terms as community or county committeeman will be ineligible for reelection.

Officials of farm organization, such as the Farm Bureau, will be ineligible to serve as committeemen, and farmers who hold political office or have been active in politics in the past year preceeding election, will also be ineligible to serve.

County elections will be held at some convenient place by each of the seven agricultural committees in Mineral County on the evening of September 1.

In the Burlington community, the election will be held in the Burlington school at 7:30 p. m., EST. The board includes G. H. Ebert, J. C. McDowell and W. W. Bane, Jr.

Elk Garden community election will be held in Sulphur City Church at 7:30 p. m. EST. The board now includes Walter S. Arnold, Russell Junkins and Donald Abernathy.

Fort Ashby community election will be in the Old School House, Fort Ashby, 8 p. m. DST. Board: Fred B. Price. Fred Siple and Herbert Long.

Headsville community election will be in J. E. Stagge' Store, 7:30 p. m., EST. Board: Samual Smith, J. M. Kuykendall and Wayne Miller.

Keyser community election will be held in Fountain School House, 8 p. m., DST. Board: Charles M. Taylor, Kenneth Rexrode and J. G. Ritchie.

New Creek community election in Laurin Swisher's store, 8 p. m., DST. Board: Robert Bane, E. K. Smith and Laurin Swisher.

Short Gap community election in Short Gap School House at 8 p. m., DST. Board: French Wyer, Ernest Light and H. M. Kline.

Farmers are urged to attend their community meetings.

The county convention will be held Thursday, September 2, in the office of the County Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Committee office in Keyser.

Mineral County Will Hold ASC Elections Sept. 1

Farmers Urged To Participate

KEYSER — An election for ASC community committeemen will be held Wednesday, September 1, followed by a county convention the following day to elect a new county committee, according to John S. Arnold, Jr., chairman of the Mineral County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

Changes have been made in the method of conducting community elections this year. For the first time, elections will be held by a community election board instead of by a community cimmitteeman. The election boards for the various communities were formerly appointed by a county election board made up of the heads of the Extension Service, but now, instead of electing a delegate to the county convention, the chairman of the newly elected Community Committee will act as delegate, and any farmer who has served three or more consecutive terms as community or county committeeman will be ineligible for reelection.

Officials of farm organization, such as the Farm Bureau, will be ineligible to serve as committeemen, and farmers who hold political office or have been active in politics in the past year preceeding election, will also be ineligible to serve.

County elections will be held at some convenient place by each of the seven agricultural committees in Mineral County on the evening of September 1.

In the Burlington community, the election will be held in the Burlington school at 7:30 p. m., EST. The board includes G. H. Ebert, J. C. McDowell and W. W. Bane, Jr.

Elk Garden community election will be held in Sulphur City Church at 7:30 p. m. EST. The board now includes Walter S. Arnold, Russell Junkins and Donald Abernathy.

Fort Ashby community election will be in the Old School House, Fort Ashby, 8 p. m. DST. Board: Fred B. Price. Fred Siple and Herbert Long.

Headsville community election will be in J. E. Stagge' Store, 7:30 p. m., EST. Board: Samual Smith, J. M. Kuykendall and Wayne Miller.

Keyser community election will be held in Fountain School House, 8 p. m., DST. Board: Charles M. Taylor, Kenneth Rexrode and J. G. Ritchie.

New Creek community election in Laurin Swisher's store, 8 p. m., DST. Board: Robert Bane, E. K. Smith and Laurin Swisher.

Short Gap community election in Short Gap School House at 8 p. m., DST. Board: French Wyer, Ernest Light and H. M. Kline.

Farmers are urged to attend their community meetings.

The county convention will be held Thursday, September 2, in the office of the County Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Committee office in Keyser.

State Fair Offers $40,000 In Prizes

LEWISBURG, W. Va., Aug. 23 (AP)—A record total of $40,000 in premiums and awards will be offered at the 30th State Fair of West Virginia, which opened a six-day stand near here today.

Fair officials hope that, if the weather is good, attendance also will set a record of 200,000.

The track program at the fairgrounds near here will include 14 harness races and five thoroughbred running races. There will be daily races starting Tuesday.

The president of the fair association, Ross H. Tuckwiller, has announced that there will be judging in eight classes of competition, ranging from cooking and baking to fine horses and cattle.

Bobby pin manufacturers of the United States use 6,000 tons of steel annually.

HERE ARE THE FACTS, GENTLEMEN.
(1) A STORM IN THE CARIBBEAN HAS WASHED ASHORE A STRANGE INSTRUMENT.
(2) A NEW STORM IS DEVELOPING.
(3) TWO UNIDENTIFIED SUBMARINES HAVE BEEN REPORTED NEAR THE STORM.
IT'S MY BELIEF, GENTLEMEN, THAT IF AN ENEMY EVER TRIES A SNEAK ATTACK ON US, IT WILL COME DURING THE HURRICANE SEASON. THE QUESTION IS: HOW CAN WE PREVENT A SUB FROM SNEAKING PAST OUR PATROLS DURING A HURRICANE?
WHAT ABOUT THE HURRICANE HUNTERS?
BUT THE HURRICANE HUNTERS ARE NOT SUB KILLERS.
NO. BUT THEY MAKE WEATHER RECONNAISSANCE FLIGHTS INTO THE VERY EYE OF A HURRICANE. WE CAN DIRECT THEM TO KEEP A LOOKOUT AND GIVE WARNING OF ANYTHING SUSPICIOUS.
EXCELLENT SUGGESTION. NO UNIDENTIFIED SUB IS TO ENTER THE CARIBBEAN.

Q. DO THE PEOPLE OF CUMBERLAND APPRECIATE THE LOW COST OF CABLE TV?

A. Yes, the ones that have it and the ones who have their applications in areas that are not yet developed.

One channel of TV only, can be brought into Casper, Wyoming, a city with a population of 20,000. Yet, the installation cost is $200 and $7.50 per month, per subscriber! They expect to have 70% of the residences on cable within one year! They really want and appreciate good TV.

State Fair Offers $40,000 In Prizes

LEWISBURG, W. Va., Aug. 23 (AP)—A record total of $40,000 in premiums and awards will be offered at the 30th State Fair of West Virginia, which opened a six-day stand near here today.

Fair officials hope that, if the weather is good, attendance also will set a record of 200,000.

The track program at the fairgrounds near here will include 14 harness races and five thoroughbred running races. There will be daily races starting Tuesday.

The president of the fair association, Ross H. Tuckwiller, has announced that there will be judging in eight classes of competition, ranging from cooking and baking to fine horses and cattle.

Bobby pin manufacturers of the United States use 6,000 tons of steel annually.

I BELIEVE THE PEOPLE IN CHARGE OF THE ROBOTS CAN OBSERVE OUR EVERY MOVE, POET!
WHY DO YOU SAY THAT, BRICK?

HERE ARE THE FACTS, GENTLEMEN.
(1) A STORM IN THE CARIBBEAN HAS WASHED ASHORE A STRANGE INSTRUMENT.
(2) A NEW STORM IS DEVELOPING.
(3) TWO UNIDENTIFIED SUBMARINES HAVE BEEN REPORTED NEAR THE STORM.
IT'S MY BELIEF, GENTLEMEN, THAT IF AN ENEMY EVER TRIES A SNEAK ATTACK ON US, IT WILL COME DURING THE HURRICANE SEASON. THE QUESTION IS: HOW CAN WE PREVENT A SUB FROM SNEAKING PAST OUR PATROLS DURING A HURRICANE?
WHAT ABOUT THE HURRICANE HUNTERS?
BUT THE HURRICANE HUNTERS ARE NOT SUB KILLERS.
NO. BUT THEY MAKE WEATHER RECONNAISSANCE FLIGHTS INTO THE VERY EYE OF A HURRICANE. WE CAN DIRECT THEM TO KEEP A LOOKOUT AND GIVE WARNING OF ANYTHING SUSPICIOUS.
EXCELLENT SUGGESTION. NO UNIDENTIFIED SUB IS TO ENTER THE CARIBBEAN.

I CAN UNDERSTAND HOW YOU CAN KEEP THE ANIMALS WITHIN THE PROTECTION OF THIS SHEER-WALLED VALLEY- BUT HOW DO YOU KEEP THE BIRDS IN?
PLENTY OF FOOD. ---THEY'LL NOT MIGRATE AS LONG AS THEY'RE WELL FED DURING THE WINTERS.
AS A MATTER OF FACT, I'M MORE CONCERNED ABOUT THE ANIMALS GETTING OUT--
REALLY? HOW??
WHEN I'M ON MY FEEDING ROUNDS, SOME OF THEM MIGHT FIND THEIR WAY THROUGH THE CAVE OUTLET. THEY WOULD CERTAINLY APPROACH A HUNTER OUT OF SHEER FRIENDLINESS-

Aircraft Stocks Advance, Chemicals, Others Retreat

NEW YORK, Aug. 23 (AP) — The Stock Market was like a busy two-way street today with the aircrafts rushing forward and the chemicals and many others dashing back.

On the whole, the stock market was lower. Outside of a few key stocks, however, the decline was moderate.

The extremes went to around 5 points either way. Du Pont lost 4⅛ at 137⅛, while Montgomery Ward was up 5 at 79½. The Montgomery Ward gain followed Wall Street reports of a possibly proxy fight for control.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was down $1 at $133.90. It was up 30 cents on Friday at a new high, the best since October of 1929. The industrial component of the average lost $1.60, the rails were down 60 cents, and the utilities were off 40 cents.

Three chemical stocks in the industrial average were Du Pont with its loss of 4⅛, Allied Chemical off 3½ at 92½, and Union Carbide off 1¼ at 80.

Volume amounted to only 2,020,000 shares, lowest since early July.

Montgomery Ward was easily the outstanding stock of the session. It was up 5 at 79½ on 79,600 shares as the day's most active issue. It was followed in the most active list by General Dynamics up 3 at 73¼, Avco Mfg. unchanged at 5⅞, Youngstown Sheet & Tube up 1¼ at 62⅛, and North American Aviation up ⅝ at 45.

The Board of Zoning Appeals will meet in the City Hall, Cumberland, Thursday, August 26, 1954, at 8:00 P. M., to hear the following appeal:

Michael Beerman, who has made application to occupy premises at McMullen Highway as "office, storeroom, and storage," said premises being situate in Zoning District Business, and owned by applicant.

At the said time and place, any person may appear and testify as to the proposed use of the said premises or object to the issuance of said occupancy permit.

JAMES C. GARDNER, Secretary
WILLIAM B. ORNDORFF, Member
Board of Zoning Appeals

The little things that add up to charm would make a long list, and they're all important.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

It would be interesting to make a collection of every motto that expresses determination. "Never say die." "Don't give up the ship." "Don't put off until tomorrow what you can do today." Any book of quotations produces a lengthy list of such resolute phrases.

Probably we'd all like to think ourselves capable of living up to them, but sometimes a task seems so insurmountable that you simply ignore it. Ever have that happen to you?

Some time ago I read an article on a friend's intensive researches in the field of mental health. The research required so much time that he began to wonder if the efforts were worthwhile. Just when he was about to shelve the whole idea, his wife reminded him that if the article would help even one person, it was worth doing. You can imagine the rest of the story. He completed the article, and shortly after its publication he received not one, but many letters telling how much it was appreciated.

Encouraging Though

That's an encouraging experience to keep in mind when you are faced with a discouraging problem. If it helps no more than one person, the problem is worth solving. If a project helps you in any way, small though it may be, you should tackle it.

It's natural to wish to be handsome or beautiful, brilliant or talented. People who fit these descriptions are people who make the most of their potentials.

Are you going to say, "What's the use . . . I'll never be beautiful!"? Or will you adopt the attitude of determination? "I may never be a great beauty, but I can be charming . . . I can be poised and personable."

Good enough . . . go to it! You can't be too old nor too young to be charming. Little things add up to charm—in itself no small thing. So start today—right now—to correct the shortcomings you recognize in yourself.

What's Your Problem?

Perhaps you should lose weight, smooth your walk, polish your complexion, or improve your voice. To help you attain your goals, send for "Ten Secrets of Charm" as a reminder of the small things to watch today, tomorrow, and every day. As you launch your self-improvement program, repeat those words of determination, and know that every little thing helps!

TEN SECRETS OF CHARM

You are welcome, free of charge, to the reminder card, TEN SECRETS OF CHARM. It lists ten points to remember as milestones along the road to greater charm. Carry it with you and you won't overlook any of the ways you impress all who come in contact with you. Write to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper and enclose a stamped, self-addressed return envelope.

Daily Bridge Lesson

NOT OBVIOUS TO ALL

YOU would think — if you understand the applicable principle—that any player would rather have an unbalanced suit on the side, with his trump holding made of the same number of cards in his own hand and dummy. The unbalanced side suit, with perhaps five cards in one holding and three in the other, can furnish a discard of a loser from some other suit, perhaps a couple of discards, whereas the even-length suit can never make that possible. Yet many indifferent players prefer to have the longer suit-length as trump, for what they consider greater safety

That was pretty bidding, which won this tournament deal. North, having opened with a borderline hand, did not at first give his partner too much encouragement by showing a fit for the diamonds, but rebid his first suit as a warning. When South, however, was then able to show a second suit, clubs, North emphatically proclaimed his splendid diamond fit with a jump from 3-Clubs to 4-Diamonds. That caused South then to feel strong, as he should. In showing his three-card fit for the rebid five-card heart suit, he bid at the level of five instead of four.

Now is when North showed his understanding of the way that cards play. Knowing the diamonds might be of four in each hand, and that the hearts were divided 5-3, he selected the balanced suit for trump when he bid the 6-Diamonds.

It worked out just as both hoped. With diamonds for trumps, South was able to discard two clubs on the dummy's hearts, so lost only one trick, to the diamond ace. Everybody who tried the deal at 6-Hearts was beaten a trick, losing one in each minor, because no discards could be obtained on the balanced diamonds.

Aircraft Stocks Advance, Chemicals, Others Retreat

NEW YORK, Aug. 23 (AP) — The Stock Market was like a busy two-way street today with the aircrafts rushing forward and the chemicals and many others dashing back.

On the whole, the stock market was lower. Outside of a few key stocks, however, the decline was moderate.

The extremes went to around 5 points either way. Du Pont lost 4⅛ at 137⅛, while Montgomery Ward was up 5 at 79½. The Montgomery Ward gain followed Wall Street reports of a possibly proxy fight for control.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was down $1 at $133.90. It was up 30 cents on Friday at a new high, the best since October of 1929. The industrial component of the average lost $1.60, the rails were down 60 cents, and the utilities were off 40 cents.

Three chemical stocks in the industrial average were Du Pont with its loss of 4⅛, Allied Chemical off 3½ at 92½, and Union Carbide off 1¼ at 80.

Volume amounted to only 2,020,000 shares, lowest since early July.

Montgomery Ward was easily the outstanding stock of the session. It was up 5 at 79½ on 79,600 shares as the day's most active issue. It was followed in the most active list by General Dynamics up 3 at 73¼, Avco Mfg. unchanged at 5⅞, Youngstown Sheet & Tube up 1¼ at 62⅛, and North American Aviation up ⅝ at 45.

The little things that add up to charm would make a long list, and they're all important.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

It would be interesting to make a collection of every motto that expresses determination. "Never say die." "Don't give up the ship." "Don't put off until tomorrow what you can do today." Any book of quotations produces a lengthy list of such resolute phrases.

Probably we'd all like to think ourselves capable of living up to them, but sometimes a task seems so insurmountable that you simply ignore it. Ever have that happen to you?

Some time ago I read an article on a friend's intensive researches in the field of mental health. The research required so much time that he began to wonder if the efforts were worthwhile. Just when he was about to shelve the whole idea, his wife reminded him that if the article would help even one person, it was worth doing. You can imagine the rest of the story. He completed the article, and shortly after its publication he received not one, but many letters telling how much it was appreciated.

Encouraging Though

That's an encouraging experience to keep in mind when you are faced with a discouraging problem. If it helps no more than one person, the problem is worth solving. If a project helps you in any way, small though it may be, you should tackle it.

It's natural to wish to be handsome or beautiful, brilliant or talented. People who fit these descriptions are people who make the most of their potentials.

Are you going to say, "What's the use . . . I'll never be beautiful!"? Or will you adopt the attitude of determination? "I may never be a great beauty, but I can be charming . . . I can be poised and personable."

Good enough . . . go to it! You can't be too old nor too young to be charming. Little things add up to charm—in itself no small thing. So start today—right now—to correct the shortcomings you recognize in yourself.

What's Your Problem?

Perhaps you should lose weight, smooth your walk, polish your complexion, or improve your voice. To help you attain your goals, send for "Ten Secrets of Charm" as a reminder of the small things to watch today, tomorrow, and every day. As you launch your self-improvement program, repeat those words of determination, and know that every little thing helps!

TEN SECRETS OF CHARM

You are welcome, free of charge, to the reminder card, TEN SECRETS OF CHARM. It lists ten points to remember as milestones along the road to greater charm. Carry it with you and you won't overlook any of the ways you impress all who come in contact with you. Daily Bridge Lesson

NOT OBVIOUS TO ALL

YOU would think — if you understand the applicable principle—that any player would rather have an unbalanced suit on the side, with his trump holding made of the same number of cards in his own hand and dummy. The unbalanced side suit, with perhaps five cards in one holding and three in the other, can furnish a discard of a loser from some other suit, perhaps a couple of discards, whereas the even-length suit can never make that possible. Yet many indifferent players prefer to have the longer suit-length as trump, for what they consider greater safety

That was pretty bidding, which won this tournament deal. North, having opened with a borderline hand, did not at first give his partner too much encouragement by showing a fit for the diamonds, but rebid his first suit as a warning. When South, however, was then able to show a second suit, clubs, North emphatically proclaimed his splendid diamond fit with a jump from 3-Clubs to 4-Diamonds. That caused South then to feel strong, as he should. In showing his three-card fit for the rebid five-card heart suit, he bid at the level of five instead of four.

Now is when North showed his understanding of the way that cards play. Knowing the diamonds might be of four in each hand, and that the hearts were divided 5-3, he selected the balanced suit for trump when he bid the 6-Diamonds.

It worked out just as both hoped. With diamonds for trumps, South was able to discard two clubs on the dummy's hearts, so lost only one trick, to the diamond ace. Everybody who tried the deal at 6-Hearts was beaten a trick, losing one in each minor, because no discards could be obtained on the balanced diamonds.

Construction Firms Will Handle Hiring When Work On Plant Gets Underway

Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company general offices in Pittsburgh and the firm's Cumberland retail store have been deluged with job applications since the announcement of company plans to build a huge, new plate plant here.

Guy Berghoff, director of public relations for Pittsburgh Plate, said yesterday that personnel will not be hired to operate the plant until it nears completion, possibly in two more years.

At that time Pittsburgh Plate will establish an employment office at the new plant.

Contractor To Handle Employment

Berghoff said bids on construction of the $34,000,000 plant will be let to a construction company or companies as soon as possible. He added that jobs relative to construction of the plant will be entirely in the hands of the construction firm or firms.

After construction contracts on the new plate glass plant are awarded, the construction firm doubtlessly will establish a local employment office, according to Berghoff. He said the public will be informed through the press when the construction bids are let.

Upon completion, the plant is expected to employ about 900 to 1,000 persons to staff its facilities. In the meantime, an estimated 2,500 workers will be required in construction of the huge plant in the Mexico Farms-North Branch area just south of the city.

Will Hire Local Men

Workers in the production end of the new industry will be predominantly men with women being employed mostly in the clerical division and office work, officials said.

Key personnel probably will be brought from the company's other plants but the other employes will be from Cumberland and vicinity.

Final architectural and engineering plans have not been completed, but it is expected that preliminary excavating, grading and roadwork will start at the more-than-600-acre site within the next month.

Final design of the plant, which will embody the very latest technological improvements, is not expected before that time. Expected to be more than a half mile long, the plant will be of the most modern design and will occupy just one floor throughout the majority of the building.

Highest Investment

In announcing definite plans to build a plant here, Harry B. Higgins, president of the Pittsburgh, Pa., firm, said the Cumberland facility will represent the largest expenditure on a single project in the company's 71-year history.

When completed, he said, the Cumberland plant will have features not now in any plate glass plant in the world, "or so far as we know, not even contemplated elsewhere." Improvements planned for the Cumberland plant will result in the production of the finest

Three Small Boys Admit Vandalism

Juvenile delinquents are getting younger and younger. At least that is the conclusion reached by Detective Joseph Stitcher of the City Police Force.

Stitcher said he investigated a report of vandalism Sunday afternoon and night, involving the breaking into and ransacking the home of Mrs. Edward Ritchie, 200 Willowbrook Road. After an intensive investigation he picked up and questioned three boys, one age 11, one age 6 and one age 4 years. The boys admitted their part in the escapade.

Stitcher said a parakeet was removed from its cage and killed. Two watches, some pen knives, and several miscellaneous items were taken. A baby's bank was opened and emptied. Clothes were strewn all about the place and furniture was moved and overturned.

It was the third offense in nine days for the eleven-year-old boy Stitcher stated. He recently broke into a bakery and a few days ago ransacked a building at the East Side Playground. In both cases his family made restitution.

In this case, Stitcher said, he has scheduled the boy for an appearance in Juvenile Court, this morning.

Some of the missing items were recovered, but the boys told the officer others had been thrown away. The vandalism occurred Sunday afternoon while the Ritchie family was away from home.

Church Sale Funds Go To Community

Wiley Ford Firemen, PTA Receive $3,400

Proceeds realized from the sale of the Holiness Mission Church of Wiley Ford, W. Va. to the Nazarene congregation of the community have been turned over to people of the Mineral County town.

Daniel Klavuhn, who was instrumental in founding the Holiness Mission 14 years ago in Wiley Ford, presented identical $1,700 checks to William E. Ruckman, president of the Wiley Ford Volunteer Fire Company, and to Mrs. Leroy Fleming of the Wiley Ford PTA last night.

The new Nazarene Church, which was formed some weeks ago, held its first services with their new pastor, Rev. Lester A. Fahringer, Sunday, August 15.

Klavuhn had built the Holiness Mission in the small West Virginia community from a transient congregation with camp meetings in homes and tents until the church building was erected in 1943.

The congregation had met in the community's fire hall for three years prior to the building of the church.

The church structure was financed by community-wide subscription and with its sale last week to the Nazarene group for $3,500, Klavuhn said he felt the proceeds of the sale should go back to the town.

In explaining his move to turn the money back to the people of the community Klavuhn said that before he formed the Holiness Mission congregation a Methodist group had held services in Wiley Ford.

When the Holiness Mission grow until it needed a church the community's residents, regardless of creed or denomination, helped erect the present church structure.

The Holiness Mission group deducted $100 from the sale money to clear up debts of the group and the remainder was turned over to the two existing organizations in the community last night in ceremonies in the Wiley Ford Fire Hall.

Art Exhibit Added At Fair

Theodore P. Foote, superintendent of the art exhibit at the Cumberland Fair, being held at the fair for the first time this year, examines one of the entries in the ceramics division of the exhibit. The entries were judged yesterday and a lithograph by Adrian Clem, of Keyser, entitled "Workmen Crossing the Canyon," won first prize of $20 in the adult paintings division. It is pictured third from the left. The painting second from the left, "Coast of Maine," a pastel by Miss Luella Heineman, won second prize in the adult division. The fair's first venture in the art field proved a successful one as the exhibit attracted a large number of entries.

Missing Plane Search Centers In Western Md.

Jet Was Enroute To Mansfield, Ohio

Members of Cumberland Squadron, Civil Air Patrol, have been scanning the woodland areas of Allegany and Garrett counties and nearby West Virginia in an intensive state-wide search for a Delaware Air Guard F-86 Sabrejet which has been missing since Saturday morning.

Warren Mullenax, commanding officer of the local flight, last night said six planes from the airport here were in the air about five hours on Sunday concentrating on a square area of about 2,000 miles.

Yesterday the pilots planned to check a slim lead from the Swallow Falls area of Garrett County but bad weather in that mountainous terrain kept the men grounded.

Today, should better weather conditions prevail, the pilots will resume their search.

Mullenax contacted the sheriff's office in Oakland Saturday afternoon but Deputy Sheriff Edward Frantz, who was in the wooded areas about the time the plane was reported missing, said he did not hear it go over. Merle Wilt of the forestry service, located at Swallow Falls also reported he did not hear the jet go over.

However, Mullenax added, one resident of the section claimed he heard it circle about three times. That is the lead they plan to check.

The jet was piloted by Capt. Frank H. Stern Jr., 35, of Chadds Ford, Pa. and was on a flight from Wilmington, Del. to Mansfield, Ohio. Major James Inks, of the Maryland Wing, CAP, said planes were scouting the Western Maryland area on the presumption the jet had been forced down there instead of the Chesapeake Bay, as earlier reported.

Mullenax said that about four minutes after his take-off from the Delaware airport, Captain Stern notified officials everything was alright.

That was the last they heard of the jet pilot, Mullenax added. A 200-plane search of the Chesapeake Bay area late Saturday and all day Sunday failed to uncover any trace of the jet.

Mullenax said if anyone has information concerning the possible whereabouts of the missing plane to contact him by telephoning Cumberland 3909.

Meanwhile oil slicks appearing at the mouth of the Gunpowder River near Edgewood, touched off grappling operations by Army Chemical Center boats yesterday in search of the wreckage of the missing plane.

Keyser Man's Lithograph Receives Art Exhibit Prize

A lithograph by Adrian Clem, of Keyser, entitled "Workmen Crossing the Canyon," won first prize in the adult paintings division of the art exhibit at the Cumberland Fair, newest department in the already varied program of fair exhibits.

Clem has entered paintings in art exhibits in the Tri-State area before, but the blue ribbon awarded him in yesterday's judging of the art entries at the fair was his first. Along with the blue ribbon, he also received a premium of $20.

Second prize of $15 went to Miss Luella Heineman, RFD 5, Cumberland, for her oil painting, "Chapel in Abstraction," while Mrs. S. E. Clingan's pastel, "Coast of Maine," was awarded third prize of $5. Mrs. Paul Munson, of Great Cacapon, W. Va., received honorable mention for her oil, "Burning Leaves."

There were 28 entries in the adult paintings division.

First award of $10 in the junior division went to Sharon Growden, 818 Gephart Drive, for her oil entitled "Dream Ballet." Boyd Dawson, of Rawlings, won second prize of $5 for a pen and ink sketch, "The Village," and "Pianissimo," an oil by Eleanor Murphy, of 881 Ridgedale Avenue, was awarded third prize of $2.50. Walter McKenzie's oil, "Mike," was given honorable mention. There were five entries in the junior division.

In the ceramics division for mold pieces, the section of the exhibit which attracted the most entries, 38, Mrs. Hazel Rudolph, 607 Central Avenue, won first award of $7.50 for a pair of wall plaques.

A $5 second prize was presented Mrs. Gilford, 703 LaVale Terrace, for her entry, "Hen and Rooster," and Miss Helen Cherry's honey pot was judged third best in the division, for a $2.50 award. Honorable mention to Mrs. Margaret Brotemarkle, 509 Dilley Street, for "The Giraffe Family."

A sculpturing entitled "Old Folks" by Mrs. Letha Matlick, Patterson Avenue, won first prize of $7.50 in the ceramics division for hand-formed pieces of work. A wheel-turned stoneware bowl won second prize of $5 for Mrs. Dorothy Santini, Frostburg, and a leaf bowl by Mrs. Gertrude Elliott, 11 South Smallwood Street, won third prize of $2.50. Honorable mention was received by Thomas Matlick, Patterson Avenue, for his ash tray entry.

There were 13 entries in this division.

Theodore P. Foote, supervisior of art education for Allegany County, is superintendent of the fair's newest department.

Council To Set 1954-55 Budget Here Tonight

A special meeting of the Mayor and Council will be held today at 7 p. m. to set the budget for 1954-55, Mayor Roy W. Eves reported yesterday afternoon.

He said city officials hope to take final action on the budget at the session, adding that the levy must be set by tomorrow.

Few details of budget requests have been released but it has been learned that with few exceptions, increased appropriations are being sought.

One city official said flatly that "cuts will be necessary," adding the only alternative would be to raise the tax rate.

New Fire Truck Is Undergoing Informal Tests

Underwriters Will Check Performance

Cumberland's new fire truck put on a good performance yesterday when it received an unofficial test near Blue Bridge.

Firemen said the truck, manufactured by the Ahrens-Fox Company, of Cincinnati, threw a stream of water across the Potomac River in an informal test performed by Frank Greiser, engineer for the firm who delivered the truck here Sunday.

Greiser said the pump was operated at "over capacity" and performed well in the preliminary test.

The final test, by an official of the Fire Underwriters, will be held Wednesday morning.

This test, Greiser said, will consist of operating the pump for two hours at a rate of 750 gallons of water a minute at 150 pounds pressure; 30 minutes of pumping at 525 gallons a minute under 200 pounds pressure and a final 30 minutes at 375 gallons a minute under 250 pounds pressure.

The $15,354.18 pumper will be purchased by the city and placed at South End Fire Station if it passes all inspections and Underwriters' tests, Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan reports.

The fire truck is equipped with a 250 gallon water tank and 200 feet of high pressure booster hose. Water from the booster tank is used in quenching small fires.

Other equipment includes a 35 foot aluminum extension ladder, an assortment of nozzles and a number of portable fire extinguishers.

Space is provided for carrying some 1,600 feet of 2½ inch hose used to fight major fires.

Long Being Held In County Jail

Calvin E. Long, 42, of Greensburg, Pa., is being held on an open charge in the County Jail in connection with the attempted passing of a bad check.

Long was arrested last week on Henderson Avenue by Sgt. C. C. Roby and Patrolman Harry Iser after he tried to cash a worthless check at a Baltimore Avenue restaurant. He was questioned by Joseph H. Stitcher, of the City Police Detective Bureau, and held in the City Jail for investigation.

Yesterday he was questioned in the State's Attorney's Office and a report of his background will be forwarded here by the FBI.

Long is reportedly being sought by Ohio authorities on charges of passing bad checks.

The high official mark was 76, the same as Sunday, the low was 66 and at 6 p. m. the relative humidity registered 78 per cent. According to today's forecast, it should be fair and warmer, except in the mountains where there is a chance of scattered thundershowers.

County Will Not Conduct Emergency Polio Fund Drive

The Allegany County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis will not participate in the present emergency campaign to raise $20,000,000 to defray expenses of the foundation.

John M. Robb, chairman, said the chapter has decided not to arrange an organized drive, however, the chapter has agreed to cooperate by bringing the foundation's needs before the public.

Some area counties are conducting campaigns for this needed emergency fund, but Allegany County exceeded its quota during the annual March of Dimes and more than $18,000 was raised here. With the 50 per cent of these funds retained in the county, the local chapter is meeting its current expenses as they occur.

Robb pointed out that this county was not designated by the foundation of the State Department of Health to participate in the experimental mass vaccine inoculation since the incidence of polio in this county within the past five years has been too low to make such an experiment conclusive.

The local chapter, however, is caring for 33 polio victims in various stages of progress toward physical rehabilitation. There has been only one case of polio reported in this county thus far this year, Robb noted. The disease is mild in this case and the child is expected to make a full and complete recovery.

City Will Seek Bids For Sewage Treatment Plant

Meeting Scheduled On County Program

The Mayor and Council yesterday hailed announcement that Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company is locating a plant here and set machinery in motion for action next Monday to advertise for bids on a sewage treatment plant.

In conferences with the firm's officials several months ago, the city agreed to construct a sewage treatment plant when it was assured of getting the new plant.

Mayor Roy W. Eves said he was sure yesterday's announcement by Pittsburgh Plate "will make everybody happy" and went on to explain the city wants to speed the sewage plant as it has agreed to do.

Plans Completed

City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum, at the Mayor's question, told council plans for the plant and other necessary documents are complete and bids can be advertised.

But the Mayor said he and the council would meet with the Board of Allegany County Commissioners Wednesday night to see to what extent the county is going to share in the program.

He said tentative arrangements also call for the consulting engineer, Robert T. Regester, to be present at the meeting planned at 7:30 p. m. in City Hall.

"The reason for doing this," the Mayor said, is "the glass company must have water to a certain degree of purity as the water in its present state would be injurious to health of their employes. We have an order from the State Health Department anyway, which is mandatory, and we made this agreement sometime ago that we could, within two years, of their decision, have this plant completed."

The sewage treatment plant will prevent impurities from being placed in the Potomac River water which will be used in the plant's manufacturing processes. These impurities must be reduced under specifications set up for the plant's product.

Asks About Financing

Commissioner John J. Long asked how the sewage plant would be financed.

Mayor Eves said by a bond issue. How to amortize the bonds will be discussed Wednesday night, he added.

Cost of the plant was originally estimated at $2,000,000.

As stated by Mayor Eves, the State Department of Health order, which was stayed indefinitely, preceded the promise to Pittsburgh Plate.

Originally, the city had two plans prepared. One would take care of Cumberland's sewage problem alone and the other would be large enough to take care of the city and allow for a "hook in" of surrounding county communities and towns such as LaVale, Bowling Green, Roberts Place, Cresaptown and Frostburg, it was pointed out.

The city, looking to the future, decided on the larger proposal.

County Not Committed

The county, reportedly, has not committed itself to any sewage treatment plan and it is understood the city favors building its own plant rather than sharing cost of plant to care for the entire city.

Residents Decide To Use Water From City Firm

Gunter's Proposal Not Accepted

About 60 water users of the Welsh Hill-Wrights Crossing area, near Frostburg, met last night and decided to use water from the City Water Company on a year-round basis, at the rate of 60 cents per 1,000 gallons.

At a meeting last week, a committee of residents of that area was appointed to study an offer of Mrs. Mary Shuck and William A. Gunter, local attorney, owners of the Frostburg Water Company which now serves the area, to turn the company over to the residents as a gift.

The water supply of that company often proved inadequate during the summer months and at other times of the year. Gunter, who did not attend last night's meeting, was represented by Maxwell Mathias, former city engineer.

Mathias stated that Gunter was agreeable to furnishing water to the residents at the rate of 30 cents per 1,000 gallons. However, after a lengthy discussion, it was finally decided to purchase water from the City Water Company, which will furnish adequate service throughout the year.

A committee comprised of Earl Davis, chairman, and Robert Lindsay, William Fisher, John Parker, Walter Gardner, George McGaughey and Lionel A. Norris was appointed to learn the price of water meters.

The group will report its findings to the residents next Monday at 7:30 p. m. at Keilings Bowling Center, Wrights Crossing, at which time another committee will also be named to appoint a collector and establish a rate for the residents.

The residents will also have to furnish a bond of $300 to the City Water Company which will be used in the payment of any delinquent bills which may be incurred.

Gunter agreed to furnish water to the residents until the plan with the City Water Company is completed.

Present at last night's meeting were Frostburg City Attorney Edward J. Ryan, and his law partner, William L. Wilson, who offered their services to the group in any legal matters which may come up.

Proceeds came from the sale of the Holiness Mission church in Wiley Ford to the Wiley Ford Nazarene congregation last week. Klavuhn said he thought the money should remain in the community which had helped build the church structure.

Job Seekers Deluge Pittsburgh Glass Co.

Construction Firms Will Handle Hiring When Work On Plant Gets Underway

Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company general offices in Pittsburgh and the firm's Cumberland retail store have been deluged with job applications since the announcement of company plans to build a huge, new plate plant here.

Guy Berghoff, director of public relations for Pittsburgh Plate, said yesterday that personnel will not be hired to operate the plant until it nears completion, possibly in two more years.

At that time Pittsburgh Plate will establish an employment office at the new plant.

Contractor To Handle Employment

Berghoff said bids on construction of the $34,000,000 plant will be let to a construction company or companies as soon as possible. He added that jobs relative to construction of the plant will be entirely in the hands of the construction firm or firms.

After construction contracts on the new plate glass plant are awarded, the construction firm doubtlessly will establish a local employment office, according to Berghoff. He said the public will be informed through the press when the construction bids are let.

Upon completion, the plant is expected to employ about 900 to 1,000 persons to staff its facilities. In the meantime, an estimated 2,500 workers will be required in construction of the huge plant in the Mexico Farms-North Branch area just south of the city.

Will Hire Local Men

Workers in the production end of the new industry will be predominantly men with women being employed mostly in the clerical division and office work, officials said.

Key personnel probably will be brought from the company's other plants but the other employes will be from Cumberland and vicinity.

Final architectural and engineering plans have not been completed, but it is expected that preliminary excavating, grading and roadwork will start at the more-than-600-acre site within the next month.

Final design of the plant, which will embody the very latest technological improvements, is not expected before that time. Expected to be more than a half mile long, the plant will be of the most modern design and will occupy just one floor throughout the majority of the building.

Highest Investment

In announcing definite plans to build a plant here, Harry B. Higgins, president of the Pittsburgh, Pa., firm, said the Cumberland facility will represent the largest expenditure on a single project in the company's 71-year history.

When completed, he said, the Cumberland plant will have features not now in any plate glass plant in the world, "or so far as we know, not even contemplated elsewhere." Improvements planned for the Cumberland plant will result in the production of the finest

Juvenile delinquents are getting younger and younger. At least that is the conclusion reached by Detective Joseph Stitcher of the City Police Force.

Stitcher said he investigated a report of vandalism Sunday afternoon and night, involving the breaking into and ransacking the home of Mrs. Edward Ritchie, 200 Willowbrook Road. After an intensive investigation he picked up and questioned three boys, one age 11, one age 6 and one age 4 years. The boys admitted their part in the escapade.

Stitcher said a parakeet was removed from its cage and killed. Two watches, some pen knives, and several miscellaneous items were taken. A baby's bank was opened and emptied. Clothes were strewn all about the place and furniture was moved and overturned.

It was the third offense in nine days for the eleven-year-old boy Stitcher stated. He recently broke into a bakery and a few days ago ransacked a building at the East Side Playground. In both cases his family made restitution.

In this case, Stitcher said, he has scheduled the boy for an appearance in Juvenile Court, this morning.

Some of the missing items were recovered, but the boys told the officer others had been thrown away. The vandalism occurred Sunday afternoon while the Ritchie family was away from home.

Church Sale Funds Go To Community

Wiley Ford Firemen, PTA Receive $3,400

Proceeds realized from the sale of the Holiness Mission Church of Wiley Ford, W. Va. to the Nazarene congregation of the community have been turned over to people of the Mineral County town.

Daniel Klavuhn, who was instrumental in founding the Holiness Mission 14 years ago in Wiley Ford, presented identical $1,700 checks to William E. Ruckman, president of the Wiley Ford Volunteer Fire Company, and to Mrs. Leroy Fleming of the Wiley Ford PTA last night.

The new Nazarene Church, which was formed some weeks ago, held its first services with their new pastor, Rev. Lester A. Fahringer, Sunday, August 15.

Klavuhn had built the Holiness Mission in the small West Virginia community from a transient congregation with camp meetings in homes and tents until the church building was erected in 1943.

The congregation had met in the community's fire hall for three years prior to the building of the church.

The church structure was financed by community-wide subscription and with its sale last week to the Nazarene group for $3,500, Klavuhn said he felt the proceeds of the sale should go back to the town.

In explaining his move to turn the money back to the people of the community Klavuhn said that before he formed the Holiness Mission congregation a Methodist group had held services in Wiley Ford.

When the Holiness Mission grow until it needed a church the community's residents, regardless of creed or denomination, helped erect the present church structure.

The Holiness Mission group deducted $100 from the sale money to clear up debts of the group and the remainder was turned over to the two existing organizations in the community last night in ceremonies in the Wiley Ford Fire Hall.

Trades Council To Meet

The Allegany Trades Council will meet today at 7:30 p. m. in the AFL Labor Temple.

Klavuhn said he thought the money should remain in the community which had helped build the church structure.

Art Exhibit Added At Fair

Theodore P. Foote, superintendent of the art exhibit at the Cumberland Fair, being held at the fair for the first time this year, examines one of the entries in the ceramics division of the exhibit. The entries were judged yesterday and a lithograph by Adrian Clem, of Keyser, entitled "Workmen Crossing the Canyon," won first prize of $20 in the adult paintings division. It is pictured third from the left. The painting second from the left, "Coast of Maine," a pastel by Miss Luella Heineman, won second prize in the adult division. The fair's first venture in the art field proved a successful one as the exhibit attracted a large number of entries.

Missing Plane Search Centers In Western Md.

Jet Was Enroute To Mansfield, Ohio

Members of Cumberland Squadron, Civil Air Patrol, have been scanning the woodland areas of Allegany and Garrett counties and nearby West Virginia in an intensive state-wide search for a Delaware Air Guard F-86 Sabrejet which has been missing since Saturday morning.

Warren Mullenax, commanding officer of the local flight, last night said six planes from the airport here were in the air about five hours on Sunday concentrating on a square area of about 2,000 miles.

Yesterday the pilots planned to check a slim lead from the Swallow Falls area of Garrett County but bad weather in that mountainous terrain kept the men grounded.

Today, should better weather conditions prevail, the pilots will resume their search.

Mullenax contacted the sheriff's office in Oakland Saturday afternoon but Deputy Sheriff Edward Frantz, who was in the wooded areas about the time the plane was reported missing, said he did not hear it go over. Merle Wilt of the forestry service, located at Swallow Falls also reported he did not hear the jet go over.

However, Mullenax added, one resident of the section claimed he heard it circle about three times. That is the lead they plan to check.

The jet was piloted by Capt. Frank H. Stern Jr., 35, of Chadds Ford, Pa. and was on a flight from Wilmington, Del. to Mansfield, Ohio. Major James Inks, of the Maryland Wing, CAP, said planes were scouting the Western Maryland area on the presumption the jet had been forced down there instead of the Chesapeake Bay, as earlier reported.

Mullenax said that about four minutes after his take-off from the Delaware airport, Captain Stern notified officials everything was alright.

That was the last they heard of the jet pilot, Mullenax added. A 200-plane search of the Chesapeake Bay area late Saturday and all day Sunday failed to uncover any trace of the jet.

Mullenax said if anyone has information concerning the possible whereabouts of the missing plane to contact him by telephoning Cumberland 3909.

Meanwhile oil slicks appearing at the mouth of the Gunpowder River near Edgewood, touched off grappling operations by Army Chemical Center boats yesterday in search of the wreckage of the missing plane.

Keyser Man's Lithograph Receives Art Exhibit Prize

A lithograph by Adrian Clem, of Keyser, entitled "Workmen Crossing the Canyon," won first prize in the adult paintings division of the art exhibit at the Cumberland Fair, newest department in the already varied program of fair exhibits.

Clem has entered paintings in art exhibits in the Tri-State area before, but the blue ribbon awarded him in yesterday's judging of the art entries at the fair was his first. Along with the blue ribbon, he also received a premium of $20.

Second prize of $15 went to Miss Luella Heineman, RFD 5, Cumberland, for her oil painting, "Chapel in Abstraction," while Mrs. S. E. Clingan's pastel, "Coast of Maine," was awarded third prize of $5. Mrs. Paul Munson, of Great Cacapon, W. Va., received honorable mention for her oil, "Burning Leaves."

There were 28 entries in the adult paintings division.

First award of $10 in the junior division went to Sharon Growden, 818 Gephart Drive, for her oil entitled "Dream Ballet." Boyd Dawson, of Rawlings, won second prize of $5 for a pen and ink sketch, "The Village," and "Pianissimo," an oil by Eleanor Murphy, of 881 Ridgedale Avenue, was awarded third prize of $2.50. Walter McKenzie's oil, "Mike," was given honorable mention. There were five entries in the junior division.

In the ceramics division for mold pieces, the section of the exhibit which attracted the most entries, 38, Mrs. Hazel Rudolph, 607 Central Avenue, won first award of $7.50 for a pair of wall plaques.

A $5 second prize was presented Mrs. Gilford, 703 LaVale Terrace, for her entry, "Hen and Rooster," and Miss Helen Cherry's honey pot was judged third best in the division, for a $2.50 award. Honorable mention to Mrs. Margaret Brotemarkle, 509 Dilley Street, for "The Giraffe Family."

A sculpturing entitled "Old Folks" by Mrs. Letha Matlick, Patterson Avenue, won first prize of $7.50 in the ceramics division for hand-formed pieces of work. A wheel-turned stoneware bowl won second prize of $5 for Mrs. Dorothy Santini, Frostburg, and a leaf bowl by Mrs. Gertrude Elliott, 11 South Smallwood Street, won third prize of $2.50. Honorable mention was received by Thomas Matlick, Patterson Avenue, for his ash tray entry.

There were 13 entries in this division.

Theodore P. Foote, supervisior of art education for Allegany County, is superintendent of the fair's newest department.

Council To Set 1954-55 Budget Here Tonight

A special meeting of the Mayor and Council will be held today at 7 p. m. to set the budget for 1954-55, Mayor Roy W. Eves reported yesterday afternoon.

He said city officials hope to take final action on the budget at the session, adding that the levy must be set by tomorrow.

Few details of budget requests have been released but it has been learned that with few exceptions, increased appropriations are being sought.

One city official said flatly that "cuts will be necessary," adding the only alternative would be to raise the tax rate.

New Fire Truck Is Undergoing Informal Tests

Underwriters Will Check Performance

Cumberland's new fire truck put on a good performance yesterday when it received an unofficial test near Blue Bridge.

Firemen said the truck, manufactured by the Ahrens-Fox Company, of Cincinnati, threw a stream of water across the Potomac River in an informal test performed by Frank Greiser, engineer for the firm who delivered the truck here Sunday.

Greiser said the pump was operated at "over capacity" and performed well in the preliminary test.

The final test, by an official of the Fire Underwriters, will be held Wednesday morning.

This test, Greiser said, will consist of operating the pump for two hours at a rate of 750 gallons of water a minute at 150 pounds pressure; 30 minutes of pumping at 525 gallons a minute under 200 pounds pressure and a final 30 minutes at 375 gallons a minute under 250 pounds pressure.

The $15,354.18 pumper will be purchased by the city and placed at South End Fire Station if it passes all inspections and Underwriters' tests, Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan reports.

The fire truck is equipped with a 250 gallon water tank and 200 feet of high pressure booster hose. Water from the booster tank is used in quenching small fires.

Other equipment includes a 35 foot aluminum extension ladder, an assortment of nozzles and a number of portable fire extinguishers.

Space is provided for carrying some 1,600 feet of 2½ inch hose used to fight major fires.

Long Being Held In County Jail

Calvin E. Long, 42, of Greensburg, Pa., is being held on an open charge in the County Jail in connection with the attempted passing of a bad check.

Long was arrested last week on Henderson Avenue by Sgt. C. C. Roby and Patrolman Harry Iser after he tried to cash a worthless check at a Baltimore Avenue restaurant. He was questioned by Joseph H. Stitcher, of the City Police Detective Bureau, and held in the City Jail for investigation.

Yesterday he was questioned in the State's Attorney's Office and a report of his background will be forwarded here by the FBI.

Long is reportedly being sought by Ohio authorities on charges of passing bad checks.

The Weather

There was little change noted in the weather in the Cumberland area yesterday, as cool temperatures and cloudy skies continued to prevail. The high official mark was 76, the same as Sunday, the low was 66 and at 6 p. m. the relative humidity registered 78 per cent. According to today's forecast, it should be fair and warmer, except in the mountains where there is a chance of scattered thundershowers.

County Will Not Conduct Emergency Polio Fund Drive

The Allegany County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis will not participate in the present emergency campaign to raise $20,000,000 to defray expenses of the foundation.

John M. Robb, chairman, said the chapter has decided not to arrange an organized drive, however, the chapter has agreed to cooperate by bringing the foundation's needs before the public.

Some area counties are conducting campaigns for this needed emergency fund, but Allegany County exceeded its quota during the annual March of Dimes and more than $18,000 was raised here. With the 50 per cent of these funds retained in the county, the local chapter is meeting its current expenses as they occur.

Robb pointed out that this county was not designated by the foundation of the State Department of Health to participate in the experimental mass vaccine inoculation since the incidence of polio in this county within the past five years has been too low to make such an experiment conclusive.

The local chapter, however, is caring for 33 polio victims in various stages of progress toward physical rehabilitation. There has been only one case of polio reported in this county thus far this year, Robb noted. The disease is mild in this case and the child is expected to make a full and complete recovery.

This year the clubhouse is housing the floral and art exhibits, the 4-H Club theme booths, and a display of interesting antiques, sponsored by the Allegany County Historical Society.

City Will Seek Bids For Sewage Treatment Plant

Meeting Scheduled On County Program

The Mayor and Council yesterday hailed announcement that Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company is locating a plant here and set machinery in motion for action next Monday to advertise for bids on a sewage treatment plant.

In conferences with the firm's officials several months ago, the city agreed to construct a sewage treatment plant when it was assured of getting the new plant.

Mayor Roy W. Eves said he was sure yesterday's announcement by Pittsburgh Plate "will make everybody happy" and went on to explain the city wants to speed the sewage plant as it has agreed to do.

Plans Completed

City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum, at the Mayor's question, told council plans for the plant and other necessary documents are complete and bids can be advertised.

But the Mayor said he and the council would meet with the Board of Allegany County Commissioners Wednesday night to see to what extent the county is going to share in the program.

He said tentative arrangements also call for the consulting engineer, Robert T. Regester, to be present at the meeting planned at 7:30 p. m. in City Hall.

"The reason for doing this," the Mayor said, is "the glass company must have water to a certain degree of purity as the water in its present state would be injurious to health of their employes. We have an order from the State Health Department anyway, which is mandatory, and we made this agreement sometime ago that we could, within two years, of their decision, have this plant completed."

The sewage treatment plant will prevent impurities from being placed in the Potomac River water which will be used in the plant's manufacturing processes. These impurities must be reduced under specifications set up for the plant's product.

Asks About Financing

Commissioner John J. Long asked how the sewage plant would be financed.

Mayor Eves said by a bond issue. How to amortize the bonds will be discussed Wednesday night, he added.

Cost of the plant was originally estimated at $2,000,000.

As stated by Mayor Eves, the State Department of Health order, which was stayed indefinitely, preceded the promise to Pittsburgh Plate.

Originally, the city had two plans prepared. One would take care of Cumberland's sewage problem alone and the other would be large enough to take care of the city and allow for a "hook in" of surrounding county communities and towns such as LaVale, Bowling Green, Roberts Place, Cresaptown and Frostburg, it was pointed out.

The city, looking to the future, decided on the larger proposal.

County Not Committed

The county, reportedly, has not committed itself to any sewage treatment plan and it is understood the city favors building its own plant rather than sharing cost of plant to care for the entire city.

Ike 'Salutes' 83rd Congress

Federal Wage Hike Measure Vetoed By Ike

President Says Bill Provides No Revenue To Meet Pay Boosts

DENVER, Aug. 23 (AP)—A five per cent pay increase for a million and a half federal workers, voted by Congress during the waning hours of its session last week, was killed today by President Eisenhower.

The action immediately drew fire from labor leaders.

The President said, in a statement, that he is disapproving the pay hike because the measure fails to provide revenue to meet the wage boosts and because it "ignores" what he termed "inequities" in pay rates.

He held out hope to the civilian federal workers that they may get a wage increase next year, saying he would renew his recommendations to the new Congress. He also said that "certain imperative needs" of members of the armed forces must be met. The armed forces, the President declared, lack adequate medical care for dependents and reasonable survivorship benefits for their families.

Meany, Reuther Rap Veto

President George Meany of the AFL asserted in a statement issued in Washington that the President's action "shows a shocking disregard for the welfare" of government workers. He said it means, "The President is penalizing government workers in retaliation against what he regards as an omission by Congress."

The veto was called by Walter Reuther, CIO president, "a travesty on economic justice." He said it is "economically unsound, morally wrong and contrary to the President's declared policy of being liberal with people."

Action Ends "Uncertainty"

The President said he announced his disapproval of the bill "in order that federal workers may not have to undergo a period of uncertainty as to my action."

The chief executive said signature of the bill would have added $112,000,000 to the cost of operating the Post Office Department, which he reported already is operating at a deficit of 400 million dollars.

He said it would have added more than 200 million dollars to civil service pay.

About half a million postal workers and a million civil service workers and congressional employes would have received the pay boosts under the bill.

"Most Wanted" Fugitive Nabbed

CHICAGO, Aug. 23 (INS)—Nick George Montos, one of the 10 most wanted criminals, was arrested today by two FBI agents in suburban Westchester.

Chicago FBI special agent-in-charge Guy Bannister said that two special agents recognized the fugitive as he sat with a companion, identified as Leo J. Manfredi, in an auto waiting for a freight train to pass by Cermak Road near the Westchester limits.

Montos, 37, had been sought for two years on a charge that he and two companions robbed a 74-year-old man and his 65-year old sister near Alma, Ga. He has a long police record.

Bannister said the FBI agents were in a car behind the Montos auto while waiting at a railroad crossing.

The agents recognized Montos, walked in front of his car and drew their revolvers. The agents told Montos and Manfredi they were under arrest.

Montos had a loaded .38 caliber automatic in a cigar box on the seat but made no attempt to use it. Until fingerprinted, he denied his identity.

President And Dulles Confer Via Teletype

DENVER, Aug. 23 (AP)—President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles consulted today on collapse of the European army talks at Brussels.

They discussed the situation via a Signal Corps teletype, with the President at his vacation headquarters here and Dulles in Washington.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, told newsmen about the conversation but declined to discuss any details.

Mendes-France, Churchill Pledge Unity At Meeting

Hint New Move In Communique

LONDON, Aug. 23 (AP) — French Pierre Mendes-France met with Prime Minister Churchill today in a crisis conference to salvage the foundering European army plan. Both pledged "early and practical steps" to maintain Western unity.

A terse communique issued after the four-hour conference hinted a new move is in the works to patch up Allied unity in Europe after the breakdown yesterday of the six-nation Brussels conference on the proposed European Defense Community treaty.

Mendes - France failed at the Brussels conference to win approval from France's five continental allies for changes in the EDC treaty that calls for rearming West Germany. The French Premier insisted the treaty changes were indispensable to win ratification of the treaty by the French National Assembly. Only France and Italy among the EDC members have failed to ratify.

Mendes - France and Churchill conferred at Chartwell, Churchill's country home outside London. Then, after a communique was issued, Mendes-France flew back to France. Landing at Caen, he set off at once for Bagnoles de L'Orne to make a report to French President Rene Coty, who is vacationing there.

The Premier planned to return to Paris early tomorrow for a Cabinet meeting dealing with the failure at the Brussels conference.

In their communique, Churchill and Mendes-France said:

"The ministers were agreed on the importance of maintaining the unity of the free nations of the West and on the necessity of early practical steps to give effect to this."

Churchill apparently had not given up hope of retrieving European unity. His parting words to the French Premier were: "I will do all I can to help you."

Elsewhere in the free world the reaction to the Brussels failure appeared less hopeful.

Backed By Army, Brazil President Refuses To Quit

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Aug. 23 (AP)—Embattled Brazilian President Getulio Vargas sat tight today supported by the army in the face of air force demands he resign.

The long controversy over the killing of air force Maj. Ruben Vaz, in which members of the presidential palace guard were allegedly implicated, flared up into what looked like a showdown. Vaz was apparently accidentally shot down in an unsuccessful attempt on the life of Carlos Lacerda, a newspaper editor who opposes Vargas' regime.

Vargas Refuses To Resign

The crisis developed Sunday after a meeting of air force general officers led by Lt. Gen. Eduardo Gomes, titular head of the National Democratic Union, (UDN), which is the chief political opposition to Vargas. Gomes was twice an unsuccessful presidential candidate.

Radio Nacional reported an air force note was delivered to Vargas—proposing he quit.

The radio quoted Vargas saying: "I will not resign. I was elected by the people for five years and I will fulfill my constitutional duties to the end."

Army Tanks Turn Back

For part of last night the guard around the presidential palace was doubled, but later the reinforcements were withdrawn. Early today only one civil guard was seen at the gate and one military policeman on his beat beside the building. At one point last night army tanks reportedly were ordered to assume positions around the palace but turned back on their way there.

War Minister Zenobio Costa was quoted as saying on the radio today the army is master of the situation. He appealed to the people not to be influenced by rumors and said the army will guarantee respect for the constitution.

Former Prisoners Who Didn't Yield To Reds Decorated

NEW YORK, Aug. 23 (AP)—Two former Army corporals were decorated today for resisting Communist indoctrination despite torture while prisoners of war in North Korea for more than two years.

The awards were among the first such made by the Army.

In ceremonies at 1st Army headquarters on Governors Island, Salvatore R. Conte, 24, of Brooklyn, received an Oak Leaf cluster for his Bronze Star, won earlier in combat in Korea. A prisoner from Dec. 1, 1950, until August 1953, he was cited for "defiantly stating his opinions against communism" and, by his activities, "contributing materially to the failure of the Communist program to convert prisoners of war to communism."

Joseph di Cato, 24, of Everett, Mass., received the Army Commendation Ribbon with medal pennant for "meritorious service" while a prisoner.

'10 Seconds To Live' Author Loses Life In Auto Crash

ATLANTIC, Iowa, Aug. 23 (AP)—"Ten Seconds to Live."

That was the title of a dramatic article written three years ago by Raymond M. Eastman, young Des Moines advertising writer who had graduated from the State University of Iowa with Phi Beta Kappa honors.

Eastman's article was an imaginary portrayal of the thoughts of a motorist about to be killed in a traffic accident. It was widely quoted.

Eastman, 29, died at a hospital here Sunday, along with a companion, Peter James, 27, Des Moines. Sheriff Kenneth Jones said Eastman's new Jaguar sports car "clipped" another while passing it and careened into a bridge. Two other persons were injured in the crash.

The sheriff said it was not known who was driving.

This was Eastman's article:

"He pushed his sleeve back, held his wrist close to the lighted speedometer, squinted to read the time. A little after nine. Five, 10 minutes after. Ought to be home in half an hour.

"If he had only known he had only 10 seconds to live, he might have checked the time more closely. He might have done things differently.

"Ten seconds to live. He massaged his eyes with thumb and middle finger, trying to rub out some of the sand.

"Nine seconds to live. He'd driven almost eight hours since lunch, and was beginning to feel it.

"Eight seconds to live. Lousy driving in the rain. Light from your headlights just seems to soak in along with the water.

"Seven seconds to live. Probably need a new windshield wiper blade. Old one just spreads the water around instead of wiping clean. Get one tomorrow, or next time it rains.

"Six seconds to live. Somebody threw a cigarette out of an oncoming car. The red glow dissolved almost before it hit the pavement.

"Five seconds to live. He plant-

Dutch Airliner Falls Into Sea; 21 Feared Lost

Most Of Passengers Americans; Rescue Operations Continue

AMSTERDAM, Netherlands, Aug 23 (AP)—A Royal Dutch KLM airliner from New York, carrying 21 or more persons, plunged into the North Sea today off the murky Dutch coastline only minutes away from its home airport. A KLM spokesman said it was feared there were no survivors.

The airline said here 12 passengers, mostly Americans, and nine crew members were aboard the four-engined Douglas DC6B Willem Bontekoe when it went down through the clouds less than 30 miles northwest of Amsterdam, its goal. The KLM office in New York said, however, two more passengers boarded the plane at Shannon, Ireland, its last stop before the crash. The plane was an extra because the regular flight, which arrived earlier, was booked up.

No Collision Airline Says

The airline denied a rumor that the plane crashed after a collision with another craft.

Burning wreckage, lifebelts, cushions, an oil stain and other flotsam marked the site of the crash.

Discovery of debris by a pilot boat about 16 miles northwest of led to the conclusion that the plane had "met with an accident," KLM said. The spokesman said rescue operations by boats and a helicopter were continuing, but the pilot boat Bellatrix had not sighted any survivors.

The airliner had taken off from New York with 21 passengers and a crew of nine. Nine passengers were to leave the plane at Shannon.

Air-Sea Search Launched

KLM identified the commander of the plane as Capt. Charles Harman, a Canadian, of Edmonton, Alta. All other crew members were Dutch.

KLM said the destination of the Baussans was Geneva, Switzerland.

A search by air and sea began shortly after the plane was reported overdue. KLM said the last contact with the plane was at 11:32 a.m., when its position was 27 miles west of Ymuiden.

Former Italian Premier Buried

ROME, Aug. 23 (AP)—Italy today buried Alcide De Gasperi, her leading postwar statesman and first Premier of the Italian Republic, in a simple service without flowers or oratory.

The funeral was held in Rome's Chiese Del Gesu (Church of Jesus) where he had often stopped to pray while on his way to Parliament or his office. Members of Parliament, the government, diplomatic corps, and officials of De Gasperi's Christian Democrat party attended. U.S. Ambassador Clare Boothe Luce, who flew here from a vacation in the United States, represented President Eisenhower.

A hearse drawn by six black horses carried De Gasperi's body from the Roman Catholic church to the ancient 4th century Basilica of San Lorenzo, where it was interred with the special permission of Pope Pius XII in his capacity as bishop of Rome. The body was received by members of the Capuchin order, who are in charge of the Basilica. The former premier's casket was placed near the tomb of St. Lawrence, for whom the Basilica, partly destroyed by bombs in World War II and later rebuilt, is named.

Anti-Brainwashing Training Is Planned

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23 (AP)—Four brigadier generals will lay the framework for a detailed study on how to train U.S. fighting men not to fall prey to Communist brainwashing if captured.

The study itself will be undertaken later by a group of both civilians and military men.

The Navy had recommended a study of the Communist methods, following the court of inquiry in the case of Marine Col. Frank H. Schwable, who made a false mistreatment at the hands of his Chinese Communist captors, was not subjected to any disciplinary action by the Marine Corps.

His conduct was held "excusable on the ground it was the result of mental torture."

De Gasperi Funeral Procession

GOP Probers Of Row Between McCarthy, Army Reach Verdict

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23 (AP)—The four Republican members of a Senate subcommittee which investigated the McCarthy-Army row have agreed on a verdict, Sen. Mundt (R-SD) said today, but it will not be made public until after Aug. 30.

Mundt declined even to hint at the findings he said were signed by him and Sens. Potter (Mich), Dirksen (Ill) and Dworshak (Idaho).

But Potter, as soon as the tumultuous, 36-day hearings came to an end June 17, announced he had decided that both McCarthy and the Army officials involved in the dispute had proved their charges.

Three Democratic members of the subcommittee still have to submit their findings. They have until 5 p.m. Aug. 30.

Over 3,300 Words

Mundt said the majority report consists of between 3,300 and 3,500 words of findings and recommendations. He added it was being filed with J. Mark Trice, secretary of the Senate, to be kept under wraps until after the Aug. 30 deadline.

All statements will then be sent to the Government Printing Office, Mundt said, and perhaps will be made public the next day.

The McCarthy-Army row began when Secretary of the Army Stevens and Army counselor John G. Adams accused McCarthy and some of his aides of exerting undue pressure to get special treatment for Pvt. G. David Schine.

McCarthy and Roy M. Cohn, former chief counsel for McCarthy's Senate Investigations subcommittee, replied with countercharges that Stevens and Adams tried to use Schine as a "hostage" to thwart a McCarthy investigation of alleged Communist infiltration into the Army.

Both Sides Denied Charges

Until he was drafted last November, Schine was an unpaid consultant on the subcommittee staff.

Both sides denied the charges, and the Mundt committee, normally the one McCarthy heads in his anti-Red probes, was given the job of judging them.

The majority report, Mundt said, deals only with the charges and countercharges on which the subcommittee members sat as juror-judges. He said it does not touch on "collateral issues" which individual statement may cover.

The other members of the subcommittee are Democratic Sens. Jackson (Wash), Symington (Mo) and McClellan (Ark).

Beard-Growing Contest Almost Won By Grandma

CORBIN, Ky., Aug. 23 (AP) — A 65-year-old grandmother threatened for a time to win a beard-growing contest. She finally was disqualified on the ground that only men were eligible.

Mrs. Eliza Profit of London, wearing chin whiskers 4½ inches long, a mustache and sideburns, entered the contest five minutes before judging began and stole the show from 18 men.

The contest was sponsored by producers of "Gabriel Horn" who sought to encourage men to grow beards to equip them for possible use as extras in the film, parts of which will be shot near here.

Broken Equalizer Rod Caused Train Wreck

LOMAX, Ill., Aug. 23 (AP) — A broken mechanism on a wheel and axle assembly was blamed today for the tragic derailment of the streamliner Santa Fe Chief in which four persons were killed.

The Santa Fe Railroad announced that an investigation showed the wreck which killed four persons and injured 53 near Lomax Sunday, was caused by a broken equalizer rod on the rear truck of the train's forward lounge car.

An equalizer rod extends from one axle of a truck to the other to distribute weight evenly between them.

A Santa Fe spokesman said the forward lounge car was either the first or the second passenger car on the swift Chief.

Besides those killed, there were 53 injured. Twenty-nine remained in hospitals late today.

Light And Fog Bell "Decommissioned"

BALTIMORE, Aug. 23 (AP) — Lazaretto Light, which now "sits in an industrial eclipse," has been extinguished for the first time in 123 years.

Chief Warrant Bosun Earle E. Burleson, commanding officer of the Coast Guard Buoy Depot at Lazaretto Point, said the light and its 1,000-pound fog bell had been "decommissioned." Complete removal is scheduled for later this month.

Burleson said a new pier in the area and several new buildings have blocked the signal from view of inbound ships, rendering it almost useless. There are no plans for a substitute.

Airline Pilots Agree To End 24-Day Walkout

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23 (AP)—American Airlines and its pilots agreed tonight to end their 24-day strike and resume flights at midnight Tuesday.

The joint announcement said the pilots had agreed to continue flying nonstop westbound transcontinental flights without crew changes over eight hours.

This central issue of the dispute will be submitted to a neutral arbitrator to make recommendations, which will not be binding on either the airline or the pilots.

The end of the walkout was announced by A. Ditipasquale, the airline's director of labor relations, and by Clarence N. Sayen, president of the AFL Airline Pilots Assn.

"Truce," Sayen Says

Sayen told reporters the agreement amounts to a "truce" pending recommendations from the arbitrator. He said the pilots would be free to strike again if agreement can not be reached after the arbitration.

Today's settlement came after a confusing day in which the airline said the dispute had been settled and the pilots said all points had not been agreed upon. Negotiations were completed at the National Mediation Board office.

The announced agreement accepts four points proposed by the mediation board. These call for:

1. Resumption of nonstop westbound flights.

Damage Suit Action Postponed

2. No other flights of more than eight hours.

3. No loss of seniority or other actions against pilots as they return to duty as their services are needed.

4. Appointment of a neutral to recommend a permanent solution.

The two sides also agreed to postpone for 60 days any action on a 1¼-million-dollar damage suit brought against the union by the company, which charges contract violation.

NEW YORK, Aug. 23 (AP)—A minor subway crash in the Bronx today trapped a motorman for seven hours inside a train cab no bigger than a telephone booth.

Motorman David Moclair, 52 was finally cut out of the telescoped steel of his forward car at the cost of his left foot. It was amputated to free him. His condition is critical.

The empty subway train crashed through a track end, entombing the motorman in a rigid vise of crushed steel. For hours he withstood agonizing pain, able to move only a hand.

"How long will it be?" Moclair pleaded at intervals, as 35 rescue workers cut toward him with acetylene torches. Water was played over the car to cut down the heat.

His wife, Mary, arrived at the scene and burst into tears when she perceived his ordeal. One of his four children, John, 16, was allowed close enough to pass words of encouragement to Moclair.

Moclair pleaded for water from time to time and it was passed to him in soda bottles. With the free hand he was able to smoke an occasional cigarette.

He spoke little.

A life belt was slipped under his arms at one point and attached to the ceiling of the cab to support his sagging body.

Workers were afraid to move the smashed car for fear it would slip further off its chassis and crush Moclair instantly.

Eisenhower Hails Record, GOP Program

Appeals For Election Of More Republican Legislators In Fall

DENVER, Aug. 23 (AP)—President Eisenhower went on radio and television tonight with a "salute" to the Republican 83rd Congress, praising what he called its "hard work and effective accomplishments."

The President, speaking from his summer vacation city, gave this warm appraisal in a broadcast urging the election to Congress in November of those who support his foreign and domestic programs.

Eisenhower spoke from a Denver television studio, standing in front of a desk. Behind him on right and left, were the American and presidential flags.

The President, wearing a business suit with a vest, spoke from notes in the foreground, behind the TV cameras.

He said in the past there had been efforts to take away from the states their rights and even their property. This administration, he said, passed the tidelands oil bill in answer to that.

"New Era Of Fair Play"

Reviewing in detail the record of the Congress which ended its work last Friday, Eisenhower said the lawmakers cooperated with him in bringing the nation what he called "a new era of fair play"—of giving equal treatment to all segments of the population.

The program at home, he said, can be defined best by saying this:

"It has been a liberal program in all that brings the government into contact with the individual." He said it tries to be conservative in matters dealing with the pocketbook.

"So it is conservative in economy, liberal in human affairs," he said.

He said his program "is a great program, a program to benefit all America."

On foreign affairs, Eisenhower said the end of the Indochinese war, for all that it is "certainly not satisfactory" in some respects as a settlement, at least gives the free world a new chance to build a security system in Southeast Asia.

Two "Firsts" For 83rd

Eisenhower said the 83rd Congress accomplished two things that previous congresses, under other administrations, failed repeatedly to do:

1. It finally approved U. S. participation in the St. Lawrence Seaway.

2. It gave the tax laws a long-needed overhaul which will, he said, greatly benefit many groups such as working mothers and families with heavy medical expenses.

He went on to list other tax payers who, he said, would benefit—farmers, retired persons, small businessmen among them.

"The over-all tax cut program (enacted by the 83rd Congress) will save taxpayers $7,400,000,000," Eisenhower declared. "Of this amount, individuals receive an over-all tax saving of $4,700,000,000.

"These tax savings far surpass any previous total in the history of the country."

Reviewing the record of the GOP run Congress which completed work on its legislative program last Friday, Eisenhower said it equipped America with what he termed effective weapons to search out and defeat internal communism and subversion.

In his advance notes, the President did not say whether he plans to sign a bill on his desk which would outlaw the Communist party, but he spoke of the anti-Communist legislation generally as amounting to a package program to deal effectively with the subversion threat.

Strike Closes Tractor Plant At York, Pa.

YORK, Pa., Aug. 23 (AP)—A strike of 450 production workers today closed the York plant of the Caterpillar Tractor Co.

The company said that all production and shipping operations were halted but that office and supervisory forces continued on a normal basis.

German Strike Looms

FRANKFURT, Germany, Aug. 23 (AP)—West Germany's 700,000 public transport and utility workers rejected today a 5 per cent compromise wage boost. A nationwide strike vote is threatened if renewed negotiations fail.

Foundation Prober Urges Investigation Of Attacks By Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23 (AP)—Chairman Reece (R-Tenn) of a special House committee that has been probing tax-exempt foundations, said today Congress ought to investigate "the source and nature" of the pressure behind newspapers which have been critical of his inquiry.

He made the suggestion in a statement which he placed in the Congressional Record last Friday but did not make available to reporters.

Reece said The New York Times, the New York Herald Tribune and the Washington Post and Times Herald in addition to the Communist publication, the Daily Worker, have made "a terrific attack" against the investigation.

"These savage attacks have been of a nature so untruthful and so venomous as to eliminate any explanation but one," he said.

"The attitude of the committee and of its staff, and the occurrences at hearings, have been deliberately misrepresented to the public with such obviously intended malice that no explanation seems rational but that the power of some of the major foundations and their sycophants is truly great."

Alfred Friendly, acting managing editor of the Post and Times Herald, defended his paper's coverage of the hearings, saying, "We stand back of the accuracy and objectivity of our reporting and the fairness of our editorial comment."

The New York Times and the Herald Tribune had no comment.

Reece said he never before has seen "a better organized smear campaign against a congressional committee nor such wanton distortion of the facts by the public press."

And he added that it is "obvious that the large foundations are trying to make certain that never again will a mere committee of the Congress have the temerity to look into their social and political science activities and into their financial power."

Reece also rapped Rep. Hays (D-Ohio), the ranking minority member of the committee, for what he said was his "rude, unreasoning and ruthless attitude" during public hearings.

"In his role of a skillful provocateur," Reece said of Hays, "he interrupted witnesses beyond all reason, attempting to frighten witnesses and to disorganize both their initial presentations and orderly interrogation by others."

He said Hays interrupted one witness 246 times during a three-hour session and "indulged in intemperate attacks upon the staff and upon the members of the majority of the committee."

Formula Which Might Save EDC Sought By U. S.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23 (AP)—Top American officials were reported desperately searching today for some last-second formula which might salvage the European army project from collapse.

Most acknowledged, however, there appeared only the slimmest of chances that any way could be found to put new life into the plan which has been the keystone of American foreign policy toward Europe for the past 27 months.

Might Quit Germany

In the event the search for a compromise failed, these officials were reported ready to go ahead with plans to end occupation of West Germany in the American and British zones and restore full sovereignty to Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's government.

This move would be in line with a plan already agreed upon by President Eisenhower and Winston Churchill during their Washington talks in early July.

Top policy makers reiterated today the United States and Britain have no intention of backing down on their plan, if France fails to ratify the six-nation European army project in a form acceptable to other member nations.

Hope Mendes-France Yields

They said they were determined to go through with this, even if French Premier Pierre Mendes-France protests the move. But, it was clear they hoped this strategy might persuade Mendes-France to yield himself rather than allow the United States and Britain to take steps toward eventual rearmament of Germany by themselves.

A rumor that Secretary Dulles might fly to Europe to take a personal hand in working out some sort of compromise made the rounds among some foreign embassies today. But officials closely connected with Dulles said that as of now he has no such plans.

The forest fire season usually extends from June through mid-September.

Anglican Church Rite Is Picketed At World Council

EVANSTON, Ill., Aug. 23 (AP) — Leaders of 163 Christian denominations worked to create a platform of unity today at the World Council of Churches Assembly desplite picketing of a solemn rite of spiritual brotherhood.

An unusual open communion service of the Anglican Church was picketed by three persons who passed out leaflets deploring what they termed a "violation" of the Episcopal Church sacrament.

The demonstration was given little apparent heed by persons attending the service, but some Council leaders commented later that it illustrated the difficulty of the Assembly's undertaking.

The Assembly met in a night plenary session to receive reports of studies by a commission on activities of women in the church, and its departments on youth and ecumenical study.

Perhaps the most significant move was launching by the Assembly's six divisions on policy of their meetings to formulate statements of church Council principles in their separate fields. These are faith and order, evangelism, social questions, international affairs, intergroup relations and the laity.

There also was a panel discussion at which accredited visitors discussed publicly the tensions of international politics as they applied to Christian aims.

There, Francis B. Sayre, onetime U.S. High Commissioner in the Philippines and former U.N. delegate, said "We can never beat communism through military force, but there can be no conciliation between communism and Christian ideology."

But a church leader from the Communist world, Bishop John Peter of Hungary, answered "yes" to the written question submitted to him by newsmen: "Can Christianity co-exist successfully with communism?"

Blow Is Held Cause Of Scientist's Death

QUEBEC, Aug. 23 (AP)—Police sources indicated the cause of death of scientist Allen Paul Richards who was engaged in Canadian secret defense work was apparently a cerebral hemorrhage caused by a hard blow to the lower part of the jaw.

Richards never regained consciousness after he was found on the grounds of the lieutenant-governor's home last Wednesday.

The centaur was a mythological creature that was half man and half horse.

Ike Complains Golf Game Under Par ; Can't Concentrate

DENVER, Aug. 23 (AP) President Eisenhower complained today that his golf "isn't what it ought to be"—that he has been unable lately to concentrate on his game.

The President voiced the complaint to Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ) who paid a courtesy call on Eisenhower at the summer White House here at Lowry Air Force Base.

"The President told me," Smith related to newsmen, "that his golf isn't what it ought to be. He said his swing has never been better, but that he can't concentrate on the game."

Air Force Base Moves Against Terrorist Group

CHANUTE AIR FORCE BASE, Ill., Aug. 23 (AP)—The commandant of Chanute Air Force Base Monday pledged "positive proceedings" against young airmen banded together in a secret terrorist society.

The group, indulging in rites including blood pledges of obedience and secrecy, is known as "Pachuco." Its operations resembled hoodlumism carried on by bands of young toughs in New York, Los Angeles and other large cities.

Maj. Gen. B. E. Gates, commandant of the base, promised "positive proceedings" and "continuous action" as his assurance that the Air Force will not tolerate "a few bad apples" contaminating a fine group of American young men. The positive proceedings, he said, will follow these lines:

1. Court-martial of those against whom the Air Force can obtain evidence of specific offenses.
2. Thorough investigation of the civilian records of all those suspected of Pachuco membership. If the Air Force establishes that they concealed criminal records in enlisting, dishonorable discharges will be meted out.
3. Undesirable discharges will be sought for those not qualifying for punishment in points 1 and 2.
4. All other suspects will be kept under continuous surveillance.

"We didn't breed these hoodlums," Gen. Gates declared in a statement. "The Air Force inherited them when it took a cross section of the American people."

Although California farmers cultivate about two per cent of the U. S. cropland, they grow a third of the fruits and nearly a quarter of the vegetables.

Graham Urges Policy Makers Consult Clerics

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23 (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham suggested today that U.S. foreign policy makers consult missionaries and churchmen in other nations to help determine the attitudes of the people of those countries.

It's worth asking the advice of ministers and missionaries, Graham said, "because they are moving among the people where the diplomats do not go, and they can talk off the record in a way that our diplomats can't."

In a copyrighted interview in the weekly magazine U.S. News & World Report, the evangelist said:

"I think that on foreign affairs, for instance in China, if we had listened to Walter Judd and some of the other missionaries who were there, I don't think we'd be in the problems that we are today."

Judd, a medical missionary in the 1920s and 1930s, is now a Republican congressman from Minnesota.

Graham said that on his recent tour of Europe "ministers told us everywhere that there was not much anti-American feeling."

"In fact," he said, "I felt the very opposite myself. I felt that there was a strong friendship. Now that was among the masses of the people. The political circles may be different."

"Four seconds to live. At 60 miles an hour, a car covers 88 feet of pavement every second. Four seconds, 352 feet.

"Three seconds to live. Something looked wrong, through the blurry windshield. A tentative dab at the brake stiffened into desperate pressure as he made out an old, unlighted slow-moving truck ahead.

"Two seconds to live. Panic moved in. Turn to the left. No, car coming. Headlights too close. Can't make it. Turn to the right.

"One second to live. Horror numbed everything into slow motion. He was floating right into the near corner of the truck bed. He opened his mouth to scream.

Hays Sees No War In Area Of Formosa

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23 (AP)—Rep. Brooks Hays (D-Ark), a member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, said tonight he thinks "the chances are against a shooting war in the area of Formosa."

Interviewed on MBC's "Reporters' Roundup," a transcribed radio program, Hays said the presence of the U. S. 7th Fleet in the waters around Formosa is a deterrent to attack by the Red Chinese and that the Nationalist Chinese troops on the island are a deterrent, too.

Man Accused Of Terrorizing Family Held In $25,000 Bond

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23 (AP)—Robert J. Ellars, 26, accused of terrorizing a Seat Pleasant, Md., family for 13 hours, today was placed under $25,000 bond on a kidnaping charge.

The unemployed beautician is to be transferred to Baltimore later today for arraignment in federal district court there on the Lindbergh law charge.

U. S. Commissioner Cyril S. Lawrence set the bond in a brief hearing.

A local charge that Ellars was the "blue mask" bandit who held up the Miramar Apartments and took $27 from the desk clerk was dropped at the request of Assistant District Attorney Alexander Stevas.

Stevas said local authorities would present evidence in the Miramar case to a grand jury instead of delaying action on the kidnap charge by continuing with a hearing here. If an indictment is returned a detainer will be filed in Baltimore pending completion of the government's case there.

Ellars is accused of holding the family of Harold Grimm captive at gunpoint Aug. 9 in the Grimm home in Seat Pleasant. After an all-day vigil he allegedly forced Grimm, a 52-year-old Washington fireboat engineer, to drive him to Washington, thus leading to the kidnap charge.

Attorney Evan T. Davis represented Ellars at the hearing today but said he would not represent him in the kidnap case in Baltimore.

Sinclair Will Build Tanker At Baltimore

BALTIMORE, Aug. 23 (AP) — The first order for construction of an ocean going merchant ship in the United States in two years was announced today by Sinclair Refining Co. of New York.

The 25,200 ton tanker will be built at the Sparrows Point shipyard of the Bethlehem Steel Co.

The Sinclair announcement said it had not planned to order the tanker until 1956, but did so now to cooperate with the government's program for improving the U. S. maritime industry.

It emphasized, however, that "the new Sinclair tanker will be built without benefit of any government subsidy." Sinclair was given permission, though, if it wants to transfer two of its currently idle 12,000 ton tankers to foreign registry.

The Sinclair order comes at a time when Bethlehem was expressing concern over being forced to lay off workers. It has only one hull on the ways.

The new ship will be similar to two that Bethlehem delivered last year to Sinclair and which cost about seven million dollars apiece. The new one will be slightly faster than the 17—18 knots of last year's and will have a cargo capacity of 212,400 barrels.

Baltimore Man Is Charged With Poisoning Wife

BALTIMORE, Aug. 23 (AP)—David Eugene Roche, 28-year-old city employe, was charged with the poison death of his 23-year-old wife today.

Roche had been questioned by police since returning Saturday from his wife's funeral in Central City, Pa. Medical examiners said she died of potassium cyanide poisoning.

Mrs. Roche died Aug. 14. She was the mother of a 14-month-old daughter and was expecting another child in a month.

She had been released Feb. 5 from Spring Grove State Hospital, an institution for the mentally ill.

The Roches had been married three years.

Records Open For Inspection, Sheriff Declares

CAMBRIDGE, Aug. 23 (AP) — Sheriff Waldo Robinson, principal figure in a debate over the efficiency of Dorchester County law enforcement, declared today that all records of cases, "closed and open are here for inspection by anyone."

The Cambridge Daily Banner, daily newspaper, suggested last week that the grand jury investigate two unsolved crimes.

M. Baker Robbins, chairman of the county commissioners, responded by saying he was "not satisfied with law enforcement in Dorchester County." He proposed the state Legislature be asked to authorize a county police department.

The commissioners are scheduled to meet tomorrow to offer financial assitance to the sheriff's office if more is needed.

Sheriff Robinson issued a statement today that the voters in 1950 indicated by reelecting him they were "satisfied beyond a reasonable doubt that the sheriff's office had been conducted in a satisfactory manner."

He said in appreciation he "has striven to serve and execute the duties of the sheriff's office impartially."

He added that in his opinion "to be drawn into a controversy would be contrary" to his commission.

Robbins had said "I don't believe there has been enough cooperation between county authorities and the state police."

Indicted On Dope Charge

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23 (AP) — Lavinia Hammond, 27, of Baltimore, was indicted by a federal grand jury today on a charge of selling eight capsules of heroin to a federal narcotics undercover agent last March.

Another grand jury returned indictments on charges of sale and possession of heroin against five Chinese arrested in a series of raids here earlier this month.

14 Office Seekers Accused Of Violating Election Laws

SNOW HILL, Md., Aug. 22 (AP)—Two incumbent state legislators and 12 other Worcester County Democratic office seekers face charges of violating the election laws, State's Attorney John L. Sanford said today.

All are connected with filing of expenditures for the June 28 primary election.

Sen. Ralph Mason, Del. Myrtle A. Polk and County Treasurer John Stevens failed to itemize their expenditures, the state's attorney said. The other 11 are charged with failing to file any report at all with the circuit court.

Sanford said the court is required to notify him when candidates have not turned in an itemized account of their expenses within 30 days after an election.

Accused of not filing any reports, and the nominations they sought, are:

M. William Miller of Pocomoke City, state's attorney; Marvel T. Nicholson, Snow Hill, court clerk; E. Peter Richardson, Berlin, Senate; Robins L. Gillis, Berlin, House of Delegates; Clarence P. Bounds, Pocomoke City, county commissioner;

Henry E. Onley, Berlin, sheriff; Clarence L. Powell Jr., Pocomoke City, sheriff; Leroy Squares, Berlin, sheriff; George Woodrow Warren, Berlin, sheriff, and Harvey C. Pusey, Stockton, county treasurer.

Sanford said Mason reported a total of $489.38 spent for advertising and $95 for miscellaneous. Mrs. Polk's report showed $225 for advertising and $25 for miscellaneous.

Mahoney Battle Again Reaches Appeals Court

BALTIMORE, Aug. 23 (AP) — George P. Mahoney's endeavors to upset the results of the June 28 primary in which he lost the Democratic nomination for governor to H. C. Byrd goes before the Court of Appeals for the third time tomorrow.

Mahoney is asking the highest state court to reverse Circuit Judge William R. Horney's refusal to throw out 255 ballots in Talbot County.

The judge turned down Mahoney arguments that extraneous marks on the ballots made them illegal. Elimination of the ballots would take the county away from Byrd and give its four convention votes instead to Mahoney.

Action on a similar batch of marked ballots in Queen Annes County hinges on the Court of Appeals' decision in the Talbot case. Mahoney would need also the three Queen Anne's convention votes now credited to Byrd to win the nomination.

Judge Horney considered the disputed ballots only after ordered to do so by the Court of Appeals.

Milk-Drinking Avila Keeping Cleveland Hot

CLEVELAND (AP) — A big reason Cleveland Manager Al Lopez isn't yanking out his hair over Al Rosen's batting slump is Bobby Avila, whose ninth-inning single won the Indians a 4-3 victory over the Detroit Tigers last night.

The little Mexican second baseman has taken up the slack this month while Rosen is having the most batting trouble of his major league career.

Even without much help from their big man, the Indians have kept the second-place New York Yankees from closing a gap of three games.

"I look for Al to come out of it," Lopez said, "and Avila and Doby are keeping us in there on the attack."

While Larry Doby has provided six homers in 17 August games, his batting average actually has dropped five points to .275. Avila, however, has been hitting at a .380 clip for the 17 games, batting in 13 runs on 27 hits, including three homers.

In Avila's best of five previous seasons with the Indians—1951—he hit .305, had 10 homers and batted in 58 runs. Currently he's hitting .326 with 12 home runs and 44 RBIs.

"I do nothing different when I bat," Avila says. "Must be I'm stronger. Maybe because I drink so much milk. I drink it allatime."

The swarthy infielder explained he drinks as much as two quarts of milk a day, starting the practice last winter when he had stomach pains and an x-ray disclosed an ulcer.

Rosen, benched last night by bursitis pains in his left shoulder, may not play today or in Thursday's double-header.

Work Advances On LaVale Methodist Church Project

Construction work on the new LaVale Methodist Church along Route 40 at Woodlawn Avenue is on schedule.

Rev. W. W. Patterson, who has been pastor of the present church since 1950, yesterday said the exterior work of the concrete, brick colonial style structure is expected to be completed by this Fall.

By Easter of next year Rev. Patterson said it is hoped that the first services in the new church can be conducted. Estimated cost of the building is $100,000 plus $15,000 for interior furnishings.

The sanctuary will have a seating capacity of 300 and in the basement will be facilities for a dining room to accomodate some 200 persons. The building will be heated by hot water heat of a gas furnace.

In the rear of the church will be four rooms to be used for the teaching of Sunday School classes. The chancel area in the front of the sanctuary will include the pulpit, choir and altar.

Colonial design will be used on the exterior and interior of the structure which will include full colonial porch in front, tower and steeple. An improved chime system will be located in the tower.

Windows of the church, Rev. Patterson added, will be amber colored and the organ now located in the present chapel will be moved to the new church when it is completed.

Plans for the structure were formulated since Rev. Patterson took over the pastorate and the chairman of the building committee is William G. Barger. Contractor for the new structure is J. G. Buckley and Son, of LaVale. Rev. Patterson said the present parsonage also will be remodeled.

Higgins also pointed out that this will be the "first time in over 30 years that an entire new and complete glass plant has been built at a new location, containing all the facilities necessary for the production, handling and shipment of plate glass."

Magnitude and effect of the plant which is to be located here might be drawn in a comparison with Clarksburg, W. Va., a city of approximately 32,000. Cumberland's population is approximately 37,700.

In an advertisement in a Clarksburg newspaper of March 18, 1954, Pittsburgh Plate said its operations in Clarksburg brought an average monthly employment of 1,176 men and women with a total annual payroll of $5,736,878.

The ad continues that in its overall operation in the U. S. there was an annual average of 30,956 men and women employed last year, exceeding by 1,383 the annual 1952 average of 29,573.

Payrolls also were up, the report said, adding that total pay and benefits amounted to $158,498,285. This was $18,796,836 more than in 1952. Total cost of benefits was $19,182,876 or an average of $620 for each employe.

The company paid $43,060,189 in taxes, the report continues, including federal, state and local. On the state and local level some of these taxes were used to support municipal services, school activities, road construction and to provide other improvements.

Role In Local Affairs

Quoting further, the report says: "The past ten years—the seventh decade of company operations—have been years of great importance to company employes and 'Pittsburgh Plate's' friends and neighbors in local communities. In this period the company has spent approximately $200,000,000 to expand and improve its plants and units. Along with adding 13 new plants these funds have provided a total of 13,825 new jobs—jobs through which money is channeled into the local communities. These funds have also helped 'Pittsburgh Plate' develop new products, broaden its markets and maintain its position in our competitive economy.

"In the field of community relations, the past ten years have been quite significant. The company has tried to be a 'good neighbor' by taking part in civic, cultural and other community activities," it concludes.

Youth Is Held In House Breaking

A Clarysville youth is being held in the county jail on a charge of breaking and entering the home of a neighbor who was out of the county on his vacation.

He is Walter Francis Perry, 18, who was arrested by Cpl. William F. Baker, criminal investigator for the State Police here. The officer stated that the youth broke a basement window in the residence of Eugene Loy and took a .32 calibre pistol and a banjo.

The banjo was pawned at a Cumberland establishment and the pistol has not been recovered.

A hearing is scheduled to be held within several days after an investigation has been completed, Baker said.

Rastvorov's Report Has Some Merit

When the State Department staged a news conference for Yuri A. Rastvorov, former Soviet intelligence officer in Japan, Press Secretary Suydam asserted with emphasis that it had nothing to do with the Dr. Otto John affair in East Berlin. That is, it was not planned to counter the effect of the show produced by the Russians with the former West German security chief in the leading role.

The State Department made elaborate preparations for the conference, however, and went to great lengths to insure extensive coverage, so many correspondents were skeptical of the disclaimer. In any event, Rastvorov's appearance in Washington at this time did help to balance the propaganda account in some measure.

Rastvorov is no such prize to this country as John is to the Russians. He was not the head of Soviet intelligence in Japan — merely one of four Russians at the Soviet embassy who were assigned to political intelligence. He said he had gained some information from Japanese in moderately high positions but not from Americans, whereas John was in a position to know a great deal about West German security.

Rastvorov said he defected because the Communists had turned his country into a concentration camp and he wanted to live "a normal life" in a free country. It may be that Rastvorov was one of Beria's men and had to get clear of Soviet power to save his life, but that only reveals more clearly the nature of the Soviet system. His account of what it is like to live under Communist tyranny and cruelty must carry weight with all who are prepared to reach their own conclusions.

There is still no explanation of the case of Otto John that seems entirely credible. The case of Yuri Rastvorov, which hardly seems strange at all, may have even greater impact in the long run.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Herbert Hoover Jr.

When Herbert Hoover was President of the United States, he kept his family out of public life as much as possible. His two sons had become accustomed to their father's public activities since the days in London when he assumed the responsibility for the Belgian relief. When Mr. Hoover became President, he and Mrs. Hoover were intent that the boys should not be absorbed by the limelight of publicity which can be so devastating to young people.

This was carried to such a point that when young Herbert sought his first job, he assumed another name, hoping that he would be hired for his own sake and not because he was a son of the President of the United States.

Neither he nor his brother Allan ever became associated with their father's activities although the Hoovers are very close as a family. Herbert Hoover Jr. went his own way into mining and electronics and has been extraordinarily successful in both fields. He has been a partner in a number of enterprises, usually taking the top managerial position.

The Hoovers have always been an affectionate family and while the sons resented the abuse of their father in the years before his restored popularity, they remained aloof from public life and out of politics. Both sons have engaged in business in this country and in Central American countries. Herbert Hoover Jr.'s mine instrument business took him to many countries in Europe, Asia and South America. He has had a working knowledge of the operations of our foreign policy and he has known many of the men in the field who have to carry out day-by-day operations.

His first public job was in connection with Iranian oil, as an adviser to the secretary of state. This task required the most delicate negotiation among many governments, particularly between Great Britain and Iran.

It will be recalled that in 1951, Iran nationalized the properties of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company in a fit of violent nationalism stimulated by the prime minister, Mossadegh. The British were virtually expelled from the country and the business was shut down. Mossadegh thought that he could operate the business; that the world would have to take his oil or suffer a shortage; it was soon evident that the oil of other countries not only could fill the demand but that the world market was glutted. Iranian oil was dead, unless Soviet Russia either bought the oil or conquered the country and took it.

Many oil men in the United States and other countries tried to find a formula for a compromise between Great Britain and Iran but failed. Then Herbert Hoover Jr. was asked by the State Department to undertake the task. For a year, he commuted between Teheran, London and Washington until he found a middle-ground which could be acceptable to the Iranian government, the British government, and which oil companies could join in supporting.

A consortium of the Iranian government and American, British and Dutch companies was established which will operate the Iranian company; a market for Iranian oil will be established by the other companies producing sufficiently less oil to make room for Iran; the Iranian government will receive nearly 10 times as much revenue as it got when the British operated the business. Iranian sovereignty is unimpaired; British prestige is not damaged anew.

This has been one of the most constructive jobs in recent years and has won Herbert Hoover Jr. great acclaim. Because of its success, he was asked to take General Walter Bedell Smith's job as under secretary of state. Hoover was reluctant to leave engineering and private life but he was prevailed upon to undertake one of the most difficult tasks in these troubled times and at the seat of most of the trouble.

Not new to Washington or without knowledge of the nature of intrigue and empire-building in the State Department, he is likely to prove a fairly tough taskmaster and to be antagonistic to left wing groups, particularly Communists in the department. I have known him for many years and can attest to a toughness of mind that goes to the center of a problem and having reached a decision, fights for what he believes to be right without fear or favor. It will be interesting to see how that works out in the State Department.

NLRB Accused Of Dragging Its Feet In Ousting Of Red-Dominated Unions

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—Congress was in a dither last week about outlawing the Communist party, all because the administration asked for a bill to nullify Communist-dominated unions.

But the paradoxical thing is that the National Labor Relations Board at this very same time has been dragging its feet about permitting non-Communist unions to oust these Communist-dominated unions. And today, of course, the Eisenhower administration controls the National Labor Relations Board.

Furthermore, certain big manufacturers, chiefly the International Harvester Company, have made various moves to keep these Communist unions in their plants.

In brief, all the furor about getting rid of the Communist-dominated unions might have been unnecessary if Mr. Eisenhower's appointees on the National Labor Relations Board and certain industrial leaders had acted.

This may seem hard to believe, but here are the facts.

In the summer of 1952, the Farm Equipment-United Electrical Workers called a strike in various International Harvester plants. Three years before this in 1949, the FE-UE Union was kicked out of the CIO by Phil Murray on the charge that it was Communist-dominated, so it was not surprising that during the 1952 strike, International Harvester printed a full-page ad, September 8, 1952, festooned by the hammer and sickle of Soviet Russia, which stated: "It is our belief that the most influential leaders of FE-UE are either Communists or Communist sympathizers . . ."

Harvester Protects

Thus International Harvester went on record that FE-UE was a Communist-dominated union. This was in 1952. But despite this, only one year later, the same International Harvester rushed out to defend the same Communist-led union and protect its continued operation in its East Moline works and in other of its factories. This was in 1953.

In August 1953, labor leader John T. Watkins led a bolt away from the Communist-led FE-UE and with a large number of his fellow workers sought to join the vigorously anti-Communist United Auto Workers.

Whereupon the Harvester company refused to deal with the new group. Instead it dealt with Donald Taigland, whom the company itself had called a Communist during the 1952 strike and whom the Un-American Activities Committee had also labeled a Communist.

Finally, when the bolting anti-Communists asked the labor board for an election, International Harvester opposed it. It made various motions asking the labor board to dismiss the petitions for an election and did its best to keep the Communist-led union in the plant. In fact, the company and the Communist-led union made exactly the same legal moves before the labor board.

These motions are all in the official record and anyone can call at the labor board and read them. It's an amazing series of documents.

Furthermore, the company hired as its attorney, Donald Morgan of Peoria, brother of the mayor of Peoria, a political backer of Congressman Velde of Pekin and Peoria, chairman of the House Un-American Activities Committee, who has an office in the same building. So far as is known, Don Morgan hitherto had handled no labor board cases. His appointmenh seemed to stem from his acquaintance with Velde.

Velde Steps In

For shortly after Morgan took this case, Congressman Velde summoned before the Un-American Activities Committee none other than John T. Watkins, the man who had led the anti-Communist bolt away from the Communist-led union in the Harvester plant. In other words, instead of helping the non-Communist bolters, Velde hurt them. He cited Watkins, who swore he had never been a Communist, for contempt, because he refused to talk about his fellow workers.

Thus it looked as if Chairman Velde, his friend, Attorney Don Morgan, and International Harvester were all playing footsie together in trying to keep a Communist-led union in the East Moline plant.

This is the same Congressman Velde who introduced the recent bill to outlaw Communist-infiltrated unions.

Finally, after months of delay, a labor election was held and the workers, when given a chance to vote, decided to junk the FE-UE and join the non-Commie auto workers. But they had a hard time getting that chance to vote.

Meanwhile the labor board, now controlled by Eisenhower appointees, hasn't helped them much. There are other Communist-led unions in the Richmond, Ind., International Harvester plant; in the Farmall plant at Rock Island, Ill., and in other plants. And the labor board has been inexcusably dragging its feet in permitting elections for the ousting of the FE-UE union.

What happens is that when the workers lead a bolt away from the Communist-led union and nothing happens, they get tired and go back to the Commie-led union. Every day of delay gives Communist leaders a chance to threaten, bulldoze, and create dissatisfaction among workers. In the Farmall plant, for instance, the labor board postponed elections for four months until only this week. In the East Moline plant, the board stalled for six months.

What labor needs is not an act of Congress, but less finagling by certain business leaders and less procrastination inside the labor board to delay elections. For when labor is given a chance to vote, it almost invariably votes against communism.

Mr. Velde would do a real service if he investigated International Harvester in this connection, but he won't. They have been his stanch political supporters.

83rd Congress Characterized By "National Interest"

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Something so unusual has happened with respect to the 83rd Congress which has just finished its labors that it can be noted as a milestone in legislative history.

For this was one of the few sessions of Congress in the last 50 years which could be justly characterized as a "national interest" Congress.

Thus the Democrats in the Senate who voted for the new tax law recently to make a majority could have killed that legislation even though in the House of Representatives the Republicans had a clear majority without the aid of the Democrats. But so strong was the pressure of the people for the new tax law—it was in the national interest—that many of the Democrats in the Senate felt they could not conscientiously vote against the interests of so many of their constituents.

This does credit to the minority party which of course might not feel inclined to vote for a Republican measure in the Senate if it were known in advance that the Republicans had sufficient votes to pass it anyhow.

Took Broad Viewpoint

There was a "national interest" majority on the farm legislation. Many Republicans as well as Democrats voted along sectional lines but the majority were looking at the proposed law from the broad standpoint of desirability for the nation.

With a narrow majority for the Republicans, therefore, the Democrats felt it impracticable to defeat the legislation because the benefits to the citizens conferred by national laws do not, of course, follow party lines.

The session just ended had other distinguishing marks about it. There was a noticeable recognition of the demand of the people for economy in government. This is just the reverse of the spending policies which for such a long time have dominated the thinking and voting of members of congress.

Also despite the fears abroad that the Republican party if given power would prove itself to be an "isolationist" party the amounts voted for foreign aid are almost as substantial as in previous years. Only a handful of votes from both parties were cast against the policy of building a bulwark against communism abroad by bolstering the economic strength of the Allied nations.

To say all this is not to ignore the fact that partisanship did exist and play an important part in the proceedings of Congress. The squabble over public power versus private power cut to some extent across party lines but it was largely a fight and filibuster engineered by the Democratic party.

The blame for the failure of the amendments to the Taft-Hartley Act is a difficult one to explain because motives for the large Democratic vote cast to kill the amendments sponsored by the administration are not easy to expose to view. Actually the Southern Democrats who helped to bury the Eisenhower proposals were temporary allies of the Northern "liberals" who thought the amendments not liberal enough. But behind the scenes many of the conservative Democrats in the Senate feared the amendments actually were too "liberal."

Leaders Commended

Naturally the President's leadership in proposing legislation which even many of the Democrats could not afford to oppose will come in for political praise on the stump but it should not be forgotten that Speaker Martin and Representative Halleck of Indiana, the majority leader, and Representative Dan Reed, Republican chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee did as orthodox a job of lining up the Republicans as has been done in many decades.

In the Senate, William Knowland of California emerges as one of the ablest legislative leaders of our times. For despite the brickbats thrown at him from time to time he had a task unprecedented in the Senate' history. He was in name "majority leader" but actually his party was in the minority and this prompted him to use some vigorous and assertive tactics at times which occasionally caused resentment among the Democrats. But at the same time this aggressiveness was necessary in order to challenge the Democrats to dare to vote down some of the "national interest" proposals that were on the "must" list. Mr. Knowland learned a lot at this last session and the miracle is that he was able to get through as much legislation as he did despite the fact that unlike other leaders of their parties in the Senate when in control he never had a working majority of Republicans. He will be an even better leader if the Republicans get a substantial majority next time.

As for Senator Lyndon Johnson of Texas, the Democratic party leader in the Senate, he showed himself a master of strategy and revealed a quality of statesmanship especially on foreign affairs which has been all too rare in the past in both parties.

It was a "national interest" Congress in more ways than one.

Baering Down On The News

Just to separate the wrinkles from the pleats don't forget the inalienable whims of congressmen of all kinds. The Constitution states that no member is responsible for what he says in Congress.

If the Constitution makes all men equal and irresponsible it means you can holler bingo without a button.

There's nothing they can do to Mister McCarthy except make him a pie bed, tie his shoelaces together or put salt in the sugar bowl.

Mainspring of the senatorial summer semester is to keep Mac out of preliminary political campaigning. The corn is ripe and they don't want Mac to get into the hustings bee.

Mac still has a good grip on his own boot-straps. And will swing his weight around like a tied calf in a tornado.

The writer of this stack of slick ignorance isn't foretelling the future, guessing weights or putting worms on hooks for near-sighted fishing expeditions.

But we are perstonished to hear Mac's friends holler, "witch hunt." It is a long time since we rode to ghostly hounds on a fast broom.

Mac bears no more resemblance to old Bezzlebub than you do to the joker. When he was on the parliamentary prowl the Commies yelled, "witch hunt."

The question before the inquisitive echelons of the senatorial posse is, "Witch is witch?"

We're waiting for Mac to answer boots and saddles on a maverick feather duster up an unguarded chimney.

In the stymied interim we will check the files for any resemblance to Ariel of the tempest or Oberon the king of the fairies.

If this is a midsummer night's dream we have performed an appendectomy on the calendar. And if Mac is the devil's advocate we could use one of his imps for an office boy.

Knock Knees, Bow Legs Common Defects Of Early Age

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Knock knees in children under three is not unusual. These youngsters are clumsy on their feet and stumble easily but after they learn to stand and walk properly, the condition generally corrects itself.

The abnormality begins with weakness of the muscles and ligaments that support the inner aspect of the knee. The ensuing relaxation leads to poor alignment of the legs. The knees touch but the ankles are separated by an inch or so and in some, by three to five inches, which produces the typical "X" type of deformity.

Most of these tots walk on the inner aspect of the soles. When these disorders co-exist, it is not easy to determine whether the foot defect is the cause of knock knees or vice versa.

At any rate, teaching the child to walk properly and to bear the weight of the body on the heels when standing usually leads to cure within a year or two. Many physicians also instruct the shoemaker to build up the inside heel to shift the body-weight to the outside rim of the foot.

Bowleg is another common defect of the early years of life. Nowadays, it is noted shortly after the child begins to walk and may result from the wearing of bulky diapers or from the childhood habit of sitting tailor-fashion. The tendency is greater among early walkers, more so if the youngster is overweight.

Bowleg is not the opposite of knock knees because bowing generally stems from an exaggeration of the normal outward curve of the shinbone.

When rickets was prevalent, bowing was much more common than it is today. In this disease, the bones are softer than normal. The lower extremities cannot support the weight of the body, which leads to an "O" type defect of the legs.

In contrast to the knock kneed, bowlegged children walk pigeon-toed. The disturbance, which is more unsightly than serious, corrects itself as a rule by the second birthday.

Should it continue, the little one must be taught to stand and walk properly. Several times a day the mother or father encourages walking with the toes pointed directly forward and the feet parallel to each other.

As with knock knees, it is important to show the tyke how to bear weight on the heels and outer borders of the feet. If these measures fail it may be necessary to resort to surgery. Both deformities, when severe, can be remedied in this way.

Try And Stop Me

A minister in Herb Shriner's home town warned his congregation that alcohol and gasoline don't mix. One skeptic insisted on finding out for himself, and reported later, "The reverend's wrong. They mix all right — but they sure taste terrible."

One day out of San Francisco harbor, a comely young lady buttonholed a deck hand and demanded, "Where do I find the captain of this tub?" The deck hand answered, "I believe he's forward, Miss." "So much the better," declared the young lady heartily. "This is strictly a pleasure trip."

The Republican Campaign

By Joseph And Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

President Eisenhower's political curtain-raiser at the Illinois State Fair is the tip-off on the kind of campaign the Republican high command is planning for this crucial congressional election.

Peace and prosperity—"normalcy" in short—will provide the grand theme of the symphony. Speakers representing the national administration, and particularly the President himself, will stick to this theme pretty closely.

The charge that the Democrats have fostered Communists in government will be a local variation on the grand theme, to be played by the congressional and senatorial candidates themselves as they may think best.

However, the White House is more than ever discouraging party candidates from asking Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy to help them sound the anti-Communist note.

Surprise Indictments Possible

Finally, a touch of drama will probably be conferred on the campaign's grand finale by surprise indictments of important Democratic office holders.

The final decision on this point will be made later, when the White House has a better idea of the way the campaign is going. But if Republican prospects do not look too good—and maybe even if the outlook is excellent—Attorney General Herbert Brownell is expected to set the Justice Department machinery in motion.

This campaign plan is toughly professional. It does not play into the hands of the President's enemies in his own party. By the same token, it strongly plays up what the voters undoubtedly regard as the Eisenhower administration's most important achievement. It is fallible, of course, like any other campaign plan.

But on the whole, it is a shrewdly conceived plan; and it will be professionally executed, with ample funds to buy television and radio time and other valuable campaign commodities in quantities without precedent in an off-year like this one.

The Republican high command starts with one big advantage, moreover. The Senate is the real prize being fought for. Because of the usual off-year reactions, the administration's prestige will not be greatly damaged if the Democrats win the narrowly divided House by a small margin. In fact it will be a resounding triumph if the Republicans carry the House, even by a hair's breadth.

34 Seats At Stake

But the Senate, which is the main ring of the legislative circus, really must be carried if the Eisenhower administration is not to suffer the kind of set-back that has normally proved fatal in American politics. And this year, only 13 Republican-held seats are being contested (including two long term and one short term in Nebraska), whereas no less than 21 Democratic seats are in contest.

The Republicans still have the edge if you consider only those seats which can reasonably be considered as in jeopardy. Of these doubtful Senate seats, eight are now held by Democrats, in New Mexico, Illinois, Delaware, Minnesota, Wyoming, Colorado, Montana and West Virginia. The Republicans have six doubtful Senate seats, in Kentucky, Oregon, Idaho, Michigan, New Jersey and Massachusetts. The Democrats also say they have an off chance to win a seat in California and one of the seats in Nebraska, and the Republicans reply that they too have an off chance at the Democratic seat in Rhode Island. But these points seem pretty bold.

On balance, then, the Democrats have got to win two more disputed contests than the Republicans if they are merely to hold their own. To capture the evenly divided Senate, the Democrats must win three more of the doubtful seats than the Repulicans. In these respects, President Eisenhower is in luck.

The Republicans have had good luck in other ways, too, in the death of the strongest Democratic candidate, Blair Moody, in Michigan, and the nomination of the weakest Democrat, the ex-Wallaceite Glenn Taylor, of Idaho. Finally, many Democrats, conspiciously including Sen. Paul Douglas in Illinois, were building their strategy around the expectation of a serious recession, which has conspicuously failed to materialize.

The hard fact remains, however, that the reports from the field slightly favor the Democrats as the racers go up to the official starting line. The odds the professionals quote are "everywhere," but Democratic contenders have a slight starting edge on Republican contenders in about two-thirds of the doubtful states. That is the problem which the Republican campaign plan, and above all, the President's personality, have now got to solve.

Four Former Champs Are Casualties In National Amateur

Billy Patton Wins In Extra Hole Contest

Urzetta, Coe, Bishop Evans Lose; Foutche, West Virginian Wins

By WILL GRIMSLEY

DETROIT, Aug. 23 (AP) — The ebullient Billy Joe Patton, spraying his shots and Dixie witticisims with the equal abandon, won a tight-squeeze extra hole ticket into the second round of the National Amateur Golf Tournament today and thus escaped the dark disaster which struck down four former champions.

The Morganton, N. C., lumberman, amateur sensation of the Masters and U. S. Open tournaments, defeated 18-year-old Rex Baxter of Amarillo, Tex., on the 19th hole when the latter blew a 40-inch putt for a bogey five.

It was a copyrighted round for the unpredictable Patton, who hit only two greens in the last 15 and who scrambled brilliantly after missing the last five fairways, not counting the extra hole where he really pulverized his drive.

The day's casualties in the 72 head-to-head matches over the long and taxing country club of Detroit included former champions Sam Urzetta of Rochester, N. Y., 1950, beaten on the 19th hole; Charlie Coe of Oklahoma City, 1949; Ted Bishop of Weston, Mass., 1946; and 64 - year - old Charles (Chick) Evans of Chicago, 1916-20, who was a veteran when Bobby Jones made his famous grand slam.

Foutche Is Winner

Dick Foutche of Charleston, W. Va., who rushed here by air to see the tough Country Club of Detroit course for the first time, finished spectacularly, winning three of the last four holes, to oust Bishop, 2 up.

Foutche played in the West Virginia Open yesterday and then flew to Detroit by plane, arriving around 3 a.m. (EST). He had little sleep when he walked to the first tee and hit his tee shot into a large oak to carry no more than 50 yards.

But one down to Bishop going to the 15th, Foutche, a six-foot-two-190-pounder, one-putted the last four greens, on the 16th, 17th and 18th to prevail, 2 up.

Another surprise victim was Hillman Robbins of Memphis, reigning national college champion and winner of eight of the 11 tournaments in which he's played this year. He bowed to Dick Whiting of Royal Oak, Mich., 3 and 2.

Advancing with Patton were such favorites as Harvie Ward Jr., of San Francisco, the new Canadian champion and Arnold Palmer of Cleveland, who beat the veteran Frank Strafaci of Garden City, N. Y., one up in a feature match.

Gallery Likes Patton

All the day's developments took secondary billing to Patton's successful opening bid, and the highly-publicized Southerner didn't disappoint his fans either in his flair for wild, scrambling golf or his knack for charming banter with a black-strap molasses accent.

When Billy Joe hit into the "spinach" on the first hole, the gallery winced but Billy Joe just winked and said: "Don't worry. I get my mail down there."

Phils Retain Terry Moore

Manager Says He Has Signed 1955 Contract

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 23 (AP) — Terry Moore disclosed he has been signed to manage the Philadelphia Phillies for the 1955 season. And at the same time his players learned the supposedly mild-mannered former St. Louis Cardinals' outfield star can be a tiger when he's dissatisfied with their work.

Moore's announcement was one of a series of surprises from the 44-year-old freshman boss, who took over for Steve O'Neill just after the All-Star game. Usually, announcements of such nature come from the front office. But Moore made his disclosure in an informal chat with reporters yesterday.

Coupled with this announcement was the revelation that Moore has mixed a little psychology with baseball in getting a line on his charges.

The hustling manager revealed he had deliberately encouraged the idea that he was an "interim" pilot in order to learn some pertinent facts about his players

The result: "I found out more in a month than I normally would have in a season," he said.

Moore said the contract he has signed to manage the Phillies is for the 1955 season only. He declined to discuss the terms of the agreement.

Schute's Tops Old Germans To Cop Title

Ray Taylor Wins Own Game With Single, 4-3

Schute's Roofers won the championship of the City Softball League yesterday by defeating the Old Germans at Stitcher Field by the score of 4-3.

Manager Browne Shircliffe's tossers took the series in two straight games, having beaten the Old G's in the opener, 4-3, after eliminating Cunningham's Grocery in two games in the semi-finals.

Schute's, under Shircliffe's management, won the City Rec League title last year.

In yesterday's contest, the Old Germans took a 3-2 lead in the 6th on Speir's single and Birmingham's double. Then the Roofers sewed it up in the 7th on a walk to "Perk" Robinette, a triple by Dick Klavuhn and a single by Ray Taylor who won his own game. Schute's scored the run that tied up the score at 3-3 in the 7th when Robinette stumbled and fell and crawled about seven feet to home plate.

Eyler had three hits for the winners while Taylor collected a pair and Klavuhn blasted a triple. Basilio, Barb and Birmingham garnered two hits each for the Old Germans.

Taylor scored all four wins for Schute's in the playoffs to conclude the league season with a 14-3 record. Yesterday's score:

Mineral County Will Hold ASC Elections Sept. 1

Farmers Urged To Participate

KEYSER — An election for ASC community committeemen will be held Wednesday, September 1, followed by a county convention the following day to elect a new county committee, according to John S. Arnold, Jr., chairman of the Mineral County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

Changes have been made in the method of conducting community elections this year. For the first time, elections will be held by a community election board instead of by a community cimmitteeman. The election boards for the various communities were formerly appointed by a county election board made up of the heads of the Extension Service, but now, instead of electing a delegate to the county convention, the chairman of the newly elected Community Committee will act as delegate, and any farmer who has served three or more consecutive terms as community or county committeeman will be ineligible for reelection.

Officials of farm organization, such as the Farm Bureau, will be ineligible to serve as committeemen, and farmers who hold political office or have been active in politics in the past year preceeding election, will also be ineligible to serve.

County elections will be held at some convenient place by each of the seven agricultural committees in Mineral County on the evening of September 1.

In the Burlington community, the election will be held in the Burlington school at 7:30 p. m., EST. The board includes G. H. Ebert, J. C. McDowell and W. W. Bane, Jr.

Elk Garden community election will be held in Sulphur City Church at 7:30 p. m. EST. The board now includes Walter S. Arnold, Russell Junkins and Donald Abernathy.

Fort Ashby community election will be in the Old School House, Fort Ashby, 8 p. m. DST. Board: Fred B. Price, Fred Siple and Herbert Long.

Headsville community election will be in J. E. Stagge' Store, 7:30 p. m., EST. Board: Samual Smith, J. M. Kuykendall and Wayne Miller.

Keyser community election will be held in Fountain School House, 8 p. m., DST. Board: Charles M. Taylor, Kenneth Rexrode and J. G. Ritchie.

New Creek community election in Laurin Swisher's store, 8 p. m., DST. Board: Robert Bane, E. K. Smith and Laurin Swisher.

Short Gap community election in Short Gap School House at 8 p. m., DST. Board: French Wyer, Ernest Light and H. M. Kline.

Farmers are urged to attend their community meetings.

The county convention will be held Thursday, September 2, in the office of the County Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Committee office in Keyser.

Huge Tree Removed At Keyser High Campus

KEYSER — One of the tallest trees on the Keyser High School campus, facing East Piedmont Street, that was struck by lightning and damaged by the two big storms of the present summer, has been cut down by employes of the Board of Education. The trunk of the tree, was over three feet in diameter.

The tree was divided into two large trunks extending high in the air and the first big storm earlier in the summer, broke off top heavy branches. Last week's storm cut down more of the big tree. It was feared other heavy overhead parts might fall and cause injuries to persons traveling along the walk through the campus.

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

LEWISBURG, W. Va., Aug. 23 (AP)—A record total of $40,000 in premiums and awards will be offered at the 30th State Fair of West Virginia, which opened a six-day stand near here today.

Fair officials hope that, if the weather is good, attendance also will set a record of 200,000.

The track program at the fairgrounds near here will include 14 harness races and five thoroughbred running races. There will be daily races starting Tuesday.

The president of the fair association, Ross H. Tuckwiller, has announced that there will be judging in eight classes of competition, ranging from cooking and baking to fine horses and cattle.

Bobby pin manufacturers of the United States use 6,000 tons of steel annually.

THIS IS NOT A BLASTING DEVICE AS I HAD SUSPECTED! IT IS A MORE COMPLICATED MECHANISM, I FEAR!
MEANWHILE...
I BELIEVE THE PEOPLE IN CHARGE OF THE ROBOTS CAN OBSERVE OUR EVERY MOVE, POET!
WHY DO YOU SAY THAT, BRICK?
BECAUSE THE RIDER CAME DIRECTLY TO THE HIDING PLACE OF THE TIME-TOP REMOTE-CONTROL DEVICE AND TOOK IT! NOT ONLY THAT, ANOTHER BAND OF ROBOTS IS CLOSING IN ON US!
FROM TWO DIRECTIONS, BRICK!

HERE ARE THE FACTS, GENTLEMEN.
(1) A STORM IN THE CARIBBEAN HAS WASHED ASHORE A STRANGE INSTRUMENT.
(2) A NEW STORM IS DEVELOPING.
(3) TWO UNIDENTIFIED SUBMARINES HAVE BEEN REPORTED NEAR THE STORM.
IT'S MY BELIEF, GENTLEMEN, THAT IF AN ENEMY EVER TRIES A SNEAK ATTACK ON US, IT WILL COME DURING THE HURRICANE SEASON. THE QUESTION IS: HOW CAN WE PREVENT A SUB FROM SNEAKING PAST OUR PATROLS DURING A HURRICANE?
WHAT ABOUT THE HURRICANE HUNTERS?
BUT THE HURRICANE HUNTERS ARE NOT SUB KILLERS.
NO. BUT THEY MAKE WEATHER RECONNAISSANCE FLIGHTS INTO THE VERY EYE OF A HURRICANE. WE CAN DIRECT THEM TO KEEP A LOOKOUT AND GIVE WARNING OF ANYTHING SUSPICIOUS.
EXCELLENT SUGGESTION. NO UNIDENTIFIED SUB IS TO ENTER THE CARIBBEAN.

I CAN UNDERSTAND HOW YOU CAN KEEP THE ANIMALS WITHIN THE PROTECTION OF THIS SHEER-WALLED VALLEY- BUT HOW DO YOU KEEP THE BIRDS IN?
PLENTY OF FOOD. ---THEY'LL NOT MIGRATE AS LONG AS THEY'RE WELL FED DURING THE WINTERS.
AS A MATTER OF FACT, I'M MORE CONCERNED ABOUT THE ANIMALS GETTING OUT--
REALLY? HOW??
WHEN I'M ON MY FEEDING ROUNDS, SOME OF THEM MIGHT FIND THEIR WAY THROUGH THE CAVE OUTLET. THEY WOULD CERTAINLY APPROACH A HUNTER OUT OF SHEER FRIENDLINESS--
OH, DEAR!

YES, SPARKLE, REMEMBER WE FOUND ONE OF MY PERFUME BOTTLES IN THE FLOODED HOUSE? GO AND GET IT.
I'VE GOT IT!
GOOD!
FIRST, WE'LL POUR OUT THE PERFUME—THEN BREAK THE SIDES OFF THE BOTTLE, SO THAT ALL WE'LL HAVE LEFT IS THE SMOOTH, THICK BOTTOM GLASS.
WILL IT REALLY START A FIRE?
JUST WATCH THIS LITTLE PILE OF DRY GRASS AND TELL ME WHEN IT SMOKES.

Aircraft Stocks Advance, Chemicals, Others Retreat

NEW YORK, Aug. 23 (AP) — The Stock Market was like a busy two-way street today with the aircrafts rushing forward and the chemicals and many others dashing back.

On the whole, the stock market was lower. Outside of a few key stocks, however, the decline was moderate.

The extremes went to around 5 points either way. Du Pont lost 4⅛ at 137⅛, while Montgomery Ward was up 5 at 79½. The Montgomery Ward gain followed Wall Street reports of a possibly proxy fight for control.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was down $1 at $133.90. It was up 30 cents on Friday at a new high, the best since October of 1929. The industrial component of the average lost $1.60, the rails were down 60 cents, and the utilities were off 40 cents.

Three chemical stocks in the industrial average were Du Pont with its loss of 4⅛, Allied Chemical off 3½ at 92½, and Union Carbide off 1¼ at 80.

Volume amounted to only 2,020,000 shares, lowest since early July.

Montgomery Ward was easily the outstanding stock of the session. It was up 5 at 79½ on 79,600 shares as the day's most active issue. It was followed in the most active list by General Dynamics up 3 at 73¼, Avco Mfg. unchanged at 5⅞, Youngstown Sheet & Tube up 1¼ at 62⅛, and North American Aviation up ⅝ at 45.

The Board of Zoning Appeals will meet in the City Hall, Cumberland, Thursday, August 26, 1954, at 8:00 P. M., to hear the following appeal:

Michael Beerman, who has made application to occupy premises at McMullen Highway as "office, storeroom, and storage," said premises being situate in Zoning District Business, and owned by applicant.

At the said time and place, any person may appear and testify as to the proposed use of the said premises or object to the issuance of said occupancy permit.

JAMES C. GARDNER, Secretary
WILLIAM B. ORNDORFF, Member

The little things that add up to charm would make a long list, and they're all important.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

It would be interesting to make a collection of every motto that expresses determination. "Never say die." "Don't give up the ship." "Don't put off until tomorrow what you can do today." Any book of quotations produces a lengthy list of such resolute phrases.

Probably we'd all like to think ourselves capable of living up to them, but sometimes a task seems so insurmountable that you simply ignore it. Ever have that happen to you?

Some time ago I read an article on a friend's intensive researches in the field of mental health. The research required so much time that he began to wonder if the efforts were worthwhile. Just when he was about to shelve the whole idea, his wife reminded him that if the article would help even one person, it was worth doing. You can imagine the rest of the story. He completed the article, and shortly after its publication he received not one, but many letters telling how much it was appreciated.

Encouraging Though

That's an encouraging experience to keep in mind when you are faced with a discouraging problem. If it helps no more than one person, the problem is worth solving. If a project helps you in any way, small though it may be, you should tackle it.

It's natural to wish to be handsome or beautiful, brilliant or talented. People who fit these descriptions are people who make the most of their potentials.

Are you going to say, "What's the use . . . I'll never be beautiful!"? Or will you adopt the attitude of determination? "I may never be a great beauty, but I can be charming . . . I can be poised and personable."

Good enough . . . go to it! You can't be too old nor too young to be charming. Little things add up to charm—in itself no small thing. So start today—right now—to correct the shortcomings you recognize in yourself.

What's Your Problem?

Perhaps you should lose weight, smooth your walk, polish your complexion, or improve your voice. To help you attain your goals, send for "Ten Secrets of Charm" as a reminder of the small things to watch today, tomorrow, and every day. As you launch your self-improvement program, repeat those words of determination, and know that every little thing helps!

TEN SECRETS OF CHARM

You are welcome, free of charge, to the reminder card, TEN SECRETS OF CHARM. It lists ten points to remember as milestones along the road to greater charm. Carry it with you and you won't overlook any of the ways you impress all who come in contact with you. Daily Bridge Lesson by Barclay

NOT OBVIOUS TO ALL

YOU would think — if you understand the applicable principle—that any player would rather have an unbalanced suit on the side, with his trump holding made of the same number of cards in his own hand and dummy. The unbalanced side suit, with perhaps five cards in one holding and three in the other, can furnish a discard of a loser from some other suit, perhaps a couple of discards, whereas the even-length suit can never make that possible. Yet many indifferent players prefer to have the longer suit-length as trump, for what they consider greater safety

That was pretty bidding, which won this tournament deal. North, having opened with a borderline hand, did not at first give his partner too much encouragement by showing a fit for the diamonds, but rebid his first suit as a warning. When South, however, was then able to show a second suit, clubs, North emphatically proclaimed his splendid diamond fit with a jump from 3-Clubs to 4-Diamonds. That caused South then to feel strong, as he should. In showing his three-card fit for the rebid five-card heart suit, he bid at the level of five instead of four.

Now is when North showed his understanding of the way that cards play. Knowing the diamonds might be of four in each hand, and that the hearts were divided 5-3, he selected the balanced suit for trump when he bid the 6-Diamonds.

It worked out just as both hoped. With diamonds for trumps, South was able to discard two clubs on the dummy's hearts, so lost only one trick, to the diamond ace. Everybody who tried the deal at 6-Hearts was beaten a trick, losing one in each minor, because no discards could be obtained on the balanced diamonds.

Job Seekers Deluge Pittsburgh Glass Co.

Construction Firms Will Handle Hiring When Work On Plant Gets Underway

Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company general offices in Pittsburgh and the firm's Cumberland retail store have been deluged with job applications since the announcement of company plans to build a huge, new plate plant here.

Guy Berghoff, director of public relations for Pittsburgh Plate, said yesterday that personnel will not be hired to operate the plant until it nears completion, possibly in two more years.

At that time Pittsburgh Plate will establish an employment office at the new plant.

Contractor To Handle Employment

Berghoff said bids on construction of the $34,000,000 plant will be let to a construction company or companies as soon as possible. He added that jobs relative to construction of the plant will be entirely in the hands of the construction firm or firms.

After construction contracts on the new plate glass plant are awarded, the construction firm doubtlessly will establish a local employment office, according to Berghoff. He said the public will be informed through the press when the construction bids are let.

Upon completion, the plant is expected to employ about 900 to 1,000 persons to staff its facilities. In the meantime, an estimated 2,500 workers will be required in construction of the huge plant in the Mexico Farms-North Branch area just south of the city.

Will Hire Local Men

Workers in the production end of the new industry will be predominantly men with women being employed mostly in the clerical division and office work, officials said.

Key personnel probably will be brought from the company's other plants but the other employes will be from Cumberland and vicinity.

Final architectural and engineering plans have not been completed, but it is expected that preliminary excavating, grading and roadwork will start at the more-than-600-acre site within the next month.

Final design of the plant, which will embody the very latest technological improvements, is not expected before that time. Expected to be more than a half mile long, the plant will be of the most modern design and will occupy just one floor throughout the majority of the building.

Highest Investment

In announcing definite plans to build a plant here, Harry B. Higgins, president of the Pittsburgh, Pa., firm, said the Cumberland facility will represent the largest expenditure on a single project in the company's 71-year history.

When completed, he said, the Cumberland plant will have features not now in any plate glass plant in the world, "or so far as we know, not even contemplated elsewhere." Improvements planned for the Cumberland plant will result in the production of the finest

Gunter's Proposal Not Accepted

About 60 water users of the Welsh Hill-Wrights Crossing area, near Frostburg, met last night and decided to use water from the City Water Company on a year-round basis, at the rate of 60 cents per 1,000 gallons.

At a meeting last week, a committee of residents of that area was appointed to study an offer of Mrs. Mary Shuck and William A. Gunter, local attorney, owners of the Frostburg Water Company which now serves the area, to turn the company over to the residents as a gift.

The water supply of that company often proved inadequate during the summer months and at other times of the year. Gunter, who did not attend last night's meeting, was represented by Maxwell Mathias, former city engineer.

Mathias stated that Gunter was agreeable to furnishing water to the residents at the rate of 30 cents per 1,000 gallons. However, after a lengthy discussion, it was finally decided to purchase water from the City Water Company, which will furnish adequate service throughout the year.

A committee comprised of Earl Davis, chairman, and Robert Lindsay, William Fisher, John Parker, Walter Gardner, George McGaughey and Lionel A. Norris was appointed to learn the price of water meters.

The group will report its findings to the residents next Monday at 7:30 p. m. at Keilings Bowling Center, Wrights Crossing, at which time another committee will also be named to appoint a collector and establish a rate for the residents.

The residents will also have to furnish a bond of $300 to the City Water Company which will be used in the payment of any delinquent bills which may be incurred.

Gunter agreed to furnish water to the residents until the plan with the City Water Company is completed.

Present at last night's meeting were Frostburg City Attorney Edward J. Ryan, and his law partner, William L. Wilson, who offered their services to the group in any legal matters which may come up.

Minke To Speak

Joseph A. Minke, regional game warden, will address the members of the Cumberland Optimist Club tomorrow at their regular weekly meeting at 6:15 p. m. in Central YMCA.

Three Small Boys Admit Vandalism

Juvenile delinquents are getting younger and younger. At least that is the conclusion reached by Detective Joseph Stitcher of the City Police Force.

Stitcher said he investigated a report of vandalism Sunday afternoon and night, involving the breaking into and ransacking the home of Mrs. Edward Ritchie, 200 Willowbrook Road. After an intensive investigation he picked up and questioned three boys, one age 11, one age 6 and one age 4 years. The boys admitted their part in the escapade.

Stitcher said a parakeet was removed from its cage and killed. Two watches, some pen knives, and several miscellaneous items were taken. A baby's bank was opened and emptied. Clothes were strewn all about the place and furniture was moved and overturned.

It was the third offense in nine days for the eleven-year-old boy Stitcher stated. He recently broke into a bakery and a few days ago ransacked a building at the East Side Playground. In both cases his family made restitution.

In this case, Stitcher said, he has scheduled the boy for an appearance in Juvenile Court, this morning.

Some of the missing items were recovered, but the boys told the officer others had been thrown away. The vandalism occurred Sunday afternoon while the Ritchie family was away from home.

Church Sale Funds Go To Community

Wiley Ford Firemen, PTA Receive $3,400

Proceeds realized from the sale of the Holiness Mission Church of Wiley Ford, W. Va. to the Nazarene congregation of the community have been turned over to people of the Mineral County town.

Daniel Klavuhn, who was instrumental in founding the Holiness Mission 14 years ago in Wiley Ford, presented identical $1,700 checks to William E. Ruckman, president of the Wiley Ford Volunteer Fire Company, and to Mrs. Leroy Fleming of the Wiley Ford PTA last night.

The new Nazarene Church, which was formed some weeks ago, held its first services with their new pastor, Rev. Lester A. Fahringer, Sunday, August 15.

Klavuhn had built the Holiness Mission in the small West Virginia community from a transient congregation with camp meetings in homes and tents until the church building was erected in 1943.

The congregation had met in the community's fire hall for three years prior to the building of the church.

The church structure was financed by community-wide subscription and with its sale last week to the Nazarene group for $3,500, Klavuhn said he felt the proceeds of the sale should go back to the town.

In explaining his move to turn the money back to the people of the community Klavuhn said that before he formed the Holiness Mission congregation a Methodist group had held services in Wiley Ford.

When the Holiness Mission grow until it needed a church the community's residents, regardless of creed or denomination, helped erect the present church structure.

The Holiness Mission group deducted $100 from the sale money to clear up debts of the group and the remainder was turned over to the two existing organizations in the community last night in ceremonies in the Wiley Ford Fire Hall.

Trades Council To Meet

The Allegany Trades Council will meet today at 7:30 p. m. in the AFL Labor Temple.

Presents $1,700 Checks

Daniel M. Klavuhn, founder of the Holiness Mission Church in Wiley Ford, presents two $1,700 checks to Mrs. Leroy Fleming, president of the Wiley Ford PTA, and William E. Ruckman, president of the community's volunteer fire company, in ceremonies held last night at the fire hall. Proceeds came from the sale of the Holiness Mission church in Wiley Ford to the Wiley Ford Nazarene congregation last week. Klavuhn said he thought the money should remain in the community which had helped build the church structure.

Art Exhibit Added At Fair

Theodore P. Foote, superintendent of the art exhibit at the Cumberland Fair, being held at the fair for the first time this year, examines one of the entries in the ceramics division of the exhibit. The entries were judged yesterday and a lithograph by Adrian Clem, of Keyser, entitled "Workmen Crossing the Canyon," won first prize of $20 in the adult paintings division. It is pictured third from the left. The painting second from the left, "Coast of Maine," a pastel by Miss Luella Heineman, won second prize in the adult division. The fair's first venture in the art field proved a successful one as the exhibit attracted a large number of entries.

Missing Plane Search Centers In Western Md.

Jet Was Enroute To Mansfield, Ohio

Members of Cumberland Squadron, Civil Air Patrol, have been scanning the woodland areas of Allegany and Garrett counties and nearby West Virginia in an intensive state-wide search for a Delaware Air Guard F-86 Sabrejet which has been missing since Saturday morning.

Warren Mullenax, commanding officer of the local flight, last night said six planes from the airport here were in the air about five hours on Sunday concentrating on a square area of about 2,000 miles.

Yesterday the pilots planned to check a slim lead from the Swallow Falls area of Garrett County but bad weather in that mountainous terrain kept the men grounded.

Today, should better weather conditions prevail, the pilots will resume their search.

Mullenax contacted the sheriff's office in Oakland Saturday afternoon but Deputy Sheriff Edward Frantz, who was in the wooded areas about the time the plane was reported missing, said he did not hear it go over. Merle Wilt of the forestry service, located at Swallow Falls also reported he did not hear the jet go over.

However, Mullenax added, one resident of the section claimed he heard it circle about three times. That is the lead they plan to check.

The jet was piloted by Capt. Frank H. Stern Jr., 35, of Chadds Ford, Pa. and was on a flight from Wilmington, Del. to Mansfield, Ohio. Major James Inks, of the Maryland Wing, CAP, said planes were scouting the Western Maryland area on the presumption the jet had been forced down there instead of the Chesapeake Bay, as earlier reported.

Mullenax said that about four minutes after his take-off from the Delaware airport, Captain Stern notified officials everything was alright.

That was the last they heard of the jet pilot, Mullenax added. A 200-plane search of the Chesapeake Bay area late Saturday and all day Sunday failed to uncover any trace of the jet.

Mullenax said if anyone has information concerning the possible whereabouts of the missing plane to contact him by telephoning Cumberland 3909.

Meanwhile oil slicks appearing at the mouth of the Gunpowder River near Edgewood, touched off grappling operations by Army Chemical Center boats yesterday in search of the wreckage of the missing plane.

Keyser Man's Lithograph Receives Art Exhibit Prize

A lithograph by Adrian Clem, of Keyser, entitled "Workmen Crossing the Canyon," won first prize in the adult paintings division of the art exhibit at the Cumberland Fair, newest department in the already varied program of fair exhibits.

Clem has entered paintings in art exhibits in the Tri-State area before, but the blue ribbon awarded him in yesterday's judging of the art entries at the fair was his first. Along with the blue ribbon, he also received a premium of $20.

Second prize of $15 went to Miss Luella Heineman, RFD 5, Cumberland, for her oil painting, "Chapel in Abstraction," while Mrs. S. E. Clingan's pastel, "Coast of Maine," was awarded third prize of $5. Mrs. Paul Munson, of Great Cacapon, W. Va., received honorable mention for her oil, "Burning Leaves."

There were 28 entries in the adult paintings division.

First award of $10 in the junior division went to Sharon Growden, 818 Gephart Drive, for her oil entitled "Dream Ballet." Boyd Dawson, of Rawlings, won second prize of $5 for a pen and ink sketch, "The Village," and "Pianissimo," an oil by Eleanor Murphy, of 881 Ridgedale Avenue, was awarded third prize of $2.50. Walter McKenzie's oil, "Mike," was given honorable mention. There were five entries in the junior division.

In the ceramics division for mold pieces, the section of the exhibit which attracted the most entries, 38, Mrs. Hazel Rudolph, 607 Central Avenue, won first award of $7.50 for a pair of wall plaques.

A $5 second prize was presented Mrs. Gilford, 703 LaVale Terrace, for her entry, "Hen and Rooster," and Miss Helen Cherry's honey pot was judged third best in the division, for a $2.50 award. Honorable mention to Mrs. Margaret Brotemarkle, 509 Dilley Street, for "The Giraffe Family."

A sculpturing entitled "Old Folks" by Mrs. Letha Matlick, Patterson Avenue, won first prize of $7.50 in the ceramics division for hand-formed pieces of work. A wheel-turned stoneware bowl won second prize of $5 for Mrs. Dorothy Santini, Frostburg, and a leaf bowl by Mrs. Gertrude Elliott, 11 South Smallwood Street, won third prize of $2.50. Honorable mention was received by Thomas Matlick, Patterson Avenue, for his ash tray entry.

There were 13 entries in this division.

Theodore P. Foote, supervisior of art education for Allegany County, is superintendent of the fair's newest department.

Council To Set 1954-55 Budget Here Tonight

A special meeting of the Mayor and Council will be held today at 7 p. m. to set the budget for 1954-55, Mayor Roy W. Eves reported yesterday afternoon.

He said city officials hope to take final action on the budget at the session, adding that the levy must be set by tomorrow.

Few details of budget requests have been released but it has been learned that with few exceptions, increased appropriations are being sought.

One city official said flatly that "cuts will be necessary," adding the only alternative would be to raise the tax rate.

New Fire Truck Is Undergoing Informal Tests

Underwriters Will Check Performance

Cumberland's new fire truck put on a good performance yesterday when it received an unofficial test near Blue Bridge.

Firemen said the truck, manufactured by the Ahrens-Fox Company, of Cincinnati, threw a stream of water across the Potomac River in an informal test performed by Frank Greiser, engineer for the firm who delivered the truck here Sunday.

Greiser said the pump was operated at "over capacity" and performed well in the preliminary test.

The final test, by an official of the Fire Underwriters, will be held Wednesday morning.

This test, Greiser said, will consist of operating the pump for two hours at a rate of 750 gallons of water a minute at 150 pounds pressure; 30 minutes of pumping at 525 gallons a minute under 200 pounds pressure and a final 30 minutes at 375 gallons a minute under 250 pounds pressure.

The $15,354.18 pumper will be purchased by the city and placed at South End Fire Station if it passes all inspections and Underwriters' tests, Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan reports.

The fire truck is equipped with a 250 gallon water tank and 200 feet of high pressure booster hose. Water from the booster tank is used in quenching small fires.

Other equipment includes a 35 foot aluminum extension ladder, an assortment of nozzles and a number of portable fire extinguishers.

Space is provided for carrying some 1,600 feet of 2½ inch hose used to fight major fires.

Long Being Held In County Jail

Calvin E. Long, 42, of Greensburg, Pa., is being held on an open charge in the County Jail in connection with the attempted passing of a bad check.

Long was arrested last week on Henderson Avenue by Sgt. C. C. Roby and Patrolman Harry Iser after he tried to cash a worthless check at a Baltimore Avenue restaurant. He was questioned by Joseph H. Stitcher, of the City Police Detective Bureau, and held in the City Jail for investigation.

Yesterday he was questioned in the State's Attorney's Office and a report of his background will be forwarded here by the FBI.

The Weather

There was little change noted in the weather in the Cumberland area yesterday, as cool temperatures and cloudy skies continued to prevail. The high official mark was 76, the same as Sunday, the low was 66 and at 6 p. m. the relative humidity registered 78 per cent. According to today's forecast, it should be fair and warmer, except in the mountains where there is a chance of scattered thundershowers.

County Will Not Conduct Emergency Polio Fund Drive

The Allegany County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis will not participate in the present emergency campaign to raise $20,000,000 to defray expenses of the foundation.

John M. Robb, chairman, said the chapter has decided not to arrange an organized drive, however, the chapter has agreed to cooperate by bringing the foundation's needs before the public.

Some area counties are conducting campaigns for this needed emergency fund, but Allegany County exceeded its quota during the annual March of Dimes and more than $18,000 was raised here. With the 50 per cent of these funds retained in the county, the local chapter is meeting its current expenses as they occur.

Robb pointed out that this county was not designated by the foundation of the State Department of Health to participate in the experimental mass vaccine inoculation since the incidence of polio in this county within the past five years has been too low to make such an experiment conclusive.

The local chapter, however, is caring for 33 polio victims in various stages of progress toward physical rehabilitation. There has been only one case of polio reported in this county thus far this year, Robb noted. The disease is mild in this case and the child is expected to make a full and complete recovery.

City Will Seek Bids For Sewage Treatment Plant

Meeting Scheduled On County Program

The Mayor and Council yesterday hailed announcement that Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company is locating a plant here and set machinery in motion for action next Monday to advertise for bids on a sewage treatment plant.

In conferences with the firm's officials several months ago, the city agreed to construct a sewage treatment plant when it was assured of getting the new plant.

Mayor Roy W. Eves said he was sure yesterday's announcement by Pittsburgh Plate "will make everybody happy" and went on to explain the city wants to speed the sewage plant as it has agreed to do.

Plans Completed

City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum, at the Mayor's question, told council plans for the plant and other necessary documents are complete and bids can be advertised.

But the Mayor said he and the council would meet with the Board of Allegany County Commissioners Wednesday night to see to what extent the county is going to share in the program.

He said tentative arrangements also call for the consulting engineer, Robert T. Regester, to be present at the meeting planned at 7:30 p. m. in City Hall.

"The reason for doing this," the Mayor said, is "the glass company must have water to a certain degree of purity as the water in its present state would be injurious to health of their employes. We have an order from the State Health Department anyway, which is mandatory, and we made this agreement sometime ago that we could, within two years, of their decision, have this plant completed."

The sewage treatment plant will prevent impurities from being placed in the Potomac River water, which will be used in the plant's manufacturing processes. These impurities must be reduced under specifications set up for the plant's product.

Asks About Financing

Commissioner John J. Long asked how the sewage plant would be financed.

Mayor Eves said by a bond issue. How to amortize the bonds will be discussed Wednesday night, he added.

Cost of the plant was originally estimated at $2,000,000.

As stated by Mayor Eves, the State Department of Health order, which was stayed indefinitely, preceded the promise to Pittsburgh Plate.

Originally, the city had two plans prepared. One would take care of Cumberland's sewage problem alone and the other would be large enough to take care of the city and allow for a "hook in" of surrounding county communities and towns such as LaVale, Bowling Green, Roberts Place, Cresaptown and Frostburg, it was pointed out.

The city, looking to the future, decided on the larger proposal.

County Not Committed

The county, reportedly, has not committed itself to any sewage treatment plan and it is understood the city favors building its own plant rather than sharing cost of plant to care for the entire city.
